Student Journal Making The Most Of College:

Making the Most Out of College Spencer A. Rathus, 1994 Enhancing Student Learning Through College Employment Brett Perozzi, 2009-09 Academic Advising and the First College Year Jenny R. Fox, Holly E. Martin, 2017-09-14
Published in partnership with NACADA The Global Community for Academic Advising Academic advisors help students learn to make the most of their college years not merely by completing requirements toward a degree but also by growing intellectually and developing all aspects of their identity Yet many professional and faculty advisors are new to academic advising and may feel ill equipped to do more than help students register for classes This new edited collection provides an overview of the theory and best practice undergirding advising today while exploring the transition challenges of a wide range of first year college students including those attending two year colleges coming from underrepresented backgrounds entering underprepared for college level work and or experiencing academic failure Understanding the Working College Student Laura W. Perna, 2023-07-14 How appropriate for today and for the future are the policies and practices of higher education that largely assume a norm of traditional age students with minimal on campus or no work commitments Despite the fact that work is a fundamental part of life for nearly half of all undergraduate students with a substantial number of traditional dependent undergraduates in employment and working independent undergraduates averaging 34 5 hours per week little attention has been given to how working influences the integration and engagement experiences of students who work especially those who work full time or how the benefits and costs of working differ between traditional age students and adult students The high and increasing prevalence and intensity of working among both dependent and independent students raises a number of important questions for public policymakers college administrators faculty academic advisors student services and financial aid staff and institutional and educational researchers including Why do so many college students work so many hours What are the characteristics of undergraduates who work What are the implications of working for students educational experiences and outcomes And how can public and institutional policymakers promote the educational success of undergraduate students who work This book offers the most complete and comprehensive conceptualization of the working college student available It provides a multi faceted picture of the characteristics experiences and challenges of working college students and a more complete understanding of the heterogeneity underlying the label undergraduates who work and the implications of working for undergraduate students educational experiences and outcomes The volume stresses the importance of recognizing the value and contribution of adult learners to higher education and takes issue with the appropriateness of the term non traditional itself both because of the prevalence of this group and because it allows higher education institutions to avoid considering changes that will meet the needs of this population including changes in course offerings course scheduling financial aid and pedagogy Envisioning the Faculty for the Twenty-First Century Adrianna Kezar, Daniel Maxey, 2016-09-12 The institution of tenure once a cornerstone of American colleges and universities is rapidly eroding Today the majority of faculty positions are part time or limited term appointments a radical change that has resulted more from circumstance than from thoughtful planning As colleges and universities evolve to meet the changing demands of society how might their leaders design viable alternative faculty models for the future Envisioning the Faculty for the Twenty First Century weighs the concerns of university administrators professors adjuncts and students in order to critically assess emerging faculty models and offer informed policy recommendations Cognizant of the financial pressures that have led many universities to favor short term faculty contracts higher education experts Adrianna Kezar and Daniel Maxey assemble a top notch roster of contributors to investigate whether there are ways to modify the existing system or promote new faculty models They suggest how colleges and universities might rethink their procedures for faculty development hiring scheduling and evaluation in order to maintain a campus environment that still fosters faculty service and student centered learning Even as it asks urgent questions about how to retain the best elements of American higher education Envisioning the Faculty for the Twenty First Century also examines the opportunities that systemic changes might create Ultimately it provides some starting points for how colleges and universities might best respond to the rapidly evolving needs of an increasingly global society The Educational Times, and Journal of the College of Preceptors, 1899 Focus on First Year Success Brenda Leibowitz, Antoinette Van der Merwe, Susan Van Schalkwyk, 2009-11-01 The importance of the first year experience is now well recognised This collection of papers makes a fascinating and important contribution to our understanding of students transition to higher education This is a scholarly engaging and illuminating text that is relevant not only in the context of South Africa but for anyone interested in student learning in the first year of university education David Gosling Plymouth University College Student Mental Health Heidi Levine, Susan R. Stock, 2017-01-13 In recent years there has been heightened attention paid to the mental health needs of college students the range and scope of these issues and the challenges related to providing mental health services Counseling center data changing legal mandates and anecdotal reports from senior practitioners all point to the growing complexity of managing these issues This volume examines clinical issues for student affairs professionals beyond the counseling center addressing how campuses can be prepared for and respond to mental health issues It helps readers cultivate a community centered understanding of and sense of shared responsibility for promoting mental health knowledge about best practices for service provision and strategies for dealing with mental health issues pertaining to specific student populations and issues within the environment Topics covered include Contextual and foundational information related to current student mental health trends Mental health aspects of certain populations including military connected students students on the autism spectrum and international student Bigger picture systemic issues related to mental health faced by colleges and universities and Future directions of mental health on campuses This is the 156th volume of this Jossey Bass higher education quarterly series An indispensable resource for vice presidents of student affairs
