John B. Hattendorf

Teignmouth A Maritime History:

Teignmouth H. J. Trump, 2005-01 Teignmouth H. J. Trump, 1986 Maritime History, 1977 The New Maritime History of Devon: From the late eighteenth century to the present day Michael Duffy, 1992 A Maritime History of Scotland, 1650-1790 Eric J. Graham, 2015-04-21

The period 1650 to 1790 was such a turbulent one for Scottish seafarers that much of this fast flowing narrative reads like Treasure Island Colourful characters abound in a story teeming with incident and excitement John Paul Jones descends upon the Scottish coast creating widespread panic press gangs prowl the coastal towns wartime conditions turn merchantmen into privateers fighting the French the Spanish and the American Colonists almost anyone flying a different flag quaintly named vessels like The Provoked Cheesemaker are on the lookout for trouble And the stakes were high Glasgow became wealthy through the tobacco trade Glasgow merchantmen could beat the English ships and sail to Chesapeake Bay in record time Eric Graham traces the development of the Scottish marine and its institutions during a formative period when state intervention and warfare at sea in the pursuit of merchantilist goals largely determined the course of events He charts Scotland's frustrated attempts to join England in the Atlantic economy and so secure her prosperity an often bitter relationship that culminated in the Darien Disaster In the years that followed maritime affairs were central to the move to embrace the full incorporating Act of 1707 After 1707 Scottish maritime aspirations flourished under the protection of the British Navigation Acts and the windfalls of the endemic warfare at sea The New Maritime History of Devon: From early times to the late eighteenth century Michael Duffy, 1992 A Maritime History of India K. Sridharan, 1982 The Maritime History of Devon Michael Oppenheim, 1968 British Tramp Shipping, 1750-1914 Robin Craig, 2017-10-18

This study explores the history of tramp shipping in the United Kingdom between 1750 and 1914 It defines tramp as steamships exclusively hulled with iron or steel The purpose of the journal is to keep the history of tramp shipping from fading into obscurity as the author believes the tramp steamer does not invoke sentimentality nor provide enough glamour to sustain the same level of maritime interest enjoyed by sailing ships or ocean liners The study is split into four major sections the first concerning tramp shipping ownership and capital formation the second concerning trade specifically copper ore and African guano the third studies tramp seamen particularly sea masters and the final and largest section considers individual tramp shipping regions further subdivided by region Wales the Northwest the West Country the Northeast the Southeast and Canada The volume is punctuated with statistics tables charts glossaries and concludes with a bibliography of author Robin Craig's further maritime writing Shipbuilding in the United Kingdom in the Nineteenth Century Simon Ville, 2017-10-18

This volume tackles the history of Shipbuilding in the United Kingdom in the Nineteenth Century by breaking it down into six regions Northeast England Southeast England Southwest England Northwest England Scotland and Ireland The intent is to determine the different economic social and geographic factors that contribute to the varied rates of rise and decline of Shipbuilding across the United Kingdom rather than view the nation's shipbuilding history as a singular narrative which risks omitting the complexity of each region Each region has been ascribed an author and each author seeks to establish the quantitative and qualitative nature of output in their region assessing individual factors of production the character of the enterprises and the nature of the market A Supplement (1971-1986) to Robert G. Albion's Naval & Maritime History, an Annotated Bibliography, Fourth Edition Benjamin Woods Labaree, 1988 This comprehensive annotated bibliography works and Ph D theses in the English language was compiled by a pioneering maritime historian the late Robert Albion This volume covers titles through 1970 Later works are contained in Benjamin Labaree's Supplement Maritime Information: a guide to libraries and sources of information in the United Kingdom, 2004 Fourth Edition Mike Macdonald, Roy Fenton, Nuala Briody, Maritime Information Association (MIA), 2004-01-01 The Maritime Information Guide provides a list of UK libraries record offices archives museums institutions associations and other bodies that have or can make available information on maritime matters Titles are listed in alphabetical order by the name by which users are most likely to look up This is the fourth volume produced in 2004 following the previous editions in 1973 1983 and 1993 History of Merchant Shipping and Ancient Commerce William Schaw Lindsay, 1874 A Bibliography of British History, 1914-1989 Keith Robbins, American Historical Association, Royal Historical Society (Great Britain), 1996 Containing over 25 000 entries this unique volume will be absolutely indispensable for all those with an interest in Britain in the twentieth century Accessibly arranged by theme with helpful introductions to each chapter a huge range of topics is covered There is a comprehensive index International Newsletter of Maritime History, 1989 Preliminary Inventory of Records Held at the Maritime History Group Memorial University of Newfoundland. Maritime History Group, Roberta Thomas, 1978 Maritime History of Britain and Ireland, C. 400-2001 Ian Friel, 2003 An authoritative account of the maritime history of the British Isles over the last 1500 years Ian Friel defines maritime history broadly to encompass naval developments sea trade exploration and colonization fishing social history the technology of shipbuilding and a host of other themes related to the ways in which maritime activity has affected the history of Britain Conversely he examines the ways in which British seafaring enterprise has affected the world for good and ill Beginning with the maritime world of late Roman Britain Ian Friel reviews seafaring in the Celtic world Viking raids and settlement and the Norman invasion and conquest The second chapter studies England as part of the cross Channel kingdom the wars with France 1204 1453 and the rise and fall of English naval forces Chapter three deals with the early British voyages of exploration the Tudor and Stuart navies and the first permanent naval dockyards Following on comes the rise of empire and a growing public consciousness of the sea in national affairs the defeat of piracy the establishment of English colonies abroad and the growth of economic structures that supported empire such as the slave trade Chapter five describes the Pax Britannica with England becoming the greatest naval and mercantile power in the world until she fell into war in 1914 This period saw the development of the steamship and motor vessel and the establishment of major commercial docks also the growth of trade unionism class consciousness and labor disputes in the maritime industries The final chapter describes the rapidly changing technology of naval warfare in the two World Wars and the decline of Britain as a naval power and as a shipbuilding nation Offshore oil and gas industries signaled major changes in maritime trade and industry traditional ports declined and the European Union had profound effects on British maritime industries

West Country Maritime and Social History Harold Edward Stephen Fisher, 1980 In the eighteenth nineteenth and early twentieth centuries the maritime and social histories of the South West of England were inextricably linked The chapters in this volume cover important topics such as Weymouth as a packet station Morwellham's trade and shipping in the nineteenth century education provision in Plymouth for the mercantile marine the status and position of ship's engineers the story of the Magic a Westcountry schooner in the Mediterranean the account books of the Batten Castle a small home trading vessel the rise of Ilfracombe as a seaside resort
