Sonnet Over Time A Study In The Sonnets Of Petrarch Shakespeare And Baudelaire:

The Sonnet Over Time Sandra Bermann, 1988 Although many authors have produced successful sonnets Sandra Bermann demonstrates that Petrarch Shakespeare and Baudelaire are clearly among those who best exploit the genre's potential for rhetorical and thematic diversity Through a series of close readings informed by a striking combination of linguistics contemporary theory and history she highlights a variety of rhetorical strategies metonymy in the Petrarchan sonnet mobile metaphors in the Shakespearean and allegory and irony in the Baudelairean She simultaneously underscores transformations in meaning and voice in each poet's rendition of traditional themes Bermann concludes however that throughout these rhetorical and thematic changes the sonnet maintains its focus on the poetic self Whether this I marks a drive toward a strong integral presence or emphasizes instead internal division and alienation the very fact that the self remains so central lends some insight into the sonnet's longevity in the West

Sonnet Sequences and Social Distinction in Renaissance England Christopher Warley, 2005-07-28 Since the 1970s there has been a broad and vital reinterpretation of the nature of literary texts a move away from formalism to a sense of literature as an aspect of social economic political and cultural history While the earliest New Historicist work was criticized for a narrow and anecdotal view of history it also served as an important stimulus for post-structuralist feminist Marxist and psychoanalytical work which in turn has increasingly informed and redirected it Recent writing on the nature of representation the historical construction of gender and of the concept of identity itself on theatre as a political and economic phenomenon and on the ideologies of art generally reveals the breadth of the field

Cambridge Studies in Renaissance Literature and Culture is designed to offer historically oriented studies of Renaissance literature and theatre which make use of the insights afforded by theoretical perspectives The view of history envisioned is above all a view of our history a reading of the Renaissance for and from our own time Book jacket
