Bringhurst, 2018-04-10 Originally published shortly after the LDS Church lifted its priesthood and temple restriction on black Latter day Saints Newell G Bringhurst s landmark work remains ever relevant as both the first comprehensive study on race within the Mormon religion and the basis by which contemporary discussions on race and Mormonism have since been framed Approaching the topic from a social history perspective with a keen understanding of antebellum and post bellum religious shifts Saints Slaves and Blacks examines both early Mormonism in the context of early American attitudes towards slavery and race and the inherited racial traditions it maintained for over a century While Mormons may have drawn from a distinct theology to support and defend racial views their attitudes towards blacks were deeply embedded in the national contestation over slavery and anticipation of the last days This second edition of Saints Slaves and Blacks offers an updated edit as well as an additional foreword and postscripts by Edward J Blum W Paul Reeve and Darron T Smith Bringham further adds a new preface and appendix detailing his experience publishing Saints Slaves and Blacks at a time when many Mormons felt the rescinded ban was best left ignored and reflecting on the wealth of research done on this topic since its publication

Learned Ignorance James L. Heft, Reuven Firestone, Omid Safi, 2011-02-20 Constructive interreligious dialogue is only a recent phenomenon Until the nineteenth century most dialogue among believers was carried on as a debate aimed either to disprove the claims of the other or to convert the other to one's own tradition At the end of the nineteenth century Protestant Christian missionaries of different denominations had created such a cacophony amongst themselves in the mission fields that they decided that it would be best if they could begin to overcome their own differences instead of confusing and even scandalizing the people whom they were trying to convert By the middle of the twentieth century the horrors of the Holocaust compelled Christians especially mainline Protestants and Catholics to enter into a serious dialogue with Jews one of the consequences of which was the removal of claims by Christians to have replaced Judaism and revising text books that communicated that message to Christian believers Now at the beginning of the twenty first century many branches of Christianity not least the Catholic Church are engaged in a world wide constructive dialogue with Muslims made all the more necessary by the terrorist attacks of September 11 In these new conversations Muslim religious leaders took an important initiative when they sent their document A Common Word Between Us to all Christians in the West It is an extraordinary document for it makes a theological argument various Christians in the West including officials at the Vatican have claimed that a theological conversation with Muslims is not possible based on texts drawn from the Hebrew Bible the New Testament and the Qur'an that Jewish Christian and Muslim believers share the God given obligation to love God and each other in peace and justice The Institute for Advanced Catholic Studies brought together an international group of sixteen Jewish Catholic and Muslim scholars to carry on an important theological exploration of the theme of learned ignorance
