Fight Or Pay Desmond Morton,2004 One Canadian in eight volunteered to fight between 1914 and 1918 and more than half of them were enlisted Soldiers left their families behind to the tender mercy of a tight fisted government and the Canadian Patriotic Fund a national charity dominated by its wealthy donors In time the soldiers were remembered as the sacrificial heroes who won Canada a respected place in the world The women who paid in loneliness and poverty were as easily forgotten as their letters soaked in blood and Flanders mud Fight or Pay tells the story of what happened to the soldiers families and their quiet contributions to a fairer deal for Canadians in peace and war Swords and Covenants Adrian Preston,Peter Dennis,2021-03-30 Originally published in 1976 this book honours the centenary of The Royal Military College of Canada 1876 1976 It comprises nine essays written by military historians who have been or still are in some way as staff and students connected with RMC since 1948 The essays range in time from the American invasion of Canada in 1775 to Hungary on the eve of the Second World War and in place from Upper Canada to the North West Frontier of India The theme running through the book is the problem of civil military relations and how this has been faced in Canada in the nineteenth century in the defence of India in the nineteenth century and in the First World War and post war period in Great Britain and Hungary Nation Maker Richard J. Gwyn,2012-08-21 1 NATIONAL BESTSELLER John A Macdonald Canada s first and most important prime minister is the man who made Confederation happen who built this country over the next quarter century and who shaped what it is today From Confederation Day in 1867 where this volume picks up Macdonald finessed a reluctant union of four provinces in central and eastern Canada into a strong nation despite indifference from Britain and annexationist sentiment in the United States But it wasn't easy Gwyn paints a superb portrait of Canada and its leaders through these formative years and also delves deep to show us Macdonald the man as he marries for the second time deals with the birth of a disabled child and the assassination of his close friend Darcy McGee and wrestles with whether Riel should hang Indelibly Gwyn shows us Macdonald's love of this country and his ability to joust with forces who would have been just as happy to see the end of Canada before it had really begun creating a must read for all Canadians Men at War Christon Archer, 2017-07-05 The growing number of books on military history and the lively interest in military history courses at colleges and universities show that the study of war is enjoying considerable popularity The reasons for this are arguable but of immediate interest is the kind of military history that is taught and written Here the student of war comes across an interesting division of opinion as to how military history should be written Military history lying as it does on the frontier between history and military science requires knowledge of both fields This fact often presents a difficulty to the history teacher Generally speaking history is a discipline by virtue of its subject matter not by virtue of a particular methodology such as is characteristic of the sciences and of some social sciences The perspective of Men at War is a cross between a professional internalist approach and a civilian contextual view This separation is not unique to military history for the same dualism tends to occur in those areas of history such as law and medicine that can be written both by members of the profession concerned lawyers and doctors and by those outside the profession The problem is that at one extreme the contextual view can take the emotional content out of war while at the other extreme the internalist view can put too much in Men at War seeks to locate a military history that combines the professional internalist method and the civilian contextual method by showing that these are two fundamental sources from which a war derives Seen in this way this volume breaks new ground in defining the sources of twentieth century power Two Months in the Camp of Big Bear Theresa

Gowanlock, Theresa Delaney, University of Regina. Canadian Plains Research Center, 1999 In Two Months in the Camp of Big Bear the accounts of Theresa Delaney and Theresa Gowanlock were made to conform to the literary convention of the Indian captivity narrative Sarah Carter's scholarly introduction provokes a careful reconsideration of the text
