Stilled Life:

Modernism and Still Life Claudia Tobin, 2020-03-02 This book takes an original approach to still life in modern literature and the visual arts by examining the potential for movement and transformation in the idea of stillness and the ordinary

Dynamic Form Cara L. Lewis, 2020-07-15 Dynamic Form traces how intermedial experiments shape modernist texts from 1900 to 1950 Considering literature alongside painting sculpture photography and film Cara Lewis examines how these arts inflect narrative movement contribute to plot events and configure poetry and memoir As forms and formal theories cross from one artistic realm to another and back again modernism shows its obsession with form and even at times becomes a formalism itself but as Lewis writes that form is far more dynamic than we have given it credit for Form fulfills such various functions that we cannot characterize it as a mere container for content or matter nor can we consign it to ignominy opposite historicism or political commitment As a structure or scheme that enables action form in modernism can be plastic protean or even fragile and works by Henry James Virginia Woolf Mina Loy Evelyn Waugh and Gertrude Stein demonstrate the range of form's operations Revising three major formal paradigms spatial form pure form and formlessness and recasting the history of modernist form this book proposes an understanding of form as a verbal category as a kind of doing Dynamic Form thus opens new possibilities for conversation between modernist studies and formalist studies and simultaneously promotes a capacious rethinking of the convergence between literary modernism and creative work in other media

Salome and the Dance of Writing Françoise Meltzer, 2010-08-15 How does literature imagine its own powers of representation Françoise Meltzer attempts to answer this question by looking at how the portrait the painted portrait framed appears in various literary texts Alien to the verbal system of the text yet mimetic of the gesture of writing the textual portrait becomes a telling measure of literature's views on itself on the politics of representation and on the power of writing Meltzer's readings of textual portraits in the Gospel writers and Huysmans Virgil and Stendhal the Old Testament and Apuleius Hawthorne and Poe Kafka and Rousseau Walter Scott and Mme de Lafayette reveal an interplay of control and subversion writing attempts to veil the visual and to erase the sensual in favor of meaning while portraiture with its claims to bringing the natural object to life resists and eludes such control Meltzer shows how this tension is indicative of a politics of repression and subversion intrinsic to the very act of representation Throughout she raises and illuminates fascinating issues about the relation of flattery to caricature the nature of the uncanny the relation of representation to memory and history the narcissistic character of representation and the interdependency of representation and power Writing thinking speaking dreaming acting the extent to which these are all controlled by representation must Meltzer concludes become consciously unconscious In the textual portrait she locates the moment when this essential process is both revealed and repressed

To the Lighthouse Virginia Woolf, 2004 To the Lighthouse is Virginia Woolf's fifth novel and was the first book to win her a large public The story of an English middle class family in the years leading up to the First World War it has remained the most popular of all her works      The Lancet ,1902      Speech and Theology James K.A. Smith,2005-06-29 God is infinite but language finite thus speech would seem to condemn Him to finitude In speaking of God would the theologian violate divine transcendence by reducing God to immanence or choose rather to remain silent At stake in this argument is a core problem of the conditions of divine revelation How in terms of language and the limitations of human understanding can transcendence ever be made known Does its very appearance not undermine its transcendence its condition of unknowability Speech and Theology posits that the paradigm for the encounter between the material and the divine or the immanent and transcendent is found in the Incarnation God s voluntary self immersion in the human world as an expression of His love for His creation By this key act of grace hinged upon Christs condescension to human finitude philosophy acquires the means not simply to speak of perfection which is to speak theologically but to bridge the gap between word and thing in general sense      Trade, Globalization, and Dutch Art and Architecture Marsely Kehoe,2025-10-01 We all look to our past to define our present but we don t always realize that our view of the past is shaped by subsequent events It s easy to forget that the Dutch dominated the world s oceans and trade in the seventeenth century when it s cultural imagination conjures up tulips and wooden shoes instead of spices and slavery This book examines the Dutch so called Golden Age though its artistic and architectural legacy recapturing the global dimensions of this period by looking beyond familiar artworks to consider exotic collectibles and trade goods and the ways in which far flung colonial cities were made to look and feel like home Using the tools of art history to approach questions about memory history and how cultures define themselves this book demonstrates the centrality of material and visual culture to understanding history and cultural identity      the home visitor and district companion an illustrated magazine rev. p. b. power, m.a.,1880      Restless Secularism Matthew Mutter,2017-06-27 A scholarly and deeply sensitive study that explores how religion and secularism are tightly interwoven in the major works of modernist literature Matthew Mutter provides a broad survey of modernist literature examining key works against a background of philosophy theology intellectual and social history while tracing the relationship of modernism s secular imagination to the religious cultures that both preceded and shaped it Mutter s provocative study demonstrates how despite their explicit desire to purify secular life of its religious residues Wallace Stevens Virginia Woolf and other literary modernists consistently found themselves entangled in the religious legacies they disavowed      Homes for the Heart Douglas C. Vest,2005-11 Why does stress keep returning Perhaps to invite restorative reflection on a blend of ancient wisdom and original poems as these which range from serious to whimsical      Moments of Moment ,2021-11-22 a sudden spiritual manifestation whether in the vulgarity of speech or of gesture or in a memorable phase in the mind itself Thus Stephen Dedalus in James Joyce s Stephen Hero defines the phenomenon that has ever since been known as the literary epiphany The essays gathered in this volume comprise a wide survey of this phenomenon With recurrent reference to its most famous creators notably William Wordsworth who was the first to consciously explore and delineate those momentous spots in time in his Prelude Walter Pater James Joyce and Virginia Woolf this book intends to provide a broad and unbiased exploration into the various types and categories of the moment of moment that can be distinguished ranging from William Blake Ann Radcliffe and Charles Maturin through the nineteenth century sonnet tradition and the naturalistic novel to modernist and postmodernist exponents such as Ezra Pound and Elizabeth Bowen Philip larkin and Seamus Heaney and include contributions by acclaimed experts in the field such as Martin Bidney Robert Langbaum Jay Losey and Ashton Nichols

