American History, Race and the Struggle for Equality Masaki

Kawashima, 2016-12-16 Powerfully synthesizing major currents in the field this book addresses the issue of inequality across American politics and society using race as a lens for the exploration of major themes in American history It considers the concept of race as a social construction against the background of the historical struggles for fairness in a society based on the framework of democracy whose principle is that majority's consent be necessary for the fulfillment of justice. Foregrounding problems of race capital and political economy it particularly examines the connections between race and class, the relationship of slavery and national politics and the distinctive intellectual framework that Americans have developed to discuss race. Offering a detailed account of civil rights legislation, an overview of immigration law and policy and comprehensive overviews of debates about affirmative action, immigration and the causes and solutions to racialized urban poverty, this book emphasizes what is distinctive about the United States and offers a unique comparative framework for thinking about America's racial past. The Penguin History of Britain: The Struggle for Mastery David

Carpenter, 2004-08-26 The two and a half centuries after 1066 were momentous ones in the history of Britain. In 1066 England was conquered for the last time. The Anglo-Saxon ruling class was destroyed and the English became a subject race dominated by a Norman-French dynasty and aristocracy. This book shows how the English domination of the kingdom was by no means a foregone conclusion. The struggle for mastery in the book's title is in reality the struggle for different masteries within Great Britain. The book weaves together the histories of England, Scotland and Wales in a new way and argues that all three in their different fashions were competing for domination. Tradition, Interpretation, and Science John S. Nelson, 1986-01-01 This book reassesses the academic field of political theory and brings into sharp relief its problems and opportunities. Here for the first time diverse theorists coordinate their arguments through a common focus. This focus is the writing of John G. Gunnell. Gunnell attacks a set of myths said to plague almost every recent theory about politics: the myth of the given, the myth of science, myths of theory, the myth of tradition and the myth of the political. He argues that these all alienate political theory from substantive inquiry and actual practice. Contributors include Richard E. Flathman, Russell L. Hanson, George Kateb, Paul F. Kress, J. Donald Moon, John S. Nelson, J. G. A. Pocock, Herbert G. Reid, Ira L. Strauber, Nathan Tarcov and Sheldon S. Wolin. They respond on behalf of projects in the new history of political theory: epic theory, phenomenology, traditional theory and political deconstruction. These discussions also address the theories of Hans Georg Gadamer, Jürgen Habermas, Karl Marx, Leo Strauss, Alain Touraine and Ludwig Wittgenstein. At the conclusion of the volume Gunnell reconsiders his arguments in light of the respondent's remarks. His challenges thus provide a series of confrontations both exciting and provocative among major theorists. The result is a lively debate about what political theory is, how it relates to political history and practice and how it involves epistemology. The authors probe a broad range of questions about practices of politics and traditions of discourse and they identify priorities for the future of the field. Prisoners of

Rhodesia M. Munochiveyi, 2014-12-10 During the Zimbabwean struggle for independence the settler regime imprisoned numerous activists and others it suspected of being aligned with the guerrillas. This book is the first to look closely at the histories and lived experiences of these political detainees and prisoners, showing how they challenged and negotiated their
