Barnett, Alexis Weedon, 2016-04-29 The first full length study of the authorial and cross media practices of the English novelist Elinor Glyn 1864-1943 Elinor Glyn as Novelist Moviemaker Glamour Icon and Businesswoman examines Glyn's work as a novelist in the United Kingdom followed by her success in Hollywood where she adapted her popular romantic novels into films Making extensive use of newly available archival materials Vincent L

Barnett and Alexis Weedon explore Glyn's experiences from multiple perspectives including the artistic, legal and financial aspects of the adaptation process. At the same time they document Glyn's personal and professional relationships with a number of prominent individuals in the Hollywood studio system including Louis B. Mayer and Irving Thalberg. The authors contextualize Glyn's involvement in scenario writing in relationship to other novelists in Hollywood such as Edgar Wallace and Arnold Bennett and also show how Glyn worked across Europe and America to transform her stories into other forms of media such as plays and movies. Providing a new perspective from which to understand the historical development of both British and American media industries in the first half of the twentieth century, this book will appeal to historians working in the fields of cultural and film studies, publishing and business history. "Some Big Bourgeois Brothel" Bill Grantham, 2000. Examines Franco-American cinema relations and France's periodic attempts to curb Hollywood's access to the French market. The text's major focus is the French influence and American reaction to the European Union's Television Without Frontiers directive and the 1993 GATT talks in Uruguay. Projecting Tomorrow James Chapman, Nicholas J.

Cull, 2013-01-30. Cinema and science fiction were made for each other. The science fiction genre has produced some of the most extraordinary films ever made yet science fiction cinema is about more than just special effects. It has also provided a vehicle for filmmakers and writers to comment on their own societies and cultures. This new exploration of the genre examines landmark science fiction films from the 1930s to the present. They include genre classics such as Things to Come, Forbidden Planet and 2001 A Space Odyssey alongside modern blockbusters Star Wars and Avatar. Chapman and Cull consider both screen originals and adaptations of the work of major science fiction authors. They also range widely across the genre from pulp adventure and space opera to political allegory and speculative documentary; there is even a science fiction musical. Informed throughout by extensive research in US and British archives, the book documents the production histories of each film to show how they made their way to the screen and why they turned out the way they did. Cinemas of the World James Chapman, 2004-06-03. The cinema has been the pre-eminent popular art form of the 20th century. In Cinemas of the World James Chapman examines the relationship between film and society in the modern world: film as entertainment medium, film as a reflection of national cultures and preoccupations, film as an instrument of propaganda. He also explores two interrelated issues that have recurred throughout the history of cinema: the economic and cultural hegemony of Hollywood on the one hand and on the other the attempts of film makers elsewhere to establish indigenous national cinemas drawing on their own cultures and societies. Chapman examines the rise to dominance of Hollywood cinema in the silent and early sound periods. He discusses the characteristic themes of American movies from the Depression to the end of the Cold War, especially those found in the western and film noir genres that are often used as vehicles for exploring issues central to US society and politics. He looks at national cinemas in various European countries in the period between the end of the First World War and the end of the Second which all exhibit the formal and aesthetic properties of modernism. The emergence of the so called new cinemas of Europe and the wider world since 1960 are also explored Chapman is a tough thinking original writer an engaging excellent piece of work David Lancaster Film and History From the Arthouse to the Grindhouse John Cline,Robert G. Weiner,2010-07-17 While there are numerous books on art and exploitation cinema very few attempt to examine both Covering the first 100 years of cinematic transgressions From the Arthouse to the Grindhouse is a collection of numerous essays representing key contributions to overlooked forgotten or under analyzed parts of film history From cult favorites like Arch Hall Jr to revered but under documented marquee names like Lon Chaney filmmakers both major and minor are covered here Starting with a section that pairs exploitation pioneers like Dwain Esper alongside cutting edge auteurs like Erich Von Stroheim the volume documents the bleeding edge of the high low cultural divide Other essays examine the sexual melodramas of Weimer German cinema explore the concept of Borat as a model for the new standardized cult film and discuss the films of directors Tod Browning Pier Pasolini and Peter Watkins This volume also contains a section devoted to the idea of reality inside and outside the documentary sphere emphasizing audiences desire to believe that this is really happening whether they re horrified or titillated Addressing many aspects of transgression in cinema these essays suggest that the distance between the venues and the audiences may not be quite as wide as viewers might imagine

