The Mad Hatter Mystery:

The Mad Hatter Mystery John Dickson Carr, 2019-05-07 A corpse in a top hat leads Dr Gideon Fell to a killer with a sick sense of humor in this mystery by the celebrated author of Hags Nook. At the hand of an outrageous prankster top hats are going missing all over London snatched from the heads of some of the city's most powerful people but is the hat thief the same as the person responsible for stealing a lost story by Edgar Allan Poe the manuscript of which has just disappeared from the collection of Sir William Bitton. Unlike the manuscript the hats don't stay stolen for long each one reappearing in unexpected and conspicuous places shortly after being taken on the top of a Trafalgar Square statue hanging from a Scotland Yard lamppost and now in the foggy depths of the Tower of London on the head of a corpse with a crossbow bolt through the heart. Amateur detective and lexicographer Dr Gideon Fell is on the case and when the dead man is identified as the nephew of the collector he discovers that the connections underlying the bizarre and puzzling crimes may be more intimate than initially expected. Reprinted for the first time in thirty years the second novel in the Dr Gideon Fell series which need not be read in any order finds the iconic character investigating one of the most extraordinary murders of his career. A baffling whodunnit with menace at every turn The Mad Hatter Mystery proves that Carr is the unexcelled master of creepy erudition swift moving excitement and suspense through atmosphere. New York Times Every sentence gives a thrill of positive pleasure. The Mad Hatter Mystery is the most attractive mystery I have read for a long time. Rintoul,2014-03-05 Fascinating and comprehensive in scope the Dictionary of Real People and Places in Fiction is a valuable source for both students and teachers of literature and for those interested in locating the facts behind the fiction they read In a single scholarly volume it provides intriguing insight into the real identity of people and places in the novels of over 300 American and British authors published in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries The Ghosts' High Noon John Dickson Carr,2013-12-19 Jim Blake journalist and successful spy novelist is sent to New Orleans to do a story on James Claiborne Blake a congressional hopeful in the 1912 election But even from New York he senses following eyes James Blake it seems is threatened by sexual indiscretions And as the plot thickens both Blakes become involved in politics and intrigue and then impossible murder among the atmospheric byways of New Orleans A wonderful period piece that includes some fascinating real life characters Saturday Review Whatever Happened to Sherlock Holmes Robert S. Paul,1991 Robert S Paul suggests that the reason detective fiction has won legions of readers may be that the writer of detective fiction without conscious intent appeals directly to those moral and spiritual roots of society unconsciously affirmed and endorsed by the readers Because detective stories deal with crime and punishment they cannot help dealing implicitly with theological issues such as the reality of good and evil the recognition that humankind has the potential for both the nature of evidence truth and error the significance of our existence in a rational order and hence the reality of truth and the value of the individual in a civilized society Paul argues that the genre traces its true beginning to the Enlightenment and documents two related but different reactions to the theological issues involved first a line of writers who are generally positive in relation to their cultural setting such as Edgar Allan Poe Wilkie Collins Conan Doyle and second a reactionary strain critical of the prevailing culture that begins in William Godwin's Caleb Williams and continues through the anti heroic writers like Arsène Lupin to Raymond Chandler Dashiell Hammett and John MacDonald
