Modeling and Simulation Tools for Emerging Telecommunication Networks Nejat Ince, Ercan Topuz, 2006-09-10
Modeling and Simulation Tools for Emerging Telecommunication Networks contains over 20 articles by well known scientists and engineers reflecting the advances in modeling and simulation for telecommunications in the last five years. Their research covers a broad spectrum of topics including analytic and hybrid cores for quick solutions of network design performance evaluation problems, multimedia traffic behavior in different time scales, improvement of the quality of the statistical analysis tools imbedded in simulation products, combining source and lower layer models into two layer or three layer traffic models, mobile and satellite communications propagation models and wide band optical networks propagation models, verification and validation problems, rare event simulation and accelerated simulation methods. The book covers four primary topics: multilayer traffic and multimedia traffic behavior, quality of simulations, accelerated simulation methods and verification, validation and credibility of simulations, and will be an essential reference for practicing engineers and academic researchers.

Telecommunications Structure and Management in the Executive Branch of Government 1900-1970 Thomas E. Will, 2019-07-16
In early 1970 President Richard M. Nixon created a new executive office, the Office of Telecommunications Policy (OTP), and appointed Dr. Clay T. Whitehead as OTP's first director. Whitehead had previously been on the staff of Peter Flanigan, a presidential assistant responsible for telecommunications policy at the White House. What was the motivation behind this action? Were political interests being served? With what results? Thomas Will believes that these and other questions must be raised in view of the history of the Nixon administration. In an attempt to answer them, he examines the development of telecommunications policy in the executive branch from 1900 to 1970. Dr. Will reviews the early executive branch involvement in radio telecommunications, the Radio Act of 1927 and the Communications Act of 1934, the technological advance of radio telecommunications and its effect on the executive branch before and after World War II, the appointments of telecommunications advisors to presidents from 1951 to 1967, and the creation of the President's Task Force in 1967 to deal with the problems created by an inherently limited radio spectrum. He traces the steps taken to create the OTP and analyzes the extent to which the office reflected a traditional progression of executive branch telecommunications authority. His study and conclusions are directly and essentially relevant to the current debate on telecommunications policy.
