Travel Writing in an Age of Global Quarantine Gary Fisher, David Robinson, 2021-09-07 Travel Writing in an Age of Global Quarantine is an anthology of travel accounts by a diverse range of writers and academics Challenging conventional academic authority each contributor writes from memory during the Covid 19 lockdown about a place they have previously visited accompanied by an historical traveller who published an account of the same place As immobility is forced upon us at least for the immediate future we have the chance to reflect Travel Writing in an Age of Global Quarantine presents opportunities to approach a text as a scholar differently We break with the traditional academic rules by inserting ourselves into the narrative and foregrounding the personal subjective elements of literary scholarship Each contributor critiques an historical description of a place about which simultaneously they write a personal account The Princeton Anthology of Writing John McPhee, Carol Rigolot, 2021-09-14 In 1957 long before colleges awarded degrees in creative nonfiction and back when newspaper writing's reputation was tainted by the fish it wrapped Princeton began honoring talented literary journalists Since then fifty nine of the finest most dedicated and most decorated nonfiction writers have held the Ferris and McGraw professorships This monumental volume harbors their favorite and often most influential works Each contribution is rewarding reading and collectively the selections validate journalism's ascent into the esteem of the academy and the reading public Necessarily eclectic and delightfully idiosyncratic the fifty nine pieces are long and short political and personal comic and deadly serious Students will be provoked by William Greider's pointed critique of the democracy industry eerily entertained by Leslie Cockburn's fraternization with the Cali cartel inspired by David K Shipler's thoughts on race unsettled by Haynes Johnson's account of Bay of Pigs survivors and moved by Lucinda Frank's essay on a mother fighting to save a child born with birth defects Many of the essays are finely crafted portraits Charlotte Grimes's biography of her grandmother Blair Clark's obituary for Robert Lowell and Jane Kramer's affecting story of a woman hero of the French Resistance Other contributions to savor include Harrison Salisbury on the siege of Leningrad Landon Jones on the 1950s Christopher Wren on Soviet mountaineering James Gleick on technology Gloria Emerson on Vietnam Gina Kolata on Fermat's last theorem and Roger Mudd on the media Whether approached chronologically thematically randomly or as the editors order them more intuitively each suggests a perfect evening reading Designed for students as well as general readers The

Princeton Anthology of Writing splendidly attests to the elegance eloquence and endurance of fine nonfiction Modern Confessional Writing Jo Gill, 2006-03-29 A comprehensive and scholarly account of this popular and influential genre the essays in this collection explore confessional literature from the mid twentieth century to the present day and include the writing of John Berryman Anne Sexton Ted Hughes and Helen Fielding Drawing on a wide range of examples the contributors to this volume evaluate and critique conventional readings of confessionalism Orthodox humanist notions of the literary act of confession and its assumed relationship to truth authority and subjectivity are challenged and in their place a range of new critical perspectives and practices are adopted Modern Confessional Writing develops and tests new theoretically informed views on what confessional writing is how it functions and what it means to both writer and reader When read from these new perspectives modern confessional writing is liberated from the misconception that it provides a kind of easy authorial release and readerly catharsis and is instead read as a discursive self reflexive sophisticated and demanding genre South African Writing in Transition Rita Barnard, Andrew van der Vlies, 2019-02-21 Bringing together leading and emerging scholars this book asks the question how has contemporary South African literature grappled with ideas of time and history during the political transition away from apartheid Reading the work of major South African writers such as J M Coetzee Nadine Gordimer and Ivan Vladislavic as well as contemporary crime fiction South African Writing in Transition explores how concerns about time and temporality have shaped literary form across the country's literary culture Establishing new connections between leading literary voices and lesser known works the book explores themes of truth and reconciliation disappointment and betrayal Written Under the Skin Carli Coetzee, 2019 In this book the author argues that a younger generation of South Africans is developing important and innovative ways of understanding South African pasts and that challenge the narratives that have over the last decades been informed by notions of forgiveness and reconciliation The author uses the image of history rich blood to explore these approaches to intergenerational memory Blood under the skin is a carrier of embodied and gendered histories and using this image the chapters revisit older archives as well as analyse contemporary South African cultural and literary forms The emphasis on blood challenges the privileged status skin has had as explanatory category in thinking about identity and instead emphasises intergenerational transfer and continuity The argument is that a younger generation is disputing and debating the terms through which to understand contemporary South Africa as well as for interpreting the legacies of the past that remain under the visible layer of skin The chapters each concern blood Mandela's prison cell as laboratory for producing bloodless freedom the kinship relations created and resisted in accounts of Eugene de Kock in prison Ruth First's concern with information leaks in her accounts of her time in prison the first human to human heart transplant and its relation to racialised attempts to salvage white identity the Fallist moment Abantu book festival and activist scholarship and creative art works that use blood as trope for thinking about change and continuity Carli Coetzee is Editor of the Journal of African Cultural Studies Her publications include

Dreaming in Dark Times Sharon Sliwinski, 2017-03-28 What do dreams manage to say or indeed show about human experience that is not legible otherwise Can the disclosure of our dream life be understood as a form of political avowal To what does a dream attest And to whom Blending psychoanalytic theory with the work of such political thinkers as Hannah Arendt and Michel Foucault Sharon Sliwinski explores how the disclosure of dream life represents a special kind of communicative gesture a form of unconscious thinking that can serve as a potent brand of political intervention and a means for resisting sovereign power Each chapter centers on a specific dream plucked from the historical record slowly unwinding the significance of this extraordinary disclosure From Wilfred Owen and Lee Miller to Frantz Fanon and Nelson Mandela Sliwinski shows how each of these figures grappled with dream life as a means to conjure up the courage to speak about dark times Here dreaming is defined as an integral political exercise a vehicle for otherwise unthinkable thoughts and a wellspring for the freedom of expression Dreaming in Dark Times defends the idea that dream life matters that attending to this thought landscape is vital to the life of the individual but also vital to our shared social and political worlds
