The Beneventan Script A History of the South Italian Minusculæ The present work is an essay in regional palaeography Its inception goes back to my student days at the University of Munich My master Ludwig Traube had proposed to me the thesis Monte Cassino as a centre for the transmission of Latin classics After spending some time on this subject it became clear that adequate treatment of it would be possible only after acquiring such a knowledge of the peculiar script used at Monte Cassino as would enable me to make sound and independent judgements with regard to the dates of Monte Cassino MSS that is MSS written in the Beneventan or South Italian minuscule Thus I conceived the idea of making a careful study of the script employed throughout the lower half of the Italian peninsula Traube made no objection to my working on a subject of my own choice but with characteristic generosity put at my disposal his entire library his very large collection of facsimiles and even some of his own notes Owing to my ill health I had not the fortune to put into Traube s hands the completed study But I had at least the satisfaction of knowing that he approved of the results reached before his death All who knew Traube know that he was like a father to his pupils No one can feel more keenly than I the loss my work has suffered by want of his guidance and criticism and the best verdict I could hope for upon this book would be that it was at least conceived in Traube s spirit About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Beneventan Script.
