Stereoscopic Perspective Reflections On:

Stereoscopic Perspective Michael D. Hall, 1988 The Temptation Julia S. Ardery, 1998 Why beginning in the late 1960s did expressive objects made by poor people come to be regarded as twentieth century folk art increasingly sought after by the middle class and the wealthy Julia Ardery explores that question through the life story of Signs of Diaspora / Diaspora of Signs Grey Gundaker, 1998-07-30 Challenging monolithic approaches to culture and literacy this book looks at the roots of African American reading and writing from the perspective of vernacular activities and creolization It shows that African Americans while readily mastering the conventions and canons of Euro America also drew on knowledge of their own to make an oppositional repertoire of signs and meanings Distinct from conventional script literacy on the one hand and oral culture on the other these creolized vernacular practices include writing in charms use of personal or nondecodable scripts the strategic renunciation of reading and writing as communicative tools and writing that is linked to divination trance and possession Based on extensive ethnographic research in the Southeastern United States and the West Indies Gundaker offers a complex portrait of the intersection of outsider conventions with insider knowledge and practice Beholding Ken Wilder, 2020-05-14 Beholding considers the spatially situated encounter between artwork and spectator It argues that artworks created for specific places or conditions structure a reciprocal encounter which is completed by the presence of a beholder These are works which demand the beholder's share but not as Ernst Gombrich famously claimed to sustain an illusion Rather Beholding reconfigures Gombrich's notion of the beholder's share as a set of licensed imaginative and cognitive projections Each chapter frames a particular work of art from the remit of a complementary theoretical text The book establishes a transhistorical notion of the spatially situated encounter and considers the role of the architectural host in bringing the beholder's orientation into play The book engages a diverse range of practices from Renaissance painting and group portraiture to intermedia practices of installation and performance art Written within the broad remit of reception aesthetics the book proposes a phenomenological theory of beholding argued through an in depth examination of artworks and their spatial contexts selected for their explanatory potential These various encounters allocate different constitutive roles to the beholder bringing not only spatial and temporal orientation into play but also a repertoire of anticipated ideas and beliefs Hear Me Now: The Black Potters of Old Edgefield, South Carolina Adrienne Spinozzi, Michael J. Bramwell, Vincent Brown, Katherine C. Hughes, Ethan W. Lasser, Simone Leigh, Jason R. though literacy among enslaved people was criminalized at the time Essays on the production collection dispersal and reception of stoneware from Edgefield offer a critical look at what it means to collect exhibit and interpret objects made by enslaved artisans Several featured contemporary works inspired by or related to Edgefield stoneware attest to the cultural and historical significance of this body of work and an interview with acclaimed contemporary artist Simone Leigh illuminates its continued relevance
