Lords of the Host Isaac Hill Sr.,2016-04-04 Love must win but to blood thirsty warmongers love is a sentiment best enjoyed after the battle is won and the carnage of their victory can be gloated over There is clearly a distinction between love and true love One is obtained by deeds of mercy and sacrifice with patience while the other demands instant gratification for its pretense And iniquity is aware of this and it wears many disguises as any covert double agent would Iniquity strikes at the heart of the contention between war and peace with elements of surprise that cause each side to yield to its objective which is the annihilation of all existence ever hoping that it is not recognized for what it is the common enemy in disguise People who yield to the temptations of lies and deception are the prodigy of iniquity that survive on the advice and potency of reprobate sinners They heed Satans call in broad daylight not resting until evil is accomplished and they squirm at night in the mire of iniquity which has become a real and true resting place for them as they tally the dead and what has been destroyed in their minds eye before they sleep

Poetics of Breathing Stefanie Heine,2021-05-01 Breathing and its rhythms liminal syncopal and usually inconspicuous have become a core poetic compositional principle in modern literature Examining moments when breath s punctuations cessations inhalations or exhalations operate at the limits of meaningful speech Stefanie Heine explores how literary texts reflect their own mediality production and reception in alluding to and incorporating pneumatic rhythms respiratory sound and silent pauses Through close readings of works by a series of pairs Jack Kerouac and Allen Ginsberg Robert Musil and Virginia Woolf Samuel Beckett and Sylvia Plath and Paul Celan and Herta and Paul Amirson Poetics of Breathing suggests that each offers a different conception of literary or poetic breath as a precondition of writing Presenting a challenge to historical and contemporary discourses that tie breath to the transcendent and the natural Heine traces a decoupling of breath from its traditional association with life and asks what literature might lie beyond Ageing in a Nursing Home Rosalie

Hudson, 2022-04-19 Spending the final chapter of your life in a nursing home is considered by many a fate worse than death. Others however have found that through enlightened imaginative care even the frailest of lives can flourish. The key to such a transformation is to replace the constricting custodial centres of the past with a more informed research based approach. This book is timely responding to evidence of the urgent need for change described in the Australian Royal Commission into Aged Care Quality and Safety Final Report Care Dignity and Respect and its predecessor subtitled Neglect. In this book the author proposes a model of care that places the whole person at its centre sidestepping the constraints of a reductionist funding model that focusses on residents deficits and the proprietor's financial gain. Aged care requires a comprehensive research based guide to fulfil this aim. Narratives are included throughout the book to reinforce the fact that nursing home care is about individual residents and their unique lives. Topics explored in various chapters include Ageing in a Changing Community, Social Gerontological Care, A Palliative Approach, Community Expectations, Ageing in a Nursing Home. Foundations for Care takes a realistic approach that draws on contemporary research and narratives from the unique lives of older Australians who despite their frailty teach us how to care. Such knowledge informs and influences their future. The book is a resource intended for all who have a stake in the provision of best practice residential aged care and all who benefit from such care. Its academic appeal will include those who design and teach courses in aged care gerontology, general practice, medicine, nursing, attendant care, allied health and chaplaincy. Academics and teachers will find useful well referenced material for their courses together with ample scope for researchers.
