Enoch Powell and the Making of Postcolonial Britain Camilla Schofield, 2013-10-03 Enoch Powell's explosive rhetoric against black immigration and anti discrimination law transformed the terrain of British race politics and cast a long shadow over British society Using extensive archival research Camilla Schofield offers a radical reappraisal of Powell's political career and insists that his historical significance is inseparable from the political generation he sought to represent

Enoch Powell and the Making of Postcolonial Britain follows Powell's trajectory from an officer in the British Raj to the centre of British politics and finally to his turn to Ulster Unionism She argues that Powell and the mass movement against New Commonwealth immigration that he inspired shed light on Britain's war generation popular understandings of the welfare state and the significance of memories of war and empire in the making of postcolonial Britain Through Powell Schofield illuminates the complex relationship between British social democracy racism and the politics of imperial decline in Britain

Czech Law in Historical Contexts Jan Kuklík,2015 The legal system of the present day Czech Republic would not be understood properly without sufficient knowledge of its historical roots and evolution This book deals with the development of Czech law from its initial origins as a form of Slavic law to its current position reflecting the influence of the legal systems of neighbouring countries and that of Roman law The reader can see how a legal system originally based on custom developed into written and codified law Czech law was fully dependent upon developments within the Luxemburg Jagiellonian and primarily Habsburg monarchies although some features remained autonomous The 20th century is particularly important in the development of the Czech state and law of today namely due to the establishment of an independent Czechoslovakia in 1918 and its split in 1992 giving rise to the independent identities of the Czech Republic and the Slovak Republic It was a century encompassing periods of democratic as well as totalitarian regimes political ideological economic and social changes stemming from such transformations were projected into and reflected in the system of Czechoslovak and Czech law It can therefore serve as a case study for researchers interested in the transition of democratic legal systems into totalitarian regimes and vice versa British Power and International Relations During the 1950s

1938 It is divided into two parts the first associated with the prelude to actuality of and aftermath of the Great War and imperial collapse the second the period of provisional New Europe reformulation as well as post imperial Stalinist Nazi and Kemalist consolidation up to 1938 Levene also explores the crystallisation of truly toxic anti Jewish hostilities the implication being that the immediate origins of the Jewish genocides in the Second World War are to be found in the First
