Schott, 2023-06-06 This book explores the moral and representational issues associated with engaging young people with popular media depictions of death and dying Emotionally charged depictions of death play an important role in contemporary media directed toward teen and young adult audiences Across creative works as diverse as interactive digital games graphic novels short form serial narratives television and films young people gain opportunities to engage with representations of death In some cases representations of death dying and the decision to end one's own life have been subject to public outcry and criticism related to its perceived potential impact on impressionable audiences. Death in as entertainment can also be fleeting commonplace and used for humour making it trivial. The chapters in this volume particularly consider the types of engagement made possible through different contemporary creative mediums and the ways in which they might distinctively capture or arouse thoughts and feelings on the end and loss of a human life. Death as Entertainment will appeal to researchers and students interested in new media and its cultural and psychological impact. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Mortality.

USMC Tactical Combat Casualty Care (TCCC / TC3) Guidelines, 2013-10-28 Tactical Combat Casualty Care Guidelines 28 October 2013. All changes to the guidelines made since those published in the 2010 Seventh Edition of the PHTLS Manual are shown in bold text. The most recent changes are shown in red text. These recommendations are intended to be guidelines only and are not a substitute for clinical judgment. Basic Management Plan for Care Under Fire: 1 Return fire and take cover 2 Direct or expect casualty to remain engaged as a combatant if appropriate 3 Direct casualty to move to cover and apply self aid if able 4 Try to keep the casualty from sustaining additional wounds 5 Casualties should be extricated from burning vehicles or buildings and moved to places of relative safety. ### Women and Children as Victims and Offenders:

Background, Prevention, Reintegration Helmut Kury, Sławomir Redo, Evelyn Shea, 2016-06-01. This work compiles experiences and lessons learned in meeting the unique needs of women and children regarding crime prevention and criminal justice, in particular the treatment and social reintegration of offenders, and serves as a cross disciplinary work for academic and policy making analyses and follow up in developing and developed countries. Furthermore, it argues for a more humane and effective approach to countering delinquency and crime among future generations. In a world where development positively depends on the rule of law and the related investment security, two global trends may chart the course of development: urbanization and education. Urbanization will globalize the concepts of justice and fairness; education will be dominated by the urban mindset and digital service economy, just as a culture of lawfulness will. This work looks at crime prevention education as an investment in the sustainable quality of life of succeeding generations and at those who pursue such crime prevention as the providers of much needed skills in the educational portfolio. Adopting a reformist approach, this work collects articles with findings and recommendations that may be relevant to domestic and international policymaking including the United Nations Studies and their educational value for the welfare of coming generations The books address the relevant United Nations ideas by combining them with academic approaches Guided by the Editors respective fields of expertise and in full recognition of academic freedom and organized scepticism it includes contributions by lawyers criminologists sociologists and other eminent experts seeking to bridge the gap between academic and policy perspectives as appropriate against the international background including the United Nations developments The first volume opens with a foreword by Marta Santos Pais the United Nations Special Representative of the Secretary General on Violence against Children and a general introduction by the editors Part I provides an overview of United Nations principles for crime prevention and the treatment of women and children Part II concentrates on education and the social learning of children and adolescents The importance of quality education is stressed as is its impact on the behaviour of children of all ages It also includes a discussion of the factors that still hinder access to good schooling in many parts of the world Part III presents international research findings on children juveniles and women both as victims and offenders Statistics show overwhelmingly that these groups are more often victims than offenders planned merger of rural and urban workforces The book includes an analysis of the US China trade war and China's economic prospects in the wake of COVID 19 It is a clear and timely account for anyone interested in understanding the institutions and policies responsible for China's successful development and its likely continuation     Nii Ndahlohke Mary Jane Logan McCallum, 2022-09-09 This book takes its title from the phrase for I work in Lunaape the traditional language of Munsee Delaware people and was inspired by the work of the Munsee Delaware Language and History Group Written for the descendants and communities of children who attended Mount Elgin and intended as a resource for all Canadians Nii Ndahlohke tells the story of student life at Mount Elgin Industrial School between 1890 and 1915 Like the school itself Nii Ndahlohke is structured in two sections The first focuses on boys work including maintenance and farm labour the second on girls work such as cooking cleaning and laundry In Nii Ndahlohke readers will find a valuable piece of local Indigenous and Canadian history that depicts the nature of education provided at Canada's Indian residential schools and the exploitation of children's labour in order to keep school operating costs down This history honours the students of Mount Elgin even as it reveals the injustice of Indian policy segregated schooling and racism in Canada
