Hagen, 2014-05-10 Durer's Devices Beyond the Projective Model of Pictures is a collection of papers that discusses the nature of picture making and perception One paper presents a perceptual theory of pictorial representation in which cultural and historical options in styles of depiction that appear to be different are actually closely related perceptually Another paper discusses pictorial functions and perceptual structures including pictorial representation perceptual theory flat canvass and the deep world One paper suggests that perception can be more a matter of information make up than pick up Light becomes somewhat informative and the eye correspondingly becomes less or more presumptive Another paper notes that human vision is transformed by our modes of representation that image formation can be essentially incomplete false or misleading primarily as regards dramatic performance and pictorial representation One paper makes three claims that 1 the blind have untapped depiction abilities 2 haptics involving the sense of touch have an intuitive sense of perspective and 3 depiction is perceptual based on graphic elements and pictorial configurations The collection is suitable for psychologists physiologists psychophysicists and researchers in human perception or phenomenology The

Cognition of Basic Musical Structures David Temperley, 2004-08-20 In this book David Temperley addresses a fundamental question about music cognition how do we extract basic kinds of musical information such as meter phrase structure counterpoint pitch spelling harmony and key from music as we hear it Taking a computational approach Temperley develops models for generating these aspects of musical structure The models he proposes are based on preference rules which are criteria for evaluating a possible structural analysis of a piece of music A preference rule system evaluates many possible interpretations and chooses the one that best satisfies the rules After an introductory chapter Temperley presents preference rule systems for generating six basic kinds of musical structure meter phrase structure contrapuntal structure harmony and key as well as pitch spelling the labeling of pitch events with spellings such as A flat or G sharp He suggests that preference rule systems not only show how musical structures are inferred but also shed light on other aspects of music He substantiates this claim with discussions of musical ambiguity retrospective revision expectation and music outside the Western canon rock and traditional African music He proposes a framework for the description of musical styles based on preference rule systems and explores the relevance of preference rule systems to higher level aspects of music such as musical schemata narrative and drama and musical tension

Symmetry as a Developmental Principle in Nature and Art Werner Hahn, 1998 Looking beyond the boundaries of various disciplines the author demonstrates that symmetry is a fascinating phenomenon which provides endless stimulation and challenges He explains that it is possible to readapt art to the sciences and vice versa by means of an evolutionary concept of symmetry Many pictorial examples are included to enable the reader to fully understand the issues discussed Based on the artistic evidence that the author has collected he proposes that the new ars evolutoria can function as an example for the sciences The book is divided into three distinct parts each one focusing on a special issue In Part I the phenomenon of symmetry including its discovery and meaning is reviewed The author looks closely at how Vitruvius Polyclitus Democritus Plato Aristotle Plotinus Augustine Alberti Leonardo da Vinci and Durer viewed symmetry This is followed by an explanation on how the concept of symmetry developed The author further discusses symmetry as it appears in art and science as well as in the modern age Later he expounds the view of symmetry as an evolutionary concept which can lead to a new unity of science In Part II he covers the points of contact between the form developing process in nature and art He deals with biological questions in particular evolution The collection of new and precise data on perception and knowledge with regard to the postulated reality of symmetry leads to further development of the evolutionary theory of symmetry in Part III The author traces the enormous treasure of observations made in nature and culture back to a few underlying structural principles He demonstrates symmetry as a far reaching leading structuring causal element of evolution as the idea lying behind nature and culture Numerous controllable reproducible double mirror experiments on a new stereoscopic vision verify a symmetrization theory of perception
