Soul Map Poetry About Traveling Through Life:

Walt Whitman's Native Representations Ed Folsom, 1997-05-28 Moving through Whitman's career four times from four different perspectives this 1994 book investigates several major American cultural developments that occurred during Whitman's lifetime: the development of American dictionaries, the growth of baseball, the evolution of American Indian policy, the development of photography. These became essential components of Whitman's innovative poetics. Resisting the usual critical temptation to present a totalised one-dimensional Whitman, this study views him instead as multiple and contradictory: a gatherer of discordant tones and clashing approaches from a variety of surprising cultural arenas. In such cultural activities, Whitman found not his poetic subject so much as his poetic tools and techniques. These cultural actions taught him how to make native representations.

On Life's Journey Daniel A. Lindley, 2006 C. G. Jung wrote in The Development of Personality: "In every adult there lurks a child, an eternal child, something that is always becoming, is never completed, and calls for unceasing care, attention, and education. That is the part of the human personality that wants to develop and become whole." In this reflection on life's journey, Daniel A. Lindley applies the insights gleaned from many years of study of literature and psychoanalysis to show how we are always becoming and always obligated to care for that archetypal child. Drawing upon psychological truths expressed by Shakespeare, Wordsworth, Eliot, and others, Lindley illuminates the process of individuation through personal experience, art, and archetype. From birth to old age, he demonstrates even in our separateness we share an archetypal ground. Thus, at any point in our lives, the path we walk is not unknown; it has purpose and direction. We are living out stories that existed long before we did and will be there long after we are gone. This deeply personal memoir folds time and space poignantly, bridging one man's life and humanity's distant past with grace, wit, and quiet perception. W. Raymond Johnson, PhD, Director, Epigraphic Survey, Oriental Institute, University of Chicago. DANIEL LINDLEY, PhD, LCSW, has degrees from Yale, Harvard, Florida State, and Loyola University of Chicago. Formerly a school teacher and professor of English, he is a training analyst in the C. G. Jung Institute of Chicago and is in private practice. He is also the author of This Rough Magic: The Life of Teaching.
