Discourse, Politics and Women as Global Leaders John Wilson, Diana Boxer, 2015-10-15 Discourse Politics and Women as Global Leaders focuses on the discourse practices of women in global political leadership It provides a series of discursive studies of women in positions of political leadership Political leadership is defined as achieving a senior position within a political organization and will often indicate a senior role in government or opposition The volume draws on a diverse collection of studies from across the globe reflecting a variety of cultures and distinct polities The primary aim is to consider in what way s discursive practice underpins reflects or is appropriated in terms of women s political success and achievements within politics The chapters employ differing theoretical approaches all bound by the discursive insights they provide and in terms of their contribution to understanding the role of language and discourse in the construction of gendered identities within political contexts

Classic Movie Fight Scenes Gene Freese, 2017-09-11 Both brawls and elaborate martial arts have kept movie audiences on the edges of their seats since cinema began But the filming of fight scenes has changed significantly through the years mainly for the safety of the combatants from improvised scuffles in the Silent Era to exquisitely choreographed and edited sequences involving actors stuntmen and technical experts Camera angles prevented many a broken nose Examining more than 300 films from The Spoilers 1914 to Road House 1989 the author provides behind the scenes details on memorable melees starring such iconic tough guys as John Wayne Randolph Scott Robert Mitchum Lee Marvin Charles Bronson Clint Eastwood Bruce Lee Chuck Norris and Jackie Chan

Gender and Family in East Asia Siumi Maria

Tam, Wai Ching Angela Wong, Danning Wang, 2014-02-18 The on going reconfiguration of geo political and economic forces across the globe has created a new institutional and moral environment for East Asian family life and gender dynamics. Indeed modernisation in East Asia has brought about increases in women's education levels and participation in the labour force, a delay in marriage age, lower birth rates and smaller family size. And yet despite the process of modernization, traditional systems such as Confucianism and patriarchal rules continue to shape gender politics and family relationships in East Asia. This book examines gender politics and family culture in East Asia in light of both the overwhelming changes that modernization and globalization have brought to the region and the structural restrictions that women in East Asian societies continue to face in their daily lives. Across three sections the contributors to this volume focus on marriage and motherhood, religion and family, and migration. In doing so they reveal how actions and decisions implemented by the state trigger changes in gender and family at the local level, the impact of increasing internal and transnational migration on East Asian culture, and how religion interweaves with the state in shaping gender dynamics and daily life within the family. With case studies from across the region including South Korea, Japan, mainland China, Taiwan, and Hong Kong, this book will be of great interest to students and scholars of Asian studies, gender studies, anthropology, sociology, and social policy.
