The Interdisciplinary Imperative Interactive Research And Education Still An Elusive Goal In Academia:

The Interdisciplinary Imperative Rustum Roy, 2000 Interdisciplinarity is perhaps the most used keyword in describing changes in current patterns of Federal funding. However, it is not a new idea; the interdisciplinary theme has been tried for over forty years. Yet, until now, involvement or the performance has been poor. This book is the report on the Interdisciplinarity Revisited Materials Research as a Case Study Conference convened on August 31-September 1, 1999, at the Pennsylvania State University. The contributors included the world's leading practitioners in the field of interdisciplinary thrusts in other areas from Science, Technology, and Society to medicine, were represented by senior practitioners. The key findings include the following: The entire research enterprise demands and is moving increasingly toward interactive research. Interactive includes interdisciplinary, inter-institutional, and inter-sector research. The university world has by and large failed to organize itself to respond to this new reality. Specific hindrances to I3R are the traditional peer review process and academic intellectual property practices. New directions proposed include funding based largely on past performance and matching fund strategies.

Library and Information Science Trends and Research Amanda Spink, Jannica Heinström, 2012-12-17 Suitable for undergraduate and graduate students, academics, educators, and information professionals interested in library and information science, this title provides an understanding of the advanced directions in library and information science management, education, and research in Europe.

Beyond Interdisciplinarity Julie Thompson Klein, 2021-07-03 Beyond Interdisciplinarity is the first book to present a conceptual framework for thinking about inter- and trans-disciplinary as well as cross-sector boundary work. The approach in this book accounts for the dynamics of communicating, collaborating, and learning across disciplines.

Creating Interdisciplinary Campus Cultures Julie Thompson Klein, 2010-01-11 Praise for Creating Interdisciplinary Campus Cultures: Klein's analysis shows convincingly that from research in the sciences to new graduate level programs and departments to new designs for general education, interdisciplinarity is now prevalent throughout American colleges and universities. Klein documents trends, traces historical patterns and precedents and provides practical advice Going directly to the heart of our institutional realities she focuses attention on some of the more challenging aspects of bringing together ambitious goals for interdisciplinary vitality with institutional budgetary and governance systems A singular strength of this book then is the practical advice it provides about such nitty gritty issues as program review faculty development tenure and promotion hiring and the political economy of interdisciplinarity We know that readers everywhere will find this book simultaneously richly illuminating and intensively useful from the foreword by Carol Geary Schneider president Association of American Colleges and Universities Klein reveals how universities can move beyond glib rhetoric about being interdisciplinary toward pervasive full interdisciplinarity Institutions that heed her call for restructured intellectual environments are most likely to thrive in the new millennium William H Newell professor Interdisciplinary Studies Miami University and executive director Association for Integrative Studies In true interdisciplinary fashion Julie Klein integrates a tremendous amount of material into this book to tell the story of interdisciplinarity across the sciences social sciences and humanities And she does so both from the theoretical perspective of understanding interdisciplinarity and from the practical vantage of doing interdisciplinarity This book is a must read for faculty and administrators thinking about how to maximize the opportunities and minimize the challenges of interdisciplinary programming on their campuses Diana Rhoten director Knowledge Institutions Program and director Digital Media and Learning Project Social Science Research Counsel Cooperative Research Centers and Technical Innovation Craig Boardman, Denis O.
