

INSTINCT THEORY OF MOTIVATION

The instinct theory of motivation argues that our motivational instincts are passed down from our parents through hereditary factors.

DEFINITION

The instinct theory states that our motivations and behavior are compelled by a distinct set of instincts that are internally fixed.

Our biological or natural urges are in control of how we act, and these are the motivating force behind our actions.

KEY CONCEPTS

- Motivation is predetermined by biological drives and not subject to change.
- Key drivers of our actions include the instincts to seek out food, shelter, and reproduction
- We lack agency because our innate drives – for food, shelter, protection, community, sex, etc. – cannot be denied.

The Collapse of the Self and Its Therapeutic Restoration Rochelle G. K. Kainer,2013-06-17 The Collapse of the Self and Its Therapeutic Restoration is a rich and clinically detailed account of the therapeutic restoration of the self and speaks to the healing process for analysts themselves that follows from Rochelle Kainer s sensitive integration of heretofore dissociated realms of psychoanalytic theory In describing how the reworking of pathological internal object relationships occurs in conjunction with the transformation of selfobject failures Kainer brings new insight to bear on the healing of the self at the same time as she contributes to healing the historic split in psychoanalysis between Kleinian theory and self psychology Extensive case illustrations refracted through the lens of her uniquely integrative perspective bring refreshing clarity to elusive theoretical concepts Of special note is Kainer s distinction between normal and pathological identifications Equally valuable is her introduction of the term imaginative empathy to characterize the kind of attunement that is integral to analytic healing her nuanced description of the relation between imaginative empathy and projective identification bridges the worlds of Kleinian theory and self psychology in an original and compelling way She ends by spelling out how her theoretical viewpoint leads to a more comprehensive understanding of various clinical phenomena The Collapse of the Self and Its Therapeutic Restoration is a sophisticated yet accessible work gracefully written that elaborates a relational theory of thinking of creativity of identification and of the formation and healing of psychic structure Kainer s ability to bring the often dissonant voices of different psychoanalytic schools into theoretical harmony as she develops her viewpoint conveys both the breadth of intellectual engagement with colleagues and the depth of clinical engagement with patients that inform her project from beginning to end
