The Man Who Walked Between the Towers Mordicai Gerstein, 2003-09-05 A lyrical evocation of Philippe Petit's 1974 tightrope walk between the World Trade Center towers a quarter of a mile in the sky      The Man Who Walked Between the Towers Mordicai Gerstein, 2007-04-17 A lyrical evocation of Philippe Petit's 1974 tightrope walk between the World Trade Center towers      Man Who Walked Between the Towers Mordicai Gerstein, 2007 A lyrical evocation of Philippe Petit's 1974 tightrope walk between the World Trade Center towers      Second-Generation Memory and Contemporary Children's Literature Anastasia Ulanowicz, 2013-09-02 Winner of the Children's Literature Association Book Award This book visits a range of textual forms including diary novel and picturebook to explore the relationship between second generation memory and contemporary children's literature Ulanowicz argues that second generation memory informed by intimate family relationships textual mediation and technology is characterized by vicarious rather than direct experience of the past As such children's literature is particularly well suited to the representation of second generation memory insofar as children's fiction is particularly invested in the transmission and reproduction of cultural memory and its form promotes the formation of various complex intergenerational relationships Further children's books that depict second generation memory have the potential to challenge conventional Western notions of selfhood and ethics This study shows how novels such as Lois Lowry's The Giver 1993 and Judy Blume's Starring Sally J. Freedman as Herself 1977 both of which feature protagonists who adapt their elders' memories into their own mnemonic repertoires implicitly reject Cartesian notions of the unified subject in favor of a view of identity as always already social relational and dynamic in character This book not only questions how and why second generation memory is represented in books for young people but whether such representations of memory might be considered radical or conservative Together these analyses address a topic that has not been explored fully within the fields of children's literature trauma and memory studies and Holocaust studies      The Walk Shaun Alexander, 2011 Bible teacher and former professional football player Shaun Alexander describes five stages of spiritual maturity and shares his thoughts on the benefits of walking with God      The Joy of Children's Literature Denise Johnson, 2023-12-18 This book provides in depth coverage of children's literature with integrated reading methods in a concise accessible format Johnson emphasizes that reading writing discussing and finding pleasure in children's books are essential tools in being able to recognize and recommend literature and being able to share the joy of children's literature with children themselves This fully updated third edition includes up to date research new book titles within each chapter a greater focus on diversity and inclusion and new sections on Activities for Professional Development and Print and Online Resources      Integrating Literature in the Disciplines Sharon Kane, 2020-04-22 The Second Edition of this practical and comprehensive resource offers a multitude of ways to incorporate literature into teaching and learning across a range of disciplines Future and practicing teachers librarians instructional coaches and school leaders can implement the ideas within this text to improve the literacy skills and knowledge of students while also addressing standards and curricular goals of various content areas. The new edition recognizes a paradigm shift from content areas to disciplines reflecting the specific ways reading and writing are used in different fields of study. Updated with current research and practices, the volume recommends and evaluates books in different genres and categories with chapters on informational books, fiction, biography, and memoir, poetry, and hands-on and how-to books. For every category, Kane provides a rationale, instructional strategies, and author studies, as well as lists and descriptions of books related to curricular areas. With a wealth of activities and new BookTalks, this Second Edition is greatly revised and features expanded attention to technology, digital learning, diversity, and culture. Using this text will create opportunities for deep discussions and will stimulate students' interest and motivation to read and learn. Integrating Literature in the Disciplines helps educators identify books that fit with any subject to enhance the creative and affective dimensions of school life, encourages interdisciplinary connections, and increases the depth and relevance of lessons. It is ideal for professional development and serves as a tool for Readers Advisory to match books with readers throughout the school day and beyond.

Collecting for the Curriculum Amy J. Catalano, 2015-09-28. If you're a librarian charged with collecting curriculum materials and children's literature to support the Common Core State Standards, then this book is the only one that offers explicit advice on collection development in curriculum collections. For you. While there are many publications on the Common Core for school librarians and K-12 educators, no such literature exists for curriculum librarians at the post-secondary level. This book fills that gap, standing alone as a guide to collection development for curriculum librarians independent of the Common Core State Standards (CCSS). The book provides instruction and guidance to curriculum librarians who acquire and manage collections so you can develop a collection based on best practices. The book begins with a primer on the CCSS and how curriculum librarians can support them. Discussion of the Standards is then woven through chapters arranged by content area that share research-based practices in curriculum development and instruction to guide you in curriculum selection. Material types covered include games, textbooks, children's literature, primary sources, counseling, and nonfiction. Additional chapters cover the management of curriculum collections, testing collections, and instruction and reference, as well as how to support and collect for special needs learners. Current practices in collection development for curriculum materials librarians are also reviewed. The book closes with a discussion of the future of curriculum materials.

Post-9/11 Historical Fiction and Alternate History Fiction Pei-chen Liao, 2020-09-19. Drawing on theories of historiography, memory, and diaspora, as well as from existing genre studies, this book explores why contemporary writers are so fascinated with history. Pei-chen Liao considers how fiction contributes to the making and remaking of the transnational history of the U.S. by thinking beyond and before 9/11, investigating how the dynamics of memory, as well as the emergent present, influences readers' reception of historical fiction and alternate history fiction and their interpretation of the past. Set against the historical backdrop of WWII, the Vietnam War, and the War on Terror, the novels under discussion tell Jewish, Japanese, white,

American African Muslim and Native Americans stories of trauma and survival As a means to transmit memories of past events these novels demonstrate how multidirectional memory can be not only collective but connective as exemplified by the echoes that post 9 11 readers hear between different histories of violence that the novels chronicle as well as between the past and the present

Children's Fiction about 9/11 Jo Lampert, 2009-09-10 In this pioneering and timely book Lampert examines the ways in which cultural identities are constructed within young adult and children's literature about the attacks of September 11 2001 Looking at examples including picture books young adult novels and a selection of DC Comics Lampert finds the co mingling of xenophobia and tolerance the binaried competition between good and evil and global harmony and national insularity and the glorification of both the commonplace hero and the super human Specifically Lampert identifies three significant identity categories encoded in 9 11 books for children ethnic identities national identities and heroic identities arguing that their formation is contingent upon post 9 11 politics These shifting identities offer implicit and explicit accounts of what constitute good citizenship loyalty to nation and community and desirable attributes in a Western post 9 11 context Lampert makes an original contribution to the field of children's literature by providing a focused and sustained analysis of how texts for children about 9 11 contribute to formations of identity in these complex times of cultural unease and global unrest
