Sound Barrier Poems 198:

Fleur Adcock Janet Wilson, 2007 This study discusses Adcock as a writer who draws on her experiences of dislocation in order to position herself between cultures It relocates her work within the postwar British poetic mainstream by emphasizing that her radically displaced feminized consciousness can be identified as metonymic of national and cultural differences Janet Wilson argues that diasporic voices such as hers which renegotiate boundaries between self and other although originating from white settler colonies like New Zealand now belong to multicultural Britain Her close readings of Adcock's verse in terms of its ironic double vision focus on the blend of classical restraint wit and humour in relation to her complex revaluation of the diasporic imaginary of the exile In arguing that Adcock's personal mythology based on her divided nationality and gendered consciousness separates her from modernist exile writers like James Joyce and her fellow expatriate Katherine Mansfield and aligns her with contemporary transnational figures like the New Zealand writer Janet Frame the Australian born poet Peter Porter and V S Naipaul Wilson claims that hers is a voice for our times BOOK JACKET A Concordance to the Works of Alfred Tennyson, 1870 Public Papers of the Presidents of the United States: Ronald Reagan, 1981-1984 Reagan, Ronald, 1984-01-01 Public Papers of the Presidents of the United States From the Wright Brothers to Top Gun Michael Paris, 1995 The cinema and aviation developed alongside each other and were both products of the technology and imagination of the early 20th century This book examines the ways in which aeroplanes and flying have been portrayed in the many different genres within popular cinema from Hollywood epics to comedy spoofs to modern tragedies It covers over 500 American and British films including The Dambusters The High and the Mighty Airplane Top Gun and The Shadowmakers A History of Twentieth-Century British Women's Poetry Jane Dowson, Alice Entwistle, 2005-05-19 Publisher Description American Book Publishing Record, 2003 Miscellany Poems ; Containing Variety of New Translations of the Ancient Poets: Together with Several Original Poems John Dryden, 1716 Utamakura, Allusion, and Intertextuality in Traditional Japanese Poetry Edward Kamens, Howard I. Kamens, 1997-01-01 Kamens focuses especially on one figure the buried tree which refers to fossilized wood associated in particular with an utamakura site the Natori River and is mentioned in poems that first appear in anthologies in the early tenth century The figure surfaces again at many points in the history of traditional Japanese poetry as do the buried trees themselves in the shallow waters that otherwise conceal them After explaining and discussing the literary history of the concept of utamakura Kamens traces the allusive and intertextual development of the figure of the buried tree and the use of the place name Natorigawa in waka poetry through the late nineteenth century He investigates the relationship between utamakura and the collecting of fetishes and curios associated with utamakura sites by waka connoisseurs A Wilderness of Error Errol Morris, 2014-01-22 Soon to be an FX Docuseries from Emmy Award Winning Producer Marc Smerling The Jinx featuring the author Errol Morris Academy Award winning filmmaker Errol Morris examines one of the most notorious and mysterious murder trials of the twentieth century In this profoundly original meditation on truth and the justice system Errol Morris a former private detective and director of The Thin Blue Line delves deeply into the infamous Jeffrey MacDonald murder case MacDonald whose pregnant wife and two young daughters were brutally murdered in 1970 was convicted of the killings in 1979 and remains in prison today The culmination of an investigation spanning over twenty years and a masterly reinvention of the true crime thriller A Wilderness of Error is a shocking book because it shows that everything we have been told about the case is deeply unreliable and that crucial elements of case against MacDonald are simply not true A Concordance to the Poems of Robert Browning Leslie Nathan Broughton, Benjamin Franklin Stelter, 1924
