The Drawings of Stuart Davis Stuart Davis, Karen Wilkin, Lewis Kachur, 1992

Stuart Davis 1892 1964 once described as the ace of America's Modernists regarded drawing as central to his art He believed that all his works were drawings and developed his images as carefully adjusted black and white configurations which he translated to color space compositions only at the last stage of his painting procedure He even retranslated some of his most ambitious and best known paintings back into large scale black and white drawings on canvas apparently as a final version of the image This volume examines for the first time the full range of Davis's activity as a draftsman from his early naturalistic drawings in the manner of the Ashcan School to the economical near abstractions of his maturity A broad interpretation of the notion of drawing in keeping with Davis's own understanding of the term allows the inclusion of works on paper in a variety of mediums including watercolors gouaches and some late black and white drawings on canvas Included as well are selections from Davis's extensive writings which contain innumerable references to drawing attempts to define what constitutes a good drawing and discussions of the role of drawing in his work and in the formulation of his complex theories of composition Just as important Davis's notebooks contain many images ranging from diagrams that illustrate theory to fully developed self-sufficient drawings

Karen Wilkin and Lewis C Kachur both eminent Davis scholars draw heavily on his unpublished writings and less well known images to deepen our understanding of Davis and of American modernism in its formative years
