It happened because entire societies abdicated responsibility for their own problems, and instead blamed them on the people who represented—have always represented, since they first introduced the idea of commandedness to the world—the thing they were most afraid of: responsibility’ (p. 191).

Jordan’s book casts a vision for thinking about Christian teaching outside of traditional, institutional forms. Doing this will involve both the re-discovery of and the creation of new ‘scenes of instruction’ for Christian teaching—neglected or overlooked spaces where we can (re-) discover the transformative power of Christian teaching.

In Jordan’s telling, theology made a pact for inclusion in the university by becoming a Wissenschaft, a body of knowledge fit for inclusion in the
