The Making Of Memory From Molecules To The Mind

Jonathon O'Brien

The Making Of Memory From Molecules To The Mind:

The Making of Memory Steven Peter Russell Rose, 2003 An updated version of the book that won the Science Book Prize in 1993 with new research on memory that has opened the doors to a potential new treatment for Alzheimer's Disease undreamed of a decade ago

The Making of Memory Steven Peter Russell Rose, 1992 The recipes included in this book range from family dinners centred around pot roast pheasant with grilled polenta or red mullet with rosemary to lavish buffets and menus for special occasions like oysters and passion fruit fool on St Valentine's Day By the author of Portrait of Pasta

The Language of Memory in a Crosslinguistic Perspective Mengistu Amberber, 2007 This book offers for the first time a detailed comparative study of how speakers of different languages express memory concepts While there is a robust body of psycholinguistic research that bears on how memory and language are related there is no comparative study of how speakers themselves conceptualize memory as reflected in their use of language to talk about memory This book addresses a key question how do speakers of different languages talk about the experience of having prior experiences coming to mind remembering or failing to come to mind forgetting A complex array of answers is provided through detailed grammatical and semantic investigation of different languages including English German Polish Russian and also a number of non Indo European languages Amharic Cree Dalabon Korean and Mandarin In addition the book calls for a broader interdisciplinary engagement by urging that cognitive semantics be integrated with other sciences of memory

The houses of history Anna Green, Kathleen Troup, 2016-08-15 The houses of history is a clear jargon free introduction to the major theoretical approaches employed by historians This innovative critical reader provides accessible introductions to fourteen schools of thought from the empiricist to the postcolonial including chapters on Marxist history Freud and psychohistory the Annales historical sociology narrative gender public history and the history of the emotions Each chapter begins with a succinct description of the ideas integral to a particular theory The authors then explore the insights and controversies arising from the application of this model drawing upon debates and examples from around the world Each chapter concludes with a representative example from a historian writing within this conceptual framework This newly revised edition of the highly successful textbook is the ideal basis for an introductory course in history and theory for students of history at all levels

Shakespeare's Webs Arthur F. Kinney, 2012-12-06 In this book renowned Renaissance drama critic Arthur F Kinney argues that Shakespeare's method of composing plays through networks of meanings can be seen as a harbinger of today's information technology Drawing upon hypertext and cognitive theory areas that have for some time promised to take on more importance in the sphere of Shakespeare Studies as well as the central metaphor of the Routledge collection The Renaissance Computer Kinney looks in detail at four objects images in Shakespeare's plays mirrors maps clocks and books and explores the ways in which they make up networks of meaning within single plays and across the dramatist's body of work that anticipate in some ways the networks of meaning or information now possible in the computer
