Television Policies Of The Labour Party 1951 2001 British Politics And Society:

Television Policies of the Labour Party 1951-2001 Des Freedman, 2004-08-02 Des Freedman explores Labour's divided response to the development of commercial television in the 1950s and assesses the impact of Wilson's governments on television in the 1960s. His key argument is that Labour has always been a vigorous but ultimately unreliable advocate of television. Creating the National Health Service Marvin Rintala, 2004-11-23 The origins of the NHS are the subject of this study that presents evidence on the key players who participated in the founding of the system. The author also traces those who opposed the NHS. Television Studies Jonathan Gray, Amanda D. Lotz, 2019-01-15 Television Studies provides an overview of the origins, central ideas and intellectual traditions of this exciting field. What have been the primary areas of inquiry in television studies? Why and how did these areas develop? How have scholars studied them? How are they developing? What have been the discipline's key works? This book answers these questions by tracing the history of television studies right up to the digital present, surveying emerging scholarship and addressing new questions about the field's relationship with the digital. The second edition includes an examination of how internet distributed services such as Netflix have adjusted the stories, industrial practices and audience experience of television. For all those wondering how to study television or even why to study television, this new edition of Television Studies will provide a clear and engaging overview of key topics. The book works as a stand-alone introduction and by placing key works in a broader context can also provide an excellent basis for an entire course. Towards a Market in Broadcasting C. Potschka, 2012-03-27 A comparative analysis of the evolution of UK and German broadcasting policies, adding to the developing area of comparative research on media and communications policy. The book focuses on processes of marketization and liberalization as they have affected policy making, national regulatory frameworks and media structures. Inside the Welfare State Virginia Noble, 2008-11-19 Focusing on the politicized mechanisms of welfare distribution in post-World War Two Britain, this study demonstrates how gender and race determined the quality and quantity of benefits received by Britons seeking state aid. Scholars of public policy, law and political history will be interested by Noble's findings and theoretical implications. Reginald McKenna Martin Farr, 2004-04-30 Reginald McKenna has never been the subject of scholarly attention. This was partly due to his own preference for appearing at the periphery of events even when ostensibly at the centre and the absence of a significant collection of private papers. This new book redresses the neglect of this major statesman and financier partly through the natural advance of historical research and partly by the discoveries of missing archival material. McKenna's role is now illuminated by his own reflections and by the correspondence of friends and colleagues including Asquith, Churchill, Keynes, Baldwin, Bonar Law, MacDonald and Chamberlain. McKenna's presence at the hub of political life in the first half of the century is now clear in the radical Liberal governments of 1905-16 where he acted as a lightning conductor for the party during the war where he served as the Prime Minister's deputy and the principal voice for restraint in the conduct of the war.

and as chairman of the world's largest bank where until his death in office aged eighty he prompted progressive policies to deal with the issues of war debt trade mass unemployment and the return to gold The Permanent Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, 1854-1946 Keith Neilson, T.G. Otte, 2008-11-19 Chief among the personnel at the Foreign Office is the Permanent Under secretary the senior civil servant who oversees the department and advises the Foreign Secretary This book is a study of the twelve men who held this Office from 1854 1946 Toward a Political Economy of Culture Andrew Calabrese, Colin Sparks, 2003-11-22 Several of the most important and influential political economists of communication working today explore a rich mix of topics and issues that link work policy studies and research and theory about the public sphere to the heritage of political economy Familiar but still exceedingly important topics in critical political economy studies are well represented here market structures and media concentration regulation and policy technological impacts on particular media sectors information poverty and media access The book also features new topics for political economy study including racism in audience research the value and need for feminist approaches to political economy studies and the relationship between the discourse of media finance and the behavior of markets A History of Independent Television in Wales Jamie Medhurst, 2015-02-20 Despite the growing body of work on the media in Wales very little exists on the history of commercial television in Wales This book seeks to address this imbalance by tracing the growth and development of ITV in Wales and assessing its contribution to the life of the nation ITV has been a powerful force in British broadcasting since its inception in 1955 When commercial television came to Wales for the first time in 1958 it immediately got caught up in with matters of national identity language and geography Compared with the BBC it is a relative newcomer its growth was slower than that of the BBC and it took until 1962 to complete the network across the UK Once it had arrived however its impact was considerable The book will provide an historical narrative and critical analysis of independent television ITV in Wales from 1958 up until the present day Popular Newspapers, the Labour Party and British Politics James Thomas, 2007-05-07 IT'S THE SUN WOT WON IT was the famous headline claim of Britain's most popular newspaper following the Conservative party's victory over Labour in the 1992 general election The headline referred to a virulent press campaign against Neil Kinnock's Labour party and dramatically highlighted one of the chief features of British politics during the twentieth century the conflict between a socialist Labour party and a capitalist popular press Labour's frequent complaints of the political and electoral unfairness of newspaper bias meant that some commentators considered that this dispute had a heritage as old as the party itself Others including the Labour leadership at the time argued that despite past tensions the 1992 election marked the culmination of an unprecedented campaign of vilification against the party Popular Newspapers the Labour Party and British Politics assesses these competing claims looking not only at 1992 but both back and forward to examine the continuities and changes in newspaper coverage of British politics and the Labour party over the twentieth century The book explores whether the popular press has lived up to its claim of being a democratic fourth estate or has merely as Labour politicians have argued been a powerful fifth column distorting the democratic process Drawing on a range of previously unexamined sources this book offers the first original and comprehensive history of a fascinating aspect of British politics from Beaverbrook to Blair James Thomas is a lecturer at the Cardiff School of Journalism Media and Cultural Studies at Cardiff University and has published articles and essays exploring the relationship between the popular press and British politics In the Midst of Events Kenneth Younger, Geoffrey Warner, 2005 The Schuman plan the Korean War German Re armament the Japanese Peace Treaty and the Abadan Crisis seen through the eyes of the Younger Moral Panics, Social Fears, and the Media Siân Nicholas, Tom O'Malley, 2013-09-02 The media have always played a central role in organising the way ideas flow through societies But what happens when those ideas are disruptive to normal social relations Bringing together work by scholars in history media and cultural studies and sociology this collection explores this role in more depth and with more attention paid to the complexities behind conventional analyses Attention is paid to morality and regulation empire and film the role of women authoritarianism wartime and fears of treachery and fears of cultural contamination The book begins with essays that contextualise the theoretical and historiographical issues of the relationship between social fears moral panics and the media The second section provides case studies which illustrate the ways in which the media has participated in or been seen as the source of the creation of threats to society Finally the third section then shows how historical research calls into question simple assumptions about the relationship between the media and social disruption

