Tears Laughter:

Death by Laughter Maggie Hennefeld, 2024-03-19 Can you really die from laughing too hard Between 1870 and 1920 hundreds of women suffered such a fate or so a slew of sensationalist obituaries would have us believe How could laughter be fatal and what do these reports of women's risible deaths tell us about the politics of female joy Maggie Hennefeld reveals the forgotten histories of hysterical laughter exploring how women's amusement has been theorized and demonized suppressed and exploited In nineteenth century medicine and culture hysteria was an ailment that afflicted unruly women on the cusp of emotional or nervous breakdown Cinema Hennefeld argues made it possible for women to laugh outrageously as never before with irreversible social and political consequences As female enjoyment became a surefire promise of profitability alarmist tales of women laughing themselves to death epitomized the tension between subversive pleasure and its violent repression Hennefeld traces the social politics of women's laughter from the heyday of nineteenth century sentimentalism to the collective euphoria of early film spectatorship traversing contagious dancing outbreaks hysteria photography madwomen's cackling cinematic close ups and screenings of slapstick movies in mental asylums Placing little known silent films and an archive of remarkable often unusual texts in conversation with affect theory comedy studies and feminist film theory this book makes a timely case for the power of hysterical laughter to change the world Laughing and Weeping in Early Modern Theatres Matthew Steggle, 2007 How and when did Shakespeare's audiences laugh and weep in early modern theatres And when laughter or weeping were represented on that stage as they are in hundreds of plays from this period how were they acted out This book considers laughter and weeping in the theatres of 1550-1642 arguing that both actions have a peculiar importance in defining the early modern theatrical experience The Age of Irreverence Christopher Rea, 2025-02-25 The Age of Irreverence tells the story of why China's entry into the modern age was not just traumatic but uproarious As the Qing dynasty slumped toward extinction prominent writers compiled jokes into collections they called histories of laughter In the first years of the Republic novelists essayists and illustrators alike used humorous allegories to make veiled critiques of the new government But again and again political and cultural discussion erupted into invective as critics gleefully jeered and derided rivals in public Farceurs drew followings in the popular press promoting a culture of practical joking and buffoonery Eventually these various expressions of hilarity proved so offensive to high brow writers that they launched a concerted campaign to transform the tone of public discourse hoping to displace the old forms of mirth with a new one they called youmo humor Christopher Rea argues that this period from the 1890s to the 1930s transformed how Chinese people thought and talked about what is funny Focusing on five cultural expressions of laughter jokes play mockery farce and humor he reveals the textures of comedy that were a part of everyday life during modern China's first age of irreverence This new history of laughter not only offers an unprecedented and up close look at a neglected facet of Chinese cultural modernity but also reveals its lasting legacy in the Chinese language of the comic today and its implications for our understanding of humor as a part of human culture Gogol Василий Васильевич Гиппиус,1989

Taking Laughter Seriously John Morreall,1983-01-01 The Mirror of Ideas Michel Tournier,1998-01-01 Tournier treats pairs both lowly and exalted moving from fork and spoon horse and bull cat and dog to fear and anguish poetry and prose body and soul being and nothingness Hardly an exhaustive inventory of traditional pairs his selection nonetheless opens the door to patterns deeply embedded in culture and civilization speech and writing memory and habit The Praised and the Virgin Rusmir Mahmutćehajić, 2015-01-08 In The Praised and the Virgin Rusmir Mahmut ehaji provides an extended theologically and philosophically informed meditation on relations between the Muslim and Christian traditions through the persons of Muhammad the Praised and Mary the Virgin as complementary bearers of God's Word. He traces their presence in the extended encounter of the Abrahamic traditions that is Bosnia's past and present demonstrating how these traditions inform each other while simultaneously preserving their difference and uniqueness. He lays fundamental groundwork for a more authentic dialogue based on identity and difference in history under God that is also a critique of inhumane ideologies and a modernity that has forsaken God and Man again as reflected in the historical experiences of the Bosnian people.

Low buffoonery and mocking laughs reverted him to a baboon. Bhagavan Das, 2022-01-30 On laughter and sobs smiles and tears. Laughter is the physical manifestation of a sudden and excessive recognition of one's own superiority. What the orgasm of Laughter is to pleasure that of Sobs is to pain. As Laughter is the abrupt expansion of body and mind so Sobbing is the sudden and spasmodic contraction of the same. The ego feeling takes shape as self Complacency in Laughter and as self Pity in Sobbing. Laughter is egoistic always but the young have a right almost a duty to be egoistic otherwise they would not grow and growing is always at the expense of someone else. Human beings smile for joy and smile sadly they weep in gladness and they weep in pain. Loud laughter and talk should be shunned. There are more grounds for sorrow than for laughter in our present world. The great teachers laugh seldom but smile often in tenderness and sadness sad to see another's pain tender to relieve it. The violent physical laugh is the laugh of the coarse sense of moreness of the egocentric man while the quiet tender smile is the smile of the subtle sense of moreness of the unselfish man. Mockery is the fume of little hearts noble manners are the blossoms of the noble heart. Golden silence is the only antidote to self assertion. Bhagavan Das annotations on Henri Bergson's analysis of Laughter. There is nothing benevolent in laughter its purpose is to return evil for evil and to intimidate by humiliating. Because laughter is self assertive conceited presumptuous and impertinent even when it is merely playful its fruit turns to ashes in the mouth of the philosopher who being aware of the underlying egotism is appalled by its pettiness and paltriness. It doesn't take long for the puffed up self esteem to break out in laughter. Let us pray to be spared from low buffoonery and mocking laughs. Vex not thou the poet's mind with thy shallow wit.
