“

Horseradish is the dream for today's modern gardener, as it needs little to no attention to thrive. Did you read that? NO ATTENTION TO THRIVE. It is also incredibly unique in that, as a perennial, you can control the growth of the plant every year, as you have to dig it up to harvest the roots. It does well in dry or wet soils and can typically survive in areas where other plants may struggle.

And those tears that may run down your cheek when you are grating (or eating) it? Well my friends, those are called tears of joy!
