Sound Ideas Music Machines And Experience:

Sound Ideas Aden Evens, A highly original approach to the philosophy of musical experience Creative Resilience and COVID-19 Irene Gammel, Jason Wang, 2022-03-20 Creative Resilience and COVID 19 examines arts culture and everyday life as a way of navigating through and past COVID 19 Drawing together the voices of international experts and emerging scholars this volume explores themes of creativity and resilience in relation to the crisis trauma cultural alterity and social change wrought by the pandemic The cultural social and political concerns that have arisen due to COVID 19 are inextricably intertwined with the ways the pandemic has been discussed represented and visualized in global media The essays included in this volume are concerned with how artists writers and advocates uncover the hope plasticity and empowerment evident in periods of worldwide loss and struggle factors which are critical to both overcoming the COVID 19 pandemic and fashioning the post COVID 19 era Elaborating on concepts of the everyday and the outbreak narrative Creative Resilience and COVID 19 explores diverse themes including coping with the crisis through digital distractions diary writing and sounds the unequal vulnerabilities of gender ethnicity and age the role of visibility and creativity including comics and community theatre and the hopeful vision for the future through urban placemaking nighttime sociability and cinema The book fills an important scholarly gap providing foundational knowledge from the frontlines of the COVID 19 pandemic through a consideration of the arts humanities and social sciences In doing so Creative Resilience and COVID 19 expands non medical COVID 19 studies at the intersection of media and communication studies cultural criticism and the pandemic New Perspectives on Music and Gesture Elaine King, Anthony Gritten, 2016-04-29 Building on the insights of the first volume on Music and Gesture Gritten and King Ashgate 2006 the rationale for this sequel volume is twofold first to clarify the way in which the subject is continuing to take shape by highlighting both central and developing trends as well as popular and less frequent areas of investigation second to provide alternative and complementary insights into the particular areas of the subject articulated in the first volume The thirteen chapters are structured in a broad narrative trajectory moving from theory to practice embracing Western and non Western practices real and virtual gestures live and recorded performances physical and acoustic gestures visual and auditory perception among other themes of topical interest The main areas of enquiry include psychobiology perception and cognition philosophy and semiotics conducting ensemble work and solo piano playing The volume is intended to promote and stimulate further research in Musical Gesture Studies The Cambridge Companion to Film Music Mervyn Cooke, Fiona Ford, 2016-12-08 This wide ranging and thought provoking collection of specially commissioned essays provides a uniquely comprehensive overview of the many and various ways in which music functions in film soundtracks Citing examples from a variety of historical periods genres and film industries including those of the USA UK France Italy India and Japan the book's contributors are all leading scholars and practitioners in the field They engage sometimes provocatively with numerous stimulating aspects of the history theory and practice of film music in a series of lively discussions which will appeal as much to newcomers to this fascinating subject as to seasoned film music aficionados Innovative research and fresh interpretative perspectives are offered alongside practice based accounts of the film composer's distinctive art with examples cited from genres as contrasting as animation the screen musical film noir Hollywood melodrama the pop music and jazz film documentary period drama horror science fiction and the Western Ink on the Tracks Adrian Grafe, Andrew McKeown, 2024-08-22 This book embraces the multiplicity of forms of writing inspired by rock and roll Exploring a diverse range of formats including rock autobiography and gender race and class in American rock journalism rock obituaries rock literature and spirituality rock writing and promotion packaging and more this book identifies and prioritizes writing forms often excluded from the categorization of rock music writing Vitally the volume places rock and roll writing within a wider cultural frame often overlooked by studies of traditional white male led music journalism

Between Air and Electricity Cathy van Eck, 2017-02-09 Composers and sound artists have explored for decades how to transform microphones and loudspeakers from inaudible technology into genuinely new musical instruments While the sound reproduction industry had claimed perfect high fidelity already at the beginning of the twentieth century these artists found surprising ways of use for instance tweaking microphones swinging loudspeakers furiously around ditching microphones in all kinds of vessels or strapping loudspeakers to body parts of the audience Between air and electricity traces their quest and sets forward a new theoretical framework providing historic background on technological and artistic development and diagrams of concert and performance set ups From popular noise musician Merzbow to minimalist classic Alvin Lucier cult instrument inventor Hugh Davies or contemporary visual artist Lynn Pook they all aimed to make audible what was supposed to remain silent The Tangible in Music Marko Aho, 2016-05-26 In the age of digital music it seems striking that so many of us still want to produce music concretely with our bodies through the movement of our limbs lungs and fingers in contact with those materials and objects which are capable of producing sounds The huge sales figures of musical instruments in the global market and the amount of time and effort people of all ages invest in mastering the tools of music make it clear that playing musical instruments is an important phenomenon in human life By combining the findings made in music psychology and performative ethnomusicology Marko Aho shows how playing a musical instrument and the pleasure musicians get from it emerges from an intimate dialogue between the personally felt body and the sounding instrument An introduction to the general aspects of the tactile resources of musical instruments musical style and the musician is followed by an analysis of the learning process of the regional kantele style of the Perho river valley in Finnish Central Ostrobothnia The Player Piano and the Edwardian Novel Cecilia Björken-Nyberg, 2016-03-03 In her study of music making in the Edwardian novel Cecilia Björken-Nyberg argues that the invention and development of the player piano had a significant effect on the perception performance and appreciation of music during the period In contrast to existing devices for producing music mechanically such as the phonograph and gramophone the player piano granted its operator freedom of individual expression by permitting the performer to modify the tempo Because the traditional piano was the undisputed altar of domestic and highly gendered music making Björk Nyberg suggests the potential for intervention by the mechanical piano's operator had a subversive effect on traditional notions about the status of the musical work itself and about the people who were variously defined by their relationship to it She examines works by Dorothy Richardson E M Forster Henry Handel Richardson Max Beerbohm and Compton Mackenzie among others contending that Edwardian fiction with music as a subject undermined the prevalent antithesis expressed in contemporary music literature between a nineteenth century conception of music as a means of transcendence and the increasing mechanisation of music as represented by the player piano Her timely survey of the player piano in the context of Edwardian commercial and technical discourse draws on a rich array of archival materials to shed new light on the historically conditioned activity of music making in early twentieth century fiction

Geosonics Joshua Dittrich, 2024-08-08 How do we listen to the earth That is the central question posed in Geosonics Listening Through Earth's Soundscapes Working across sound studies media theory and environmental media studies Joshua Dittrich explores the material and metaphorical geology of the sonic environment In an epoch of climate crisis environment is no longer a neutral background site or simple surrounding environment is immanently implicated in the chains of mediation that make up the material and imaginative infrastructure of our lives The analytical task of Geosonics is to tune into that infrastructure through sound Drawing on influential work in sound studies around the concept of transduction this book explores how listening does not take place in a pre-existing soundscape but rather makes place by etching out a mediated mutually constitutive set of relations between listeners media and environments Absolute Music, Mechanical

Reproduction Arved Ashby, 2010-06-07 Recordings are now the primary way we hear classical music especially the more abstract styles of absolute instrumental music In this original provocative book Arved Ashby argues that recording technology has transformed our understanding of art music Contesting the laments of nostalgic critics Ashby sees recordings as socially progressive and instruments of a musical vernacular but also finds that recording and absolute music actually involve similar notions of removing sound from context He takes stock of technology's impact on classical music addressing the questions at the heart of the issue This erudite yet concise study reveals how mechanical reproduction has transformed classical musical culture and the very act of listening breaking down aesthetic and generational barriers and mixing classical music into the soundtrack of everyday life
