Hands-On Social Marketing Nedra Kline Weinreich,2010-10-12 This book shows students and practitioners how to develop social marketing programs through a simple six step process of strategic planning and design Nedra Kline Weinreich starts by introducing the concept of social marketing and then walks the reader through each of the six steps of the process analysis strategy development program and communication design pretesting implementation and evaluation and feedback The Second Edition incorporates developments in marketing practice over the last 10 years and focuses on how to apply the design approach to campaigns to effect behavior change All organizations can do social marketing Weinreich insists if they follow the steps and start to think from a social marketing perspective Promoting Your School Carolyn Warner, 2009-01-27 To help schools develop community support this third edition offers practical communication strategies to strengthen the partnership between schools parents businesses and the community Working with Parents Roy McConkey, 2025-08-05 In the 1980s working with parents in the education and care of their children was more often preached than practised by professionals However recent government committees and legislation both in the UK and USA at the time had repeatedly stressed the importance of parental participation This applied not only to children with special needs but to all children and indeed there was considerable evidence to suggest that parents wanted to be involved and that the child benefited as a result Originally published in 1985 Working with Parents aimed at professionals in training or newly qualified drew together for the first time many examples of how partnership with parents can evolve and be successful It not only gives detailed suggestions for working with parents on a one to one basis but also describes how to handle parent groups organise courses give effective talks and use video The author draws on his wide and well known experience to give specific instances such as his work on language with children with learning disabilities that illustrate general principles The book is written in a lively practical style and should still be of great value to teachers in both special and mainstream education and others such as speech therapists psychologists and community workers This book is a re issue originally published in 1985 The language used is a reflection of its era and no offence is meant by the Publishers to any reader by this re publication They Say They Want a Revolution , 2003 Many of those in charge of brand strategies are clueless as to why the old ways of marketing are no longer effective They continue their Madison Avenue crusades with disingenuous fervor Plan their strategies with reach and frequency projections and then continue to target their audiences with 30 second sound bites Yet they re mystified unable to explain how it is they execute flawlessly but still their market share declines From 1996 to 2000 the Big Three automotive companies increased their marketing cost per vehicle by 87 percent Yet their combined market share dropped by more than four percentage points Detroit is not alone in its marketing futility Nearly every product niche is experiencing the same Overwhelmed by brand overload deafened by market din and empowered by new technologies the consumer is no longer a passive target simply awaiting directives from the marketing establishment With the ultimate desire to touch and be touched the consumer has taken control of when where and how they retrieve information relevant to their purchasing decisions Whether it s the TiVo control that allows them to effortlessly fly past commercials interactive DVDs that simultaneously engage and enlighten or intelligent web sites that cater to their individual needs the consumer has ascended the throne
