Television at the Movies Jon Nelson Wagner, Tracy Biga MacLean, 2008-05-19 The overview of television criticism which this book provides comes appropriately at a moment of change Television is becoming dramatically different as a result of new and developing technologies such as cable HDTV satellite transmission and broadband distributions By concentrating on the still dominant notion of television what the authors call Classical Network Television they argue that it is as important to understand this model as it is to understand Classical Hollywood Cinema The co authors have a unique approach to the study of television viewing its history and reception not only through important articles about the medium but also through analyzing how Hollywood auteur cinema has commented on television over the decades in films such as Tootsie Network The Last Picture Show A Face in the Crowd Rollerball The King of Comedy and others Not only does this reflect the pervasive use of cinema theory to discuss television it also helps to emphasize the importance of clarifying the distinctions between the criticisms of the two media Television at the Movies argues that the study of television is a crucial aspect of understanding our recent and contemporary culture and it provides an illuminating point of entry for students and researchers in the field

quantitative and qualitative corpus assisted investigation of the language employed in a specialized communicative activity type namely the political interview aired on British and American Sunday morning talk shows More specifically interviewers and interviewees turns are analyzed here so as to unveil the stratification of discourses characterizing their speech which inevitably favours the proliferation of a mixture of different lexico grammatical traits and pragmatic functions Previous studies in this field mainly adopt a conversation analysis approach thus focusing on turn allocation and organization This book adds a different perspective by resorting to a combination of corpus driven and corpus based techniques in the study of a specifically designed corpus of contemporary TV political interviews the result being a comprehensive investigation of the genre The analysis tackles both specialized language aspects and variation between spoken and written English in the genre at stake Throughout the study linguistic forms are associated when relevant with their pragmatic functions in context bringing to the fore for example differences between the ways in which interviewers and interviewees interact with each other and with the audience Particular emphasis is also placed on salient distinguishing traits characterizing American and British interviews

Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce,1958 TOMORROW IS TODAY, A behavior modification methodology, guide, and workbook to manage the job search process Lawrence D. Alter,1901 This 240 page workbook is a highly effective no nonsense self marketing instrument to facilitate and manage the entire job search campaign Contained in its pages are all the tools and information necessary to help your terminated employee win and keep their next job Whether or not you provide Outplacement support to your separated employees our workbook would be an excellent tool to augment their job search It provides a complete resource to help the discharged worker achieve and keep their next position FINDING A JOB IS HARD WORK It has been estimated that as many as one out of every three workers attempts to change jobs annually in the United States Out of a labor force of 153 million that represents almost 50 000 000 job seekers who are seeking new employment each year As a result the job search process is highly competitive at all levels It can be lengthy frustrating prejudicial and unfair Older more traditional job finding techniques have become less productive The traditional resume no longer has the same impact in generating the all important and often elusive interview Both the Wall Street Journal and USA TODAY have highlighted the fact that only about 15% of all professionals find a new position through responding to published advertisements or online postings another 10% through placement agencies or search firms and only 5% through unsolicited direct mail Why then would anyone focus 90% of their time and effort in areas that represent only about 30% of all potential opportunities It is not uncommon for 200 300 people to respond to help wanted advertisements Yet seldom do more than 6 to 10 people achieve interviews and after an often lengthy process only one person gets the job Everyone else starts the whole process again Older Americans women and minorities can often face an even more difficult road due to unspoken but ever present biases There is a better way Tomorrow Is Today dispels the myth that the most qualified candidate always gets the job It points out that the person who is hired is usually the one who is liked the best This book can be a major factor in how you differentiate yourself from other candidates when the hiring decision is almost always based upon subjective factors such as the individual s personality style body language and manner of being interviewed It is an invaluable resource in helping you to achieve your next position with added features that assist in effectively managing both career growth and family issues TV Communications ,1975 Disaster Insurance United States Congress.
