Geography, Culture and Education Rod Gerber,M. Williams,2013-04-17 An important challenge for our world is to understand how cultural understanding and geographical education can be linked and used to improve the global society We readily accept that our world is constituted by numerous groups of people who are organised by committees tribes regions nations or continental entities How these groups interact show concern for each others well being and progress is still an unpredictable activity Intercultural tensions racial conflicts and religious clashes have all led to the challenges for enacting a constructive world Fundamental perspectives challenge moderate ones and the resulting tensions produce elements of fear doubt and distrust The extremist views of terrorist groups exaggerate these tensions to the extent that some different cultural groups do not prefer to live in peace with their neighbours Deep seated intercultural tensions predominate over peaceful co existence Such challenges may easily dominate the interaction between racial groups tribes indigenous peoples and colonisers However we know that through the sound practice of intercultural understanding cultural groups in different contexts around the world can interact and co exist successfully and productively In fact they can work together to seek to improve their society This does not mean that one group will dominate the other Rather it means that both groups work together to improve their collective lives Education has played an important role in the long term achievement of such harmony This volume has been developed to demonstrate that geographical education can be a potent force in the development of cultural understanding in different societies

Education, Autonomy and Democratic Citizenship David Bridges, 2002-11-01 Across the globe educators are being required to respond to a changing political environment New nations emerge out of the collapse of old empires new democracies struggle out of old structures of oppression Driven on by the fierce competitiveness of the tiger economies of the east old social welfare 1 based democracies are transformed into new market led enterprise societies The essays in this international collection are a response from twenty two educators to these changes and to the reassessment that they provoke of some of the fundamental principles which shape educational thought and practice They focus in particular on four key clusters of issues to do with the role of education in cultivating national identity Authors from political settings as culturally distant as Lithuania and Taiwan consider what role if any nationalistic education might play in the context of a democratic liberal education market principles Contributors offer different perspectives on the internationally pervasive application of the principles of the market economy to education and the consequent commodification of learning personal autonomy Different dimensions of the contested notion of autonomy are examined along with the related discourses of edification and empowerment democratic citizenship From post Soviet Russia to the new South Africa in schools and in the context of professional training educators examine what education for democratic citizenship might mean in practice and tease out some of the conflicts of principle which are raised in its implementation The contributors are distinguished scholars drawn from every continent They write consciously for an international readership and there is constant cross reference to developments in different parts of the world All are practitioners in education sharing an interest in the philosophical issues underlying social change The philosophical discussion is clearly rooted in and referred back to the world of educational practice and its political context

Technology and Vocational Education for Sustainable Development Margarita Pavlova, 2008-12-14 Empowerment is the overarching idea used in this book The term has a variety of meanings in different sociocultural and political contexts including self strength control self power self reliance own choice life of dignity in accordance with one's values capable of fighting for one's rights independence own decision making being free awakening and capability The World Bank 2002 p 10 However the World Bank report observed that most definitions focus on issues of gaining power and control over decisions and resources that determine the quality of one's life p 10 This interpretation of empowerment provides a useful starting point for the development of the series of interconnected arguments explored here Establishment of the basis for understanding identifying and developing strategies through education necessary for individuals to be able to make choices that influence the quality of their lives is the main aim of this book There are a number of assumptions and boundaries that frame this analysis First the book focuses on agents however empowerment is often conceptualised in terms of relationships between agency and structure e.g. Alsop Bertelsen H land 2006 Agency could be defined as an actor's or group's ability to make purposeful choices that is the actor is able to envisage and purposively choose options p 11 Spirituality, Philosophy and Education David Carr, John Haldane, 2003-12-16 The contributors of this collection are all highly respected educational practitioners policymakers and philosophers The book examines the meaning role and possibilities of spirituality in education from a wide range of perspectives
