The Immortal Warrior John Wells, 1987      Warships of the World to 1900 Lincoln P. Paine, 2000 Lincoln P Paine s SHIPS OF THE WORLD AN HISTORICAL HISTORICAL ENCYCLOPEDIA was honored as one of the best reference books of the year by the New York Public Library and Library Journal described it as clearly the most fascinating book of the year Now in two equally fascinating new books Paine focuses on two of the most interesting areas of maritime history WARSHIPS OF THE WORLD TO 1900 and SHIPS OF DISCOVERY AND EXPLORATION WARSHIPS OF THE WORLD TO 1900 traces the history of naval warfare through the stories of more than two hundred of the most famous and important fighting ships from the earliest triremes and Viking longships to the Mary Rose Wasa Bonhomme Richard HMS Victory USS Constitution USS Monitor and Mikasa Each ship is described in a vivid short essay that captures its personality as well as its physical characteristics construction and history from the drawing board to the scrap yard or museum Paintings and photographs show the grandeur and grace of these vessels that helped shape world events An introductory essay maps and a chronology offer the reader a global perspective on the course of naval history from antiquity to the present      Weapons and Warfare Spencer C. Tucker, 2020-03-26 This work covers major weapons throughout human history beginning with clubs and maces through crossbows swords and gunpowder up to the hypersonic railgun lasers and robotic weapons under development today Weapons and Warfare is designed to provide students with a comprehensive and highly informative overview of weapons and their impact on the course of human history In addition to providing basic factual information this encyclopedia will delve into the greater historical context and significance of each weapon The chronological organization by time period will enable readers to fully understand the evolution of weapons throughout history The work begins with a foreword by a top scholar and a detailed introductory essay by the editor that provides an illuminating historical overview of weapons It then offers entries on more than 650 individual weapons systems Each entry has sources for further reading The weapons are presented alphabetically within six time periods ranging from the prehistoric and ancient periods to the contemporary period Each period has its own introduction that treats the major trends occurring in that era In addition 50 sidebars offer fascinating facts on various weapons Numerous illustrations throughout the text are also included      Empire, Technology and Seapower Howard J. Fuller, 2014-01-03 This book examines British naval diplomacy from the end of the Crimean War to the American Civil War showing how the mid Victorian Royal Navy suffered serious challenges during the period Many recent works have attempted to depict the mid Victorian Royal Navy as all powerful innovative and even self assured In contrast this work argues that it suffered serious challenges in the form of expanding imperial commitments national security concerns precarious diplomatic relations with European Powers and the United States and technological advancements associated with the armoured warship at the height of the so called Pax Britannica Utilising a wealth of international archival sources this volume explores the introduction of the monitor form of ironclad during the American Civil War which deliberately forfeited long range power projection for local coastal command of the sea It looks at the ways in which the Royal Navy responded to this new technology and uses a wealth of international primary and secondary sources to ascertain how decision making at Whitehall affected that at Westminster The result is a better balanced understanding of Palmerstonian diplomacy from the end of the Crimean War to the American Civil War the early evolution of the modern capital ship including the catastrophic loss of the experimental sail and turret ironclad H M S Captain naval power projection and the nature of empire technology and seapower This book will be of great interest to all students of the Royal Navy and of maritime and strategic studies in general      Thunderer William Mowll,2010-04-06 The expert ship modeler s a step by step guide to building a large scale model of the dreadnaught that fought in the WWI Battle of Jutland Laid down in April of 1910 HMS Thunderer was the last Orion class dreadnaught battleship built for the Royal Navy The author s 1 96 scale museum quality model of this ship brings to life the power and potency of the Super Dreadnoughts In this comprehensive guide every aspect of model building is covered from the hull to wireless equipment All the different techniques required to bring a complex model battleship to completion are thoroughly explained including casting in metal and GRP silver brazing soft soldering metal fabrication in steel brass copper aluminum and pewter and lathe turning and milling operations for the production of guns and propellers The author also covers the contemporary American battleship USS Texas the only remaining ship of that type and era and an inspiration for any modeler setting out to tackle this subject Not just a how to manual the book is also an eloquent testimony to the skills of the designers and the original builders as well as a wonderful evocation of the great ships that fought at the Battle of Jutland      Clad in Iron Howard J. Fuller,2007-12-30 This work addresses many persistent misconceptions of what the monitors were for and why they failed in other roles associated with naval operations of the Civil War such as the repulse at Charleston April 7 1863 Monitors were ironclads not fort killers Their ultimate success is to be measured not in terms of spearheading attacks on fortified Southern ports but in the quieter much more profound strategic deterrence of Lord Palmerston s ministry in London and the British Royal Navy s potential intervention The relatively unknown Cold War of the American Civil War was a nevertheless crucial aspect of the survival or not of the United States in the mid 19th century Foreign intervention explicitly in the form of British naval power represented a far more serious threat to the success of the Union blockade the safety of Yankee merchant shipping worldwide and Union combined operations against the South than the Confederate States Navy Whether or not the North or South would be clad in iron thus depended on the ability of superior Union ironclads to deter the majority of mid Victorian British leaders otherwise tempted by their desire to see the American experiment in democratic class structures and popular government finally fail Discussions of open European involvement in the Civil War were pointless as long as the coastline of the United States was virtually impregnable Combining extensive archival research on both sides of the Atlantic this work offers an in depth look at how the Union Navy achieved its greatest grand strategic victory in the American Civil War

Through a combination of high tech machines armed with monster guns intensive coastal fortifications and a new fleet of high speed Union commerce raiders the North was able to turn the humiliation of the Trent Affair of late 1861 into a sobering challenge to British naval power and imperial defense worldwide      Felix Wild Peter Broadbent, 2019-11-25 Gosport 1860

Felix Wild has lived on the streets and on his wits for all his young life He s been a mudlark at The Hard eaten tallow when there was nothing else to be had picked oakum in Forton Gaol and acquired a skill for tup tup tugging from the women of Haslar He has no family no idea of how old he might be and has never heard of Christmas But he has one remarkable talent he can make a perfect drawing from memory of anything that he has seen Saved from a further spell in prison by the wealthy William Kettle Felix joins the Kettle household in East London and is employed to make drawings of the building of a magnificent new iron clad vessel HMS Warrior His eagerness to learn new things knows no bounds from working out how to use a knife and fork and reading a dictionary from cover to cover to being given the tippy key for the chronometers during his first voyage on board Warrior as she conducts sea trials While the men he meets are in awe of his drawing skills the young women are absorbed in rather less cerebral matters namely the fit of his fashionably tight gas pipe trousers and his distinctive looks one eye is blue the other green Felix Wild is a captivating novel that has all the affectionate humour and vivid sense of place that has made Peter Broadbent s naval memoirs so popular      The Archaeology of Ships of War Mensun Bound, 1995 One of two books based on the proceedings of the First International Conference on The Archaeology of Ships of War held at the Royal Naval College Greenwich from the 31st October to the 1st November 1992      The Mariner's Mirror
