Artistic Outlaws Sonja Samberger, 2005 The creator of the new composition in the arts is an outlaw until he is a classic Gertrude Stein wrote in 1926 Unlike male modernists such as T S Eliot or Ezra Pound the modernist women poets Edith Sitwell Amy Lowell Stein and H D never became high modernist models but remained artistic outlaws The present study shows how these women were present on the modernist scene but followed their own concepts and struggled to establish their position as modernist women poets Defying definition the four poets not only richly contributed to modernism but were indeed its developers

The Art of Twentieth-Century American Poetry Charles Altieri, 2008-04-15 Written by a leading critic this invigorating introduction to modernist American poetry conveys the excitement that can be generated by a careful reading of modernist poems Encourages readers to identify with the modernists sense of the revolutionary possibilities of their art Embraces four generations of modernist American poets up through to the 1980s Gives readers a sense of the ambitions the disillusionments and the continuities of modernist poetry Includes close readings of particular poems which show how readers can use these works to connect with what concerns them

Three Lives NA NA, 2016-04-30 Gertrude Stein as a college student at Radcliffe and a medical student at Johns Hopkins Medical School was a privileged woman but she was surrounded by women who were trapped by poverty class and race into lives that offered little choice Her portraits of Anna and Lena are examples of realistic depictions of immigrant women who had no occupational choice but to become domestic workers This collection of documents from the history of women s suffrage medical history modernist art and literature enables readers to see how radical Stein s subject was

Reading the Middle Generation Anew Eric Haralson, 2006-04 Ten original essays by advanced scholars and well published poets address the middle generation of American poets including the familiar Robert Lowell Elizabeth Bishop Randall Jarrell and John Berryman and various important contemporaries Delmore Schwartz Theodore Roethke Robert Hayden and Lorine Niedecker This was a famously troubled cohort of writers for reasons both personal and cultural and collectively their poems give us powerful moving insights into American social life in the transforming decades of the 1940s through the 1960s In addition to having worked during the broad middle of the last century these poets constitute the center of twentieth century American poetry in the larger sense refuting invidious connotations of middle as coming after the great moderns and being superseded by a proliferating postmodern experimentation This middle generation mediates the so called American century and its prodigious body of poetry even as it complicates historical and aesthetic categorizations Taking diverse formal and thematic angles on these poets biographical historical deconstructionist and more formalist accounts this book re examines their between ness and ambivalence their various positionings and repositionings in aesthetic political and personal matters The essays study the interplay between these writers and such shifting formations as religious discourse consumerism militarism and war the ideology of America as nature s nation and U S race relations and ethnic conflicts Reading the Middle Generation Anew also shows the legacy of the middle generation the ways in which their lives and writings continue to be a shaping force in American poetry This fresh and invigorating collection will be of great interest to literary scholars and poets Modern Confessional Writing Jo

Gill, 2006 This collection of essays provides a critique of the popular and powerful genre of confessional writing Contributors discuss a range of poetry prose and drama including the work of John Berryman Anne Sexton Ted Hughes and Helen Fielding

