The Landscape And The Looking Glass Willa Cathers Search For Value:

The Landscape and the Looking Glass John Herman Randall, 1973 The Landscape and the Looking Glass. Willa Cather's Search for Value. [With a Portrait.]. John Herman Randall (III), 1960 The Landscape and the Looking Glass John Herman Randall, 1973 A Study Guide for Willa Cather's "Neighbor Rosicky" Gale, Cengage Learning, Willa Cather's Ecological Imagination Susan J. Rosowski, 2003-01-01 The wide ranging essays collected in this volume of Cather Studies examine Willa Cather's unique artistic relationship to the environment Under the theoretical rubric of ecocriticism these essays focus on Cather's close observations of the natural world and how the environment proves for most of these contributors to be more than simply a setting for her characters While it is certain that Cather's novels and short stories are deeply grounded in place literary critics are only now considering how place functions within her narratives and addressing environmental issues through her writing These essays reintroduce us to a Cather who is profoundly identified with the places that shaped her and that she wrote about Glen A Love offers an interdisciplinary reading of The Professor's House that is scientifically oriented Joseph Urgo argues that My Antonia models a preservationist aesthetic in which landscape and memory are inextricably entangled Thomas J Lyon posits that Cather had a living sense of the biotic community and used nature as the standard of excellence for human endeavors and Jan Goggans considers the ways that My Antonia shifts from nativism toward a flexible notion of place based community Willa Cather and Aestheticism Ann Moseley, Sarah Cheney Watson, 2012-06-14 In this collection of essays contributors investigate the various connections between Willa Cather's fiction and her aesthetic beliefs and practices Including multiple perspectives and critical approaches derived from the Aesthetic Movement the visual arts modernism and the relationship between art and religion this collection will increase our understanding of Cather's aesthetic and lead to a better comprehension of her work and her life Memorial Fictions Steven Trout, 2002-01-01 Based on extensive archival research and a variety of scholarly sources drawn from several disciplines Steven Trout shows how Cather's analysis of the First World War in One of Ours and The Professor's House represents a considerable accomplishment one worthy of standing next to her groundbreaking treatment of Nebraska settlers in O Pioneers and My Antonia and her virtual reinvention of the historical novel in Death Comes for the Archbishop and Shadows on the Rock Furthermore he argues that Cather's First World War related fiction deserves consideration alongside such established classics as Ernest Hemingway's A Farewell to Arms Erich Maria Remarque's All Quiet on the Western Front and Vera Brittain's Testament of Youth BOOK JACKET Queer Environmentality Robert Azzarello, 2016-04-15 Offering a model for meaningful dialogue between queer studies and environmental studies Robert Azzarello's book traces a queer environmental lineage in American Romantic and post Romantic literature Azzarello challenges the notion that reading environmental literature is unsatisfying in terms of aesthetics and proposes an understanding of literary environmentalism that is rich in poetic complexity With the term queer environmentality Azzarello points towards a queer sensibility in the history of environmental literature to balance the dominant narrative that reading environmental literature is tantamount to witnessing a spectacular dramatization of heterosexual teleology Azzarello's study treats four key figures in the American literary tradition Henry David Thoreau Herman Melville Willa Cather and Djuna Barnes Each of these writers problematizes conventional notions of the strange matrix between the human the natural and the sexual They brilliantly demonstrate the ways in which the queer project and the environmental project are always connected or put another way show that questions and politics of human sexuality are always entwined with those associated with the other than human world

Willa Cather and France Robert James Nelson, 1988

The Imaginative Claims of the Artist in Willa Cather's Fiction Demaree C. Peck, 1996 In this her first book scholar Demaree C. Peck assigns Willa Cather her rightful place in our literary history Challenging the assumption that women writers must draw their inspiration from a lineage of female predecessors Peck portrays Willa Cather as a woman who self-consciously set out to write within a male literary tradition that she identified as Emersonian Peck explores the psychological underpinnings of Cather's aesthetics to show that her theory of stylistic economy and simplicity was motivated by a desire to reorganize the elements of the artistic stage exclusively around her own romantic ego that inexplicable presence of the thing not named Although Cather's protagonists appear in various disguises clad as pioneers lawyers or priests they are all incarnations of the artist who appropriates people and places as parts of consciousness Cather's imaginative claimants seek to assimilate the world as a reflection of the self in the way that their prototype Emerson's poet-landlord enjoys a figurative ownership of the landscape in reward for his integrating vision The novels offer a series of ingenious masquerades beneath whose plots lurk variations of a single story impelled by the artist's quest to take imaginative possession of the world in order to recover the dominion of her soul Unlike critics who have discussed Cather's novels as a series of discrete experiments Peck charts the pursuit for imaginative possession as a continuous theme thereby suggesting a coherence for Cather's art and career as a whole Offering original interpretations of eight of Cather's novels in the light of previously undiscussed letters and other biographical materials Peck explores the relation between Cather's life and art to suggest that she created her central characters as surrogates whose imaginative accumulations could compensate her for various dispossessing experiences in her own life Cather's novels operate according to the psychological laws of wish fulfillment While Cather's romanticism has its historical origin in American transcendentalism its psychological origin derives from the mythic domain of childhood Cather's kingdom of art sanctions the dream projected upon childhood of an original omnipotence that could cheat fate and remain unsoiled by experience Her novels enact a fantasy of return to primal wholeness Peck suggests that the novels serve a restorative function not only for their author but for Cather's readers as well Cather's fiction is significant Peck argues because it performs an important psychological work for its audience
