Teaching Academic ESL Writing Eli Hinkel, 2003-10-17 Teaching Academic ESL Writing Practical Techniques in Vocabulary and Grammar fills an important gap in teacher professional preparation by focusing on the grammatical and lexical features that are essential for all ESL writing teachers and student writers to know The fundamental assumption is that before students of English for academic purposes can begin to successfully produce academic writing they must have the foundations of language in place the language tools

grammar and vocabulary they need to build a text This text offers a compendium of techniques for teaching writing grammar and lexis to second language learners that will help teachers effectively target specific problem areas of students writing Based on the findings of current research including a large scale study of close to 1 500 non native speakers essays this book works with several sets of simple rules that collectively can make a noticeable and important difference in the quality of ESL students writing The teaching strategies and techniques are based on a highly practical principle for efficiently and successfully maximizing learners language gains Part I provides the background for the text and a sample of course curriculum guidelines to meet the learning needs of second language teachers of writing and second language writers Parts II and III include the key elements of classroom teaching what to teach and why possible ways to teach the material in the classroom common errors found in student prose and ways to teach students to avoid them teaching activities and suggestions and questions for discussion in a teacher training course Appendices to chapters provide supplementary word and phrase lists collocations sentence chunks and diagrams that teachers can use as needed The book is designed as a text for courses that prepare teachers to work with post secondary EAP students and as a professional resource for teachers of students in EAP courses

Student and Teacher Writing Motivational Beliefs Steve Graham, Gary A. Troia, Gustaf Bernhard Uno Skar, 2024-06-21 The study of students motivational beliefs about writing and how such beliefs influence writing has increased since the publication of John Hays 1996 model of writing This model emphasized that writers motivational beliefs influence how and what they write Likewise increased attention has been devoted in recent years to how teachers motivational beliefs about writing especially their efficacy to teach writing impact how writing is taught and how students progress as writers As a result there is a need to bring together in a Research Topic studies that examine the role and influence of writing beliefs Historically the psychological study of writing has focused on what students write or the processes they apply when writing Equally important but investigated less often are studies examining how writing is taught and how teachers efforts contribute to students writing What has been less prominent in the psychological study of writing are the underlying motivational beliefs that drive or inhibit students writing or serve as catalysts for teachers actions in the classroom when teaching writing This Research Topic will bring together studies that examine both students and teachers motivational beliefs about teaching writing This will include studies examining the operation of such beliefs how they develop cognitive and affective correlates how writing motivational beliefs can be fostered and how they are related to students writing achievement By focusing on both students and teachers beliefs the Research Topic will provide a more nuanced and broader picture of the role of motivation beliefs in writing and writing instruction This Research Topic includes papers that address students motivational beliefs about writing teachers motivational beliefs about writing or teaching writing Students motivational beliefs about writing include beliefs about the value and utility of writing writing competence attitudes toward writing goal orientation motives for writing identity epistemological underpinnings writing and attributions for success failure as examples Teacher motivational include these same judgements as well as beliefs about their preparation and their students competence and progress as writers to provide additional examples This Research Topic is interested in papers that examine how such beliefs operate develop are related to other cognitive and affective variables how they are impacted by instruction and how they are related to students writing performance Submitted studies can include original research both quantitative qualitative or mixed methods meta analysis and reviews of the literature Traits of Good Writing, Grade 5
