The International Commission of Jurists Lucian G. Weeramantry, 2021-10-18 The object of this volume is to present a comprehensive survey of the early history and activities of the International Commission of Jurists highlighting its achievements in defining developing and promoting the Rule of Law It seeks to give readers an awareness of the Commission's unique role in the evolution of the Rule of Law concept which is not otherwise available While there were several international organizations including the Commission working in the field of human rights following upon the adoption of the Universal Declaration the Commission was unique in that it focused on the development of the Rule of Law as a sine qua non for the protection and advancement of human rights The scope of this work is therefore much wider than mere identification and promotion of human rights It deals with the principles identified by the Commission as underlying the Rule of Law and the institutions and procedure necessary to safeguard those principles it reviews in depth studies by eminent jurists on aspects of the Rule of Law it surveys applications and violations of the Rule of Law in different countries or regions of the world and it draws attention to trials of persons arrested or detained under cover of legislation patently offending against the Rule of Law The work also covers the many initiatives taken by the Commission either by itself or in collaboration with the United Nations and other international organizations to ensure better recognition of and respect for the Rule of Law and human rights Reference is made in this connection to different initiatives of national sections both at the regional and national level

The African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights Volume 2 Nat Rubner, 2023 Landmark study of the African Charter on Human and Peoples Rights

Documents on one side the international community's inability to foist a human rights system upon Africa and on the other the process within the OAU now African Union that eventually brought it into being and determined its content The African Charter on Human and Peoples Rights ACHPR which was proposed in 1979 adopted in 1981 and came into effect in 1986 was the first non Western declaration of human rights and the first official statement of an African human rights perspective With Africa largely absent in 1948 when the Universal Declaration of Human Rights UDHR was adopted it stands in stark historical reproach to the Western conception of universal human rights as a pivotal document in the decolonisation of the continent This book for the first time presents a comprehensive account of the development of the ACHPR which is key to a proper understanding of its fundamental nature Through documenting its process of construction it becomes possible to understand how Africans themselves understood the process and the issues involved and how the ACHPR became a political text asserted by African leaders and not a continuum of a so called universal human rights tradition The result is a radical repositioning of the underlying context of the ACHPR one of the most important documents in modern African history of how it came to be and how it should therefore be understood Volume 2 describes the process through which the ACHPR came into being Analysing the role of Western governments the UN and NGOs it shows that contrary to the prevailing view of African human rights commentators their influence was limited and at times counter productive That in fact the formulation of the ACHPR was a profoundly political process that was primarily a product of an African desire to instigate its own human rights perspective as a counter to the human rights universalism advanced by the Western post war human rights tradition

Amnesty International and Human Rights Activism in Postwar Britain, 1945-1977 Tom Buchanan, 2020-04-30 In this definitive new account of the emergence of human rights activism in post war Britain Tom Buchanan shows how disparate individuals organisations and causes gradually came to acquire a common identity as human rights activists This was a slow process whereby a coalition of activists working on causes ranging from anti fascism anti apartheid and decolonisation to civil liberties and the peace movement began to come together under the banner of human rights The launch of Amnesty International in 1961 and its landmark winning of the Nobel Peace Prize in 1977 provided a model and inspiration to many new activist movements in the field of human rights and helped to affect major changes towards public and political attitudes towards human rights issues across the globe
