Diversified schools in which students of various racial ethnic and socioeconomic characteristics are balanced have a positive contextual effect on achievement for all groups compared to schools with homogeneous student bodies that tend to help affluent white students and harm poor students and students of color The authors advise school districts convicted for operating segregated schools on how to make all schools schools of choice that must compete for students who enroll in them And it discusses ways of being fair and just in the distribution of educational resources to affluent as well as poor students and to white students as well as students of color School systems that are reluctant to use racial fairness guidelines in the enrollment process are advised to use socioeconomic fairness guidelines because the absence of any enrollment fairness guidelines tends to result in the return to segregation and a dual school system helpful to a few but harmful to many students This book suggests ways of empowering parents and professional educators and it discusses how to achieve a good outcome for urban as well as rural school districts and for large as well as small school systems Among communities mentioned in this study are Cambridge Boston Brockton MA St Lucie County Lee County Hillsborough County including Tampa FL Santa Rosa County CA Seattle WA New Haven CT Rockford IL Milwaukee WI and Charleston County SC

1980 s combined with a widespread belief in leadership as the single most powerful contribution to such improvement The roots of this belief can be found in evidence produced by the early effective schools research although there is a romance with leadership as an explanation for success in many non school enterprises as well During the two year period during which this current handbook was being written activity in the realms of school leadership school improvement and leadership development gained further momentum The English government created its new National College of School Leadership and several Asian nations announced new initiatives in leadership selection preparation and development