Biogenetic Paradoxes of the Nation Sakari Tamminen, 2019-11-22 In 1992 the Convention on Biological Diversity CBD signed by over 160 countries and hailed as the key symbol of a common vision for saving Earth's biodiversity set forth three primary mandates preserving biodiversity using biodiversity components sustainably and enabling economic benefit sharing The CBD which gave signatory countries the ability to claim sovereignty over nonhuman genetic resources native to each nation defined biodiversity through a politics of nationhood in ways that commodified genetic resources In Biogenetic Paradoxes of the Nation Sakari Tamminen traces the ways in which the CBD's seemingly compatible yet ultimately paradox ridden aims became manifest in efforts to create conserve and capitalize on distinct animal and plant species In using Finland as a case study with which to understand the worldwide efforts to convert species into manifestations of national identity Tamminen shows how the CBD's policies contribute less to biodiversity conservation than to smoothing the way for frictionless operation of biotechnologically assisted circuits of the global bioeconomy Tamminen demonstrates how an intimate look at the high level politics and technical processes of defining national genetic resources powerfully illuminates the limits of anthropocentric biopolitical theory

The Coaching Secret Andrew Machon, 2013-10-03 Coaching as a field has mushroomed in recent years. Thousands of new coaches enter the field after only completing short and superficial training programmes. The problem with this is that coaching is not i) something you can simply learn in a short programme ii) a superficial practice. The books available on coaching tend to just reinforce this by going over coaching methodology without delving into what it really means to be a coach. The Coaching Secret remedies this by going beneath the surface, looking at what it really means to be a coach and showing how you can go from simply understanding the basic coaching process to truly connecting and relating to the client and becoming a master coach. The author brings over 20 years of coaching practice in big corporations to help you move beyond the novice superficial coach to becoming an expert master coach. He brings together experience, theory, case studies and lots of interactive work to essentially coach the coach and help them achieve a superior coaching level. Key reader outcomes: Practical assistance to become a better coach, moving from novice to expert to master. Increased confidence in your personal coaching competence. Greater clarity to the value of the coaching relationship and how we coach. New perspectives on coaching methods. To answer for yourself some of the crucial questions of the coach including: Who is the coach? How do you coach? And why do you coach? To deepen your understanding of coaching and to demystify the inner process through which we develop our competency and practice. To awaken the coach to discover new ways of seeing, thinking, sensing, resolving and relating. To progress the profession in offering a new vision of coaching that recognises and evolves the role of the coach.

Unpacking Duchamp Dalia Judovitz, 1998-04-28 Transit: transitional transition. Dalia Judovitz catches Marcel Duchamp on the run with his art in a suitcase and his thought all boxed and ready to go. She demonstrates how the theme of transition reappearing from work to work makes each piece reproduce some other piece while all continue to exemplify an original which can no longer be found and which has no creator. Jean-François Lyotard.
