The Immigrants Handbook A Critical Guide:

Decolonizing Law Sujith Xavier, Beverley Jacobs, Valarie Waboose, Jeffery G. Hewitt, Amar Bhatia, 2021-05-24 This book brings together Indigenous Third World and Settler perspectives on the theory and practice of decolonizing law Colonialism imperialism and settler colonialism continue to affect the lives of racialized communities and Indigenous Peoples around the world Law in its many iterations has played an active role in the dispossession and disenfranchisement of colonized peoples Law and its various institutions are the means by which colonial imperial and settler colonial programs and policies continue to be reinforced and sustained There are however recent and historical examples in which law has played a significant role in dismantling colonial and imperial structures set up during the process of colonization This book combines usually distinct Indigenous Third World and Settler perspectives in order to take up the effort of decolonizing law both in practice and in the concern to distance and to liberate the foundational theories of legal knowledge and academic engagement from the manifestations of colonialism imperialism and settler colonialism Including work by scholars from the Global South and North this book will be of interest to academics students and others interested in the legacy of colonial and settler law and its overcoming

Feminisms and Womanisms Althea Prince, Susan Silva-Wayne, 2004 Feminisms and Womanisms brings together theory and practical application so that feminist discourse interacts as a partner with the lived experience of women's social action The selections combine classics in feminist thought with work from modern theorists and offer a solid foundation in international feminism The conceptual understanding embedded in the terms feminism and womanism contributes to feminist discourse a carefully differentiated focus on the ideological uses of language to define relationships that have been historically mired in domination The terms also define the way gender often has been used to signify and support domination Given that feminism and womanism are interpretive concepts there is always a sense that knowledge making is in progress for there is nothing static or stagnant about feminism feminist theory and feminist action The formative nature of the feminist movement has of necessity a parallel interpretive theory This reader embraces both the formative nature of the movement and the accompanying interpretive theories It also pays attention to the chronological cultural geopolitical racial and ethnic landscapes and sites where women live carry out social action and theorize issues of equality For both the general and academic reader this book will be edifying while providing exposure to the feminist womanist voices that inform the scholarship

Proceedings of the First International Congress on the Hellenic Diaspora from Antiquity to Modern Times (Montreal, 17-22.iv. 1988 ; Athens, 26-30.iv. 1988) John M. Fossey, 2025-01-27 The print edition is available as a set of two volumes 9789050630603

Painting the Maple Veronica Jane Strong-Boag, 1998 Painting the Maple explores the critical interplay of race and gender in shaping Canadian culture history politics and healthcare These interdisciplinary essays draw on feminist postcolonial and critical theory in a wide ranging discussion that encompasses both high and popular forms of culture the deliberation of policy and its execution and social movements as well as individual authors and texts. The contributors who come from many fields establish connections among discourses of race, gender, and nation building that have conditioned the formation of Canada for more than one hundred years. They analyze ways in which these elements have participated in and contributed to exclusionary practices and policies such as marginalization of women and racialized groups. Together their essays paint a picture of a nation that privileges whiteness, masculinity, and Christianity. This book gathers many insights on the construction of Canada hitherto scattered in the literature. It will be of interest to feminist scholars and others concerned with issues of race and gender. At times provocative, Painting the Maple illuminates the challenges that lie ahead for all Canadians who aspire to create a better future in a reimagined nation.

Blackness and Modernity Cecil Foster, 2007-05-28 In Blackness and Modernity Foster traces the main philosophical, anthropological, sociological, and mythological arguments that support views of modernity as a failed quest for whiteness. He outlines how these views were implemented as part of a world history and shows how Canada became the first country to officially reject this approach by adopting multiculturalism.

Producing and Negotiating Non-Citizenship Luin Goldring, Patricia Landolt, 2013-03-07 Most examinations of non citizens in Canada focus on immigrants, people who are citizens in waiting, or specific categories of temporary vulnerable workers. In contrast Producing and Negotiating Non-Citizenship considers a range of people whose pathway to citizenship is uncertain or non-existent. This includes migrant workers, students, refugee claimants, and people with expired permits, all of whom have limited formal rights to employment, housing, education, and health services. The contributors to this volume present theoretically informed empirical studies of the regulatory, institutional, discursive, and practical terms under which precarious status non citizens, those without permanent residence, enter and remain in Canada. They consider the historical and contemporary production of non citizen precarious status and migrant illegality in Canada, as well as everyday experiences of precarious status among various social groups, including youth, denied refugee claimants, and agricultural workers. This timely volume contributes to conceptualizing multiple forms of precarious status non citizenship as connected through policy and the practices of migrants and the institutional actors they encounter.

Race and Racism Leo Driedger, Shivalingappa S. Halli, 2000 This book brings together contributions from academic and government sectors to analyze the nature and extent of racism in Canada. Approaches ranging from sociology, cultural anthropology, demography, and psychology are represented.

Canadian Book Review Annual, 1983

Dynamics of Community Formation Robert W. Compton, Jr., Ho Hon Leung, Yaser Robles, 2017-10-13 This interdisciplinary work discusses the construction, maintenance, evolution, and destruction of home and community spaces, which are central to the development of social cohesion. By examining how people throughout the world form different communities to establish a sense of home, the volume surveys the formation of identity within the context of rapid development, global and domestic neoliberal and political governmental policies, and various societal pressures. The themes of cooperation, conflict, inclusion, exclusion, and balance require negotiation between different actors, e.g. the state.

professional developers social activists and residents as homes and communities develop Thinking Through Himani Bannerji, 1995-05-27 Thinking Through brings together new and recent writing by Himani Bannerji Through anti racist Marxist feminism Bannerji questions the notion of distinct separate oppressions which understands gender race and class as separate issues Incisive and important Thinking Through offers a new strategy to theorizing gender race class and socialist revolution