Broadcasting and the NHS in the Thatcherite 1980s Patricia Holland, 2013-07-26 Patricia Holland offers a fascinating study of the ways in which changes to public services and shifts in the concept of the public under Margaret Thatcher's three Conservative governments were mediated by radio and television in the 1980s Global Media and Communication

Policy P. Iosifidis, 2011-08-26 Petros Iosifidis addresses an increasingly prominent subject area in the field of media and communications and one that has attracted increased attention in areas such as sociology economics political science and law global media policy and regulation Specifically he considers the wider social political economic and technological changes arising from the globalization of the communications industries and assesses their impact on matters of regulation and policy By focusing on the convergence of the communication and media industries he makes reference to the paradigmatic shift from a system based on the traditions of public service in broadcast and telecommunications delivery to one that is demarcated by commercialization privatization and competition In doing so Iosifidis tackles a key question in the field to what extent do new media developments require changes in regulatory philosophy and objectives It considers the various possible meanings of the public interest concept in exploring the different regulatory modes and the interplay between the local and the global in policy making The British Film Industry in the 1970s S. Barber, 2013-01-22 Is there more to 1970s British cinema than sex horror and James Bond This lively account argues that this is definitely the case and explores the cultural landscape of this much maligned decade to uncover hidden gems and to explode many of the well established myths about 1970s British film and cinema Media and Cultural Theory James Curran, David Morley, 2007-05-07 Containing new thinking and original surveys from leading international scholars this ideal course reader uses contemporary media film texts and case studies to address key issues and debates within media and cultural studies the world over Social Class on British and American Screens Nicole Cloarec, David Haigron, Delphine Letort, 2016-03-15 At a time when debates about social inequality are in the spotlight it is worth examining how the two most popular media of the 20th and 21st centuries film and television have shaped the representation of social classes How do generic conventions determine the representation of social stereotypes How do filmmakers challenge social class identification How do factors such as national history geography and gender affect the representation of social classes This collection of new essays explores these and other questions through an analysis of a wide range of American and British productions from sitcoms and reality TV to documentaries and auteur cinema from the 1950s to the present IBSS: Political Science: 2004 Vol.52 The British Library of Political and Economic Science, 2004-12 First published in 1952 the International Bibliography of the Social Sciences anthropology economics political science and sociology is well established as a major bibliographic reference for students researchers and librarians in the social sciences worldwide Key features Authority Rigorous standards are applied to make the IBSS the most authoritative selective bibliography ever produced Articles and books are selected on merit by some of the world s most expert librarians and academics Breadth Today the IBSS covers over 2000 journals more than any other comparable resource The latest monograph publications are also included International Coverage The IBSS reviews scholarship published in over thirty languages including publications from Eastern Europe and the developing world User friendly organization all non English titles are word sections Extensive author subject and place name indexes are provided in both English and French British Military Intervention and the Struggle for Jordan Stephen Blackwell, 2013-02-01 Within two years of their abortive invasion of the Suez Canal zone in 1956 British troops once again intervened in a major Middle Eastern country The Jordan intervention of July 1958 took place despite the steady decline of the British position in the country over the previous three years This book examines why the government led by Harold Macmillan remained ready to use military force to prop up the regime of King Hussein even though the United States had emerged as the main Western power in the Middle East after 1956 Incorporating a variety of archival material Blackwell provides new historical insights into the origins of the Anglo American use of military power to protect their interests in the Middle East Government, the Railways and the Modernization of Britain Charles Loft, 2006-09-27 This work explains the background to and politics behind the infamous Beeching Report which recommended the closure of a third of Britain s railways