Cinematic Cold War Tony Shaw,Denise Jeanne Youngblood,2010 The first book length survey of cinema s vital role in the Cold War cultural combat between the U S and the USSR Focuses on 10 films five American and five Soviet both iconic and lesser known works showing that cinema provided a crucial outlet for the global debate between democratic and communist ideologies The Medieval World Peter Linehan,Janet L. Nelson,2013-09-13 This groundbreaking collection brings the Middle Ages to life and conveys the distinctiveness of this diverse constantly changing period Thirty eight scholars bring together one medieval world from many disparate worlds from Connacht to Constantinople and from Tynemouth to Timbuktu This extraordinary set of reconstructions presents the reader with a vivid re drawing of the medieval past offering fresh appraisals of the evidence and modern historical writing Chapters are thematically linked in four sections identities beliefs social values and symbolic order power and power structures elites organizations and groups Packed full of original scholarship The Medieval World is essential reading for anyone studying medieval history Past and Present James Chapman,2005-09-23 This ground breaking book takes as its focal point director Ken Loach s view that The only reason to make films that are a reflection on history is to talk about the present In the first book to take on this major genre in all its complexity James Chapman argues that historical films say as much about the times in which they are made as about the past they purport to portray Through in depth case studies of fourteen key films spanning the 1930s up to the turn of the twenty first century from The Private Life of Henry VIII and Zulu to Chariots of Fire and Elizabeth Chapman examines the place of historical films in British cinema history and film culture Looking closely at the issues that they present from gender class and ethnicity to militarism and imperialism he also discusses controversies over historical accuracy and the ways in which devices such as voice overs title captions and visual references to photographs and paintings assert a sense of historical verisimilitude Exploring throughout the book the dialectical relationship between past and present Chapman reveals how such films promote British achievements but also sometimes question them and how they project images of Britishness to audiences both in the UK and internationally

Aim for the Heart Howard Hughes, 2009-07-30 Clint Eastwood is one of the world's most popular action stars who has matured into a fine American producer director Entertaining illuminating and packed with information up to and including The Changeling this is the first book to cover his full life in the movies from his beginnings in 1950s B movies and in TV's Rawhide to Gran Torino showing how as both actor and filmmaker Eastwood aims for the heart of the drama whatever the story Howard Hughes follows Eastwood's craft through over 50 movies He looks at his launch into superstardom in Sergio Leone's 1960s spaghetti westerns Back in America he built on his success as western hero with such films as High Plains Drifter and The Outlaw Josey Wales winning an Oscar for Unforgiven in 1992 He blasted his way through the seventies and eighties as Inspector Harry Francis Callahan the last hope for law enforcement in San Francisco He also monkeyed around in two phenomenally popular films with Clyde the orang utan which brought tough guy Eastwood to a whole new audience and made him the biggest box office star of his generation Aim for the Heart also looks at Eastwood's more unusual roles including The Beguiled The Bridges of Madison County and Million Dollar Baby Since 1970 he has enjoyed parallel success as director producer of his own Malpaso Productions with Bird Mystic River and Letters from Iwo Jima demonstrating formidable directing credentials Aim for the Heart covers all Eastwood's movies of many genres in detail and Eastwood's story is illustrated with film stills glimpses behind the scenes and rare poster advertising material Aim for the Heart also includes the most comprehensive credits filmography has ever compiled on Eastwood's work as star and director

Sports Cinema 100 Movies Randy Williams, 2006-10 This in depth companion guide celebrates movies centered on sports oriented stories characters events or backdrops complete with more than 200 black and white movie stills

England's Secret Weapon Amanda Field, 2012-07-19 England's Secret Weapon explores the way Hollywood used Sherlock Holmes in a series of fourteen films spanning the years of World War II in Europe from The Hound of the Baskervilles in 1939 to Dressed to Kill in 1946 Basil Rathbone's portrayal of Holmes has influenced every actor who has since played him on film TV stage and radio yet the film series has until now been neglected in terms of detailed critical analysis The book looks at the films themselves in combination with their historical context and examines how the studio updated Holmes and recruited him to fight the Nazis steering a careful course between modernising the detective and making sure he was still recognisable as the old Holmes in clothes locations and behaviour The Arts in the West Since 1945 Arthur Marwick, 2002 The Arts hold a revered and respected place within modern Western society but what exactly defines culture what gives it this enigmatic status what influences its composition and propagation what controls and limitations is it subject to and what can it achieve within our world Arthur Marwick tackles these issues head on with a both detailed and eclectic account of the Arts in the West since the Second World War He looks at the full range of possible candidates for the category of Art from both elite and popular cultures from high literature to pulp fiction from art house cinema to soap opera Art Music to Rock and Pop This book looks at the fascinating diversity of twentieth century art in the context of the social technological and political events movements and developments that have shaped our history such as the holocaust the television feminism Marwick examines how these factors have affected the cultural output of Western society since 1945 and in turn how art has fed back its own agenda and priorities into this society
