The Case against Afrocentrism Tunde Adeleke, 2011-01-05 Postcolonial discourses on African Diaspora history and relations have traditionally focused intensely on highlighting the common experiences and links between black Africans and African Americans This is especially true of Afrocentric scholars and supporters who use Africa to construct and validate a monolithic racial and culturally essentialist worldview Publications by Afrocentric scholars such as Molefi Asante Marimba Ani Maulana Karenga and the late John Henrik Clarke have emphasized the centrality of Africa to the construction of Afrocentric essentialism In the last fifteen years however countervailing critical scholarship has challenged essentialist interpretations of Diaspora history Critics such as Stephen Howe Yaacov Shavit and Clarence Walker have questioned and refuted the intellectual and cultural underpinnings of Afrocentric essentialist ideology Tunde Adeleke deconstructs Afrocentric essentialism by illuminating and interrogating the problematic situation of Africa as the foundation of a racialized worldwide African Diaspora He attempts to fill an intellectual gap by analyzing the contradictions in Afrocentric representations of the continent These include multiple conflicting and ambivalent portraits of Africa the use of the continent as a global unifying identity for all blacks the de emphasizing and nullification of New World acculturation and the ahistoristic construction of a monolithic African Diaspora worldwide

Digital Preservation and Documentation of Global Indigenous Knowledge Systems Masenya, Tlou Maggie, 2023-08-03

Indigenous knowledge is regarded as undocumented cultural local traditional and community knowledge produced and owned by local people in their specific communities. It is mainly preserved in the memories of elders and shared or passed on from generation to generation through oral communication, traditional practices and demonstrations. This irreplaceable resource may be lost forever as a direct result of the pressures of modernization, colonization and globalization. Concern over the loss of Indigenous knowledge has thus raised a need for the preservation and documentation of this knowledge in digital formats. Digital Preservation and Documentation of Global Indigenous Knowledge Systems determines how Indigenous knowledge can be documented and digitally preserved to benefit Indigenous knowledge owners and their communities and be accessible for future generations. The book provides the best practices, innovative strategies, theoretical and conceptual frameworks and empirical research findings regarding the digital preservation and documentation of Indigenous knowledge systems worldwide. Covering topics such as digital media platforms, educational management and knowledge systems, this premier reference source is a valuable and useful tool for students, information professionals, knowledge managers, records managers, Indigenous knowledge owners, Indigenous community leaders, librarians, archivists, computer scientists, information technology specialists, students and educators of higher education, researchers and academicians. England's Other

Countrymen Onyeka Nubia, 2019-06-15 The Tudor period remains a source of timeless fascination with endless novels, TV programmes and films depicting the period in myriad ways. And yet our image of the Tudor era remains overwhelmingly white. This ground-breaking and provocative new book seeks to redress the balance, revealing not only how black presence in Tudor England was far greater than has previously been recognised, but that Tudor conceptions of race were far more complex than we have been led to believe. Onyeka Nubia's original research shows that Tudors from many walks of life regularly interacted with people of African descent both at home and abroad, revealing a genuine pragmatism towards race and acceptance of difference. Nubia also rejects the influence of the Curse of Ham myth on Tudor thinking, persuasively arguing that many of the ideas associated with modern racism are in fact relatively recent developments. England's Other Countrymen is a bravura and eloquent forgotten history of diversity and cultural exchange and casts a new light on our own attitudes towards race. Re-Membering and Surviving Shirley A. James Hanshaw, 2020-10-01 The first book-length critical study of the black experience in the Vietnam War and its aftermath, this text interrogates the meaning of heroism based on models from African and African American expressive culture. It focuses on four novels: Captain Blackman 1972 by John A. Williams, Tragic Magic 1978 by Wesley Brown, Coming Home 1971 by George Davis and De Mojo Blues 1985 by A. R. Flowers. Discussions of the novels are framed within the historical context of all wars prior to Vietnam in which Black Americans fought. The success or failure of the hero on his identity quest is predicated upon the extent to which he can reconnect with African or African American cultural memory. He is engaged therefore in re-membering, a term laden with the specificity of race that implies a cultural history comprised of African retentions and an interdependent relationship with the community.

for survival The reader will find that a common history of racism and exploitation that African Americans and Vietnamese share sometimes results in the hero's empathy with and compassion for the so called enemy a unique contribution of the black novelist to American war literature

Race and Ethnicity Rodney D. Coates, 2004-10-01 Race and ethnicity much like water and air are all around us Yet race and ethnicity remain impervious to many of us Hence in this volume authors were challenged to think outside the box As such scholars were encouraged to dare to contemplate to evaluate and analyze issues regarding race and ethnicity from radically different perspectives This critical process required them to evaluate their own assumptions and those of their respective disciplines Therefore much like walking a tight rope without a net the scholars attempt to free themselves from the disciplinarian blinders that often preclude the development of fresh insights Collectively the papers challenge the way we conceive and perceive of race and ethnicity As a consequence they go past the ideological constraints that normally limit such discourse by disciplinarian boundaries or disciplinarian myopia Therefore these papers provide a critical reappraisal of race and ethnicity

Race and the Foundations of Knowledge Joseph A. Young, Jana Evans Braziel, 2006 This anthology demonstrates the longstanding multifarious and major role that race has played in the formation of knowledge The authors demonstrate how race theory intersects with other bodies of knowledge by examining discursive records such as travelogues literature and historiography theoretical structures such as common sense pseudoscientific racism and Eurocentrism social structures of class advancement and identity and politico economic structures of capitalism colonialism and law
