The Making Of A Nation:

The Making of a Nation H. Ng'weno, 2008      Christian Nationalism, Nation-Building, and the Making of the Holocaust in Slovakia Hana Kubátová, 2025-02-10 Previous scholarship on fascism in Slovakia has focused on either state actors operating from urban centres or the mechanisms of violence on a grassroots level with the result being that the Holocaust is seen as primarily a top down and state centred process In contrast Hana Kubátová reveals here a dynamic and unexplored centre periphery relationship and how violence against the Jewish population unfolded in both cities and the countryside and on both national and local levels As an integral component of broader nation building efforts the authority of the fascist regime and the newly founded Slovak state hinged not only on appeasing Hitler but also on civilian populations of the nation's heterogeneous eastern borderlands especially local elites such as priest and teachers as well as the rural masses The book explores how this relationship was forged how it was maintained and how ultimately Christian nationalism operated as a political strategy that brought differently positioned actors together to broker deals over resources and power accrued through the co enactment of genocide by a broad coalition of perpetrators on the ground In so doing this little known chapter of Holocaust history offers a new way to understand the dynamics and escalations of mass violence and how collaborations between elite and popular groups can pave the way for ethnic cleansing across different territories and even times

Nation-building Gungwu Wang, 2005 Addressing questions such as how should historians treat the earlier pasts of each country and the nationalism that guided the nation building tasks this book tries to put them not only in the perspective of Southeast Asian developments of the past five decades but also the larger areas of historiography      Nation-Building as Necessary Effort in Fragile States René Grotenhuis, 2025-10-01 Policies intended to bring stability to fragile states tend to focus almost exclusively on building institutions and systems to get governance right Simply building the state is often seen as sufficient for making it stable and legitimate But policies like these Ren Grotenhuis shows in this book ignore the question of what makes people belong to a nation state arguing that issues of identity culture and religion are crucial to creating the sense of belonging and social cohesion that a stable nation state requires      Empire, Nation-building, and the Age of Tropical Medicine, 1885-1960 Mauro Capocci, Daniele Cozzoli, 2024-02-20 This book investigates the complex relationship between the development of modern empires nation and the history of tropical medicine Broadening existing historiographical perspectives it explores imperialism outside of the British Empire drawing on case studies from other colonial experiences in Africa Asia and South America in the late nineteenth and early twentieth century Each of these systems adopted different approaches to colonial health and medicine By studying their diversity it is possible to obtain a more comprehensive picture of what we now call tropical medicine The authors emphasise that the British model cannot be adapted to all colonial experiences drawing on relevant cases from both interoceanic and continental empires The collection comprises three sections The first examines the role of tropical medicine in the evolution and collapse of empire in countries such as Portugal and the Netherlands The second part analyses the links between tropical medical institutions and imperial commercial and political expansion in Britain and Brazil Finally the authors tackle the crucial interrelated circulation of people objects and ideas amongst countries including Brazil China Italy and Spain Using a medical lens to analyse the inter connected processes of nation building and colonial expansion in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries this book provides valuable reading for scholars of imperialism and medical history alike Chapter 7 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via link.springer.com

Natives Making Nation Andrew Canessa, 2011-08-01 In Bolivia today the ability to speak an indigenous language is highly valued among educated urbanites as a useful job skill but a rural person who speaks a native language is branded with lower social status Likewise chewing coca in the countryside spells inferior indian but in La Paz jazz bars it's decidedly cool In the Andes and elsewhere the commodification of indianness has impacted urban lifestyles as people co opt indigenous cultures for qualities that emphasize the uniqueness of their national culture This volume looks at how metropolitan ideas of nation employed by politicians the media and education are produced reproduced and contested by people of the rural Andes people who have long been regarded as ethnically and racially distinct from more culturally European urban citizens Yet these peripheral natives are shown to be actively engaged with the idea of the nation in their own communities forcing us to re think the ways in which indigeneity is defined by its marginality The contributors examine the ways in which numerous identities racial generational ethnic regional national gender and sexual are both mutually informing and contradictory among subaltern Andean people who are more likely now to claim an allegiance to a nation than ever before Although indians are less often confronted with crude assimilationist policies they continue to face racism and discrimination as they struggle to assert an identity that is more than a mere refraction of the dominant culture Yet despite the language of multiculturalism employed even in constitutional reform any assertion of indian identity is likely to be resisted By exploring topics as varied as nation building in the 1930s or the chuqila dance these authors expose a paradox in the relation between indians and the nation that the nation can be claimed as a source of power and distinct identity while simultaneously making some types of national imaginings unattainable Whether dancing together or simply talking to one another the people described in these essays are shown creating identity through processes that are inherently social and interactive To sing to eat to weave In the performance of these simple acts bodies move in particular spaces and contexts and do so within certain understandings of gender race and nation Through its presentation of this rich variety of ethnographic and historical contexts Natives Making Nation provides a finely nuanced view of contemporary Andean life Municipal Engineering ,1918 The Making of Modern America Gary A. Donaldson,2012-10-18 The Making of Modern America introduces students to the cultural social and political paths the United States has traveled from the end of WWII to the present day While deftly cataloguing the sweeping changes and major events in America from Dewey Defeats Truman through the election of our first black President this newly updated edition never loses touch with that American history taking place at the level of the people This edition details not just the United States rich cultural history but elegantly repositions it as integral to our understanding of any portion of this country s past Donaldson provides a factual foundation for students and then pushes them to interpret those facts framing the discussions essential to any complete study of American history The Making of Modern America Second Edition is updated to include A new chapter titled The Second Bush and Obama From the War on Terrorism to the Audacity of Hope updating readers on the calamitous end to President George W Bush s second term the Obama administration s first term challenges and the Great Recession Newly revised readings each profiling an historical event speech or figure Lee Harvey Oswald to Bill Gates to Condoleeza Rice at the conclusion of each chapter The Maccabæan ,1916 The Border Magazine Nicholas Dickson,William Sanderson,1912 History of the United States Wilbur Fisk Gordy,1922 The Alumni Bulletin of the University of Virginia ,1911 Nation and the Writing of History in China and Britain, 1880-1930 Asier Hernández Aguirresarobe,2022-08-19 Nation and the Writing of History in China and Britain explores through a comparative approach the reception of the nationalist worldview and its effects on the practice of history in China and Britain This book proposes that nationalism rather than a political doctrine is a way of making sense of the world which results from the combination of a set of definite assumptions The work analyzes how each one of these premises was accepted and negotiated by literati intellectuals historians and other scholars in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries The results of this research showcase how the reception of the new nationalist worldview crucially affected images of the past the present and the future in both societies and decisively framed cultural social and political debate In addition they likewise evidence the fundamental role that historical narratives play in the crystallization of national identities This book is perfect for readers interested in China and Britain during this time period but also to anyone attracted to new ways of conceiving nationalism and its role in our world      The Making of a Nation Harry E. Barnes,1971-01-01      The Birth of a Nation Robert Lang,1994 The birth of a nation follows the lives of two white families divided by and enduring the American Civil War and includes elaborate cameos of historical events such as the assassination of Abraham Lincoln      The Works of Thomas Carlyle ...: Oliver Cromwell's letters and speeches, with elucidations Thomas Carlyle,1897      The Hindustan Review ,1910      The Nation ,1893