Desegregating Desire Tyler T. Schmidt, 2013-08 A study of race and sexuality and their interdependencies in American literature from 1945 to 1955 Desegregating Desire examines the varied strategies used by eight American poets and novelists to integrate sexuality into their respective depictions of desegregated places and emergent identities in the aftermath of World War II Focusing on both progressive and conventional forms of cross race writing and interracial intimacy the book is organized around four pairs of writers Chapter one examines reimagined domestic places and the ambivalent desires that define them in the southern writing of Elizabeth Bishop and Zora Neale Hurston The second chapter focused on poets Gwendolyn Brooks and Edwin Denby analyzes their representations of the postwar American city representations which often transpose private desires into a public imaginary Chapter three explores how insular racial communities in the novels of Ann Petry and William Demby were related to non normative sexualities emerging in the early Cold War The final chapter focused on damaged desires considers the ways that novelists Jo Sinclair and Carl Offord relocate the public traumas of desegregation with the private spheres of homes and psyches Aligning close textual readings with the segregated histories and interracial artistic circles that informed these Cold War writers this project defines desegregation as both a racial and sexual phenomenon one both public and private In analyzing more intimate spaces of desegregation shaped by regional familial and psychological upheavals after World War II Tyler T Schmidt argues that queer desire understood as same sex and interracial desire redirected American writing and helped shape the Cold War era s integrationist politics Going the Distance David R. Jarraway, 2003-01-01 This bold new theoretical study explores dissident subjectivity that is the struggle for unique authorial identity in American literary discourse that has existed according to David Jarraway since the Romantics From Emerson s Experience remarking upon the focal distance within the actual horizon of human life to Toni Morrison s Nobel Prize address sanctifying the artist s sophisticated privileged space American literature has continuously recognized a necessary distance the gap between culturally accepted ideas of selfhood and the intractable reality of the self s never completed construction in time Jarraway s fascinating examination of modernist poets shows that engaging with this artistic space or going the distance empowers writers and their readers to create and perceive identities that resist the frozen certainties of conventional gender sexual and social roles Employing this theory with grace and precision Jarraway ranges through the dissident process in Gertrude Stein the cultural criticism of William Carlos Williams the deferred racialism of Langston Hughes the queer perversities of Frank O Hara and the spectral lesbian poetics of Elizabeth Bishop Bolstered further by insights from the pragmatism of William James through the cultural critique of Theodor Adorno to the queer theory of Judith Butler the author challenges his audience with politically engaged insistence on the life affirming potentialities of human subjectivity in literature His passionate conclusion demonstrates the liberating fluidity of self made possible by feminist chartings of modern identity s depths Lucidly composed theoretically sophisticated and up to the minute Going the Distance painstakingly recovers the dissident American subjective in modernist literary discourse within its fullest cultural context Jarraway s readings are a major contribution to poetry scholarship and to cultural studies that will provoke further investigations into the history of subjectivity in American literature as a whole US Poetry in the Age of Empire, 1979-2012 P. Gwiazda, 2014-11-26 Examining poetry by Robert Pinsky Adrienne Rich and Amiri Baraka among others this book shows that leading US poets since 1979 have performed the role of public intellectual through their poetic rhetoric Gwiazda s argument aims to revitalize the role of poetry and its social value within an era of global politics Challenging Boundaries Joyce W. Warren, Margaret Dickie, 2012-03-15 What if the American literary canon were expanded to consistently represent women writers who do not always fit easily into genres and periods established on the basis of men s writings How would the study of American literature benefit from this long needed revision This timely collection of essays by fourteen women writers breaks new ground in American literary study Not content to rediscover and awkwardly fit female writers into the white male scheme of anthologies and college courses editors Margaret Dickie and Joyce W Warren question the current boundaries of literary periods advocating a revised literary canon The essays consider a wide range of American women writers including Mary Rowlandson Margaret Fuller Harriet Beecher Stowe Emily Dickinson Frances Harper Edith Wharton Gertrude Stein Amy Lowell and Adrienne Rich discussing how the present classification of these writers by periods affects our reading of their work Beyond the focus of feminist challenges to American literary periodization this volume also studies issues of a need for literary reforms considering differences in race ethnicity class and sexuality The essays are valuable and informative as individual critical studies of specific writers and their works Challenging Boundaries presents intelligent original well written and practical arguments in support of long awaited changes in American literary scholarship and is a milestone of feminist literary study The Political Poetess Tricia Lootens, 2019-12-03 The Political Poetess challenges familiar accounts of the figure of the nineteenth century Poetess offering new readings of Poetess performance and criticism In performing the Poetry of Woman the mythic Poetess has long staked her claims as a creature of separate spheres one exempt from emerging readings of nineteenth century women s political poetics Turning such assumptions on their heads

Tricia Lootens models a nineteenth century domestic or private sphere whose imaginary apolitical heart is also the heart of nation and empire and as revisionist histories increasingly attest is traumatized and haunted by histories of slavery Setting aside late Victorian attempts to forget the unfulfilled sentimental promises of early antislavery victories The Political Poetess restores Poetess performances like Julia Ward Howe s Battle Hymn of the Republic and Emma Lazarus s The New Colossus to view and with them the vitality of the Black Poetess within African American public life Crossing boundaries of nation period and discipline to connect the dots of Poetess performance Lootens demonstrates how new histories and ways of reading position poetic texts by Felicia Dorothea Hemans Elizabeth Barrett Browning Dinah Mulock Craik George Eliot and Frances E W Harper as convergence points for larger engagements ranging from Germaine de Sta l to G W F Hegel Virginia Woolf Elizabeth Bishop Alice Walker and beyond

The Cambridge Companion to American Gay and Lesbian

Literature Scott Herring,2015-05-26 Writing anything definitive about the queer American novel will always be unsatisfying if not impossible Unsatisfying because the romances they contain are uncertain and quite often doomed heartbreak violence and persecution pepper nearly every page Impossible because the genre s terrain is as vast and uncertain as America itself the spaces the characters plots ideas and dynamics too varied The minute you say one thing you could say another And perhaps that might be the point As one character from Djuna Barnes s lesbian novel Nightwood puts it With an American anything can be done 1 We could say the same about the queer American novel If there is anything consistently connecting this genre it is that it features however obliquely the effects characters usually American but not always have as they seek reasons for why they have sexual feelings for those that are not obvious or traditional object choices Frequently these effects instruct characters in their pursuit of self knowledge and self understanding especially if others have pathologized their desires and America has and does pathologize its queers In her autobiographical graphic memoir Fun Home Alison Bechdel tells a story of a variety of discoveries that books explicitly queer or not can inspire During the same afternoon when she acknowledges that she is a lesbian she also finds herself asking a professor to let her take his course on James Joyce s Ulysses her father s favorite book As we move from the captions and the meticulous stylized drawings canonical books acquire an increasingly important role books become guides to how Bechdel will affect a convergence with her abstracted father

Toni Morrison and the New Black Jaleel Akhtar,2018-06-14 Toni Morrison and the New Black examines how Morrison explores the concept of the new black in the context of post soul post black and post racial discourses Morrison evolves the new black as symbolic of unprecedented black success in all walks of life from politics to the media business and beyond The author s work shows how the new black reaffirms the possibility of upward mobility and success and stands as testimony to the American Dream that anyone can achieve material success provided they work hard enough for it
