Problems of Space Biology ,1973      Sources of Power Gary A. Klein,1999-02-18 Anyone who watches the television news has seen images of firefighters rescuing people from burning buildings and paramedics treating bombing victims How do these individuals make the split second decisions that save lives Most studies of decision making based on artificial tasks assigned in laboratory settings view people as biased and unskilled Gary Klein is one of the developers of the naturalistic decision making approach which views people as inherently skilled and experienced It documents human strengths and capabilities that so far have been downplayed or ignored Since 1985 Klein has conducted fieldwork to find out how people tackle challenges in difficult nonroutine situations Sources of Power is based on observations of humans acting under such real life constraints as time pressure high stakes personal responsibility and shifting conditions The professionals studied include firefighters critical care nurses pilots nuclear power plant operators battle planners and chess masters Each chapter builds on key incidents and examples to make the description of the methodology and phenomena more vivid In addition to providing information that can be used by professionals in management psychology engineering and other fields the book presents an overview of the research approach of naturalistic decision making and expands our knowledge of the strengths people bring to difficult tasks      The End of Astronauts Donald Goldsmith,Martin Rees,2022-04-19 Human space journeys are awe inspiring but risky and immensely expensive Donald Goldsmith and Martin Rees argue that science calls for leaving space exploration to AI guided robots since robots range more widely and see more than any human can Humanity s future in space must await decisions based on results from our ever better machines      The Astronaut Dario Llinares,2011-05-25 The Astronaut Cultural Mythology and Idealised Masculinity interrogates the historical and cultural dynamics of one of the most revered icons of the 20th century Analysing a diverse range of cultural representations the book postulates the construction of an intertextual mythology through which the astronaut becomes an embodiment of American ideological values and heroic manhood The discursive processes at work in the range of media texts examined serve to embed the astronaut into the cultural imaginary as a largely coherent and uncontested exemplar of idealised masculinity Using a range of interdisciplinary analytical tools the book examines how the social construction of this masculine ideal iterates and naturalises gender hegemony The book situates the astronaut within the context of a modern postmodern theoretical framework linking shifts in gender perspectives to the contradictory narratives and characterisations that inform the mediation of the astronaut In so doing the book argues for a re evaluation of the often oversimplified use of the term hegemonic masculinity as an anchoring point for the critique of masculinity The strength of this work is its interdisciplinary diversity and its interconnection of a range of themes including gender representation history ideology the postmodern and the media Drawing upon contemporary theoretical debates while redeploying seminal theoretical texts the book offers new cultural interrogations of a

Hersch, 2012-10-08 Who were the men who led America s first expeditions into space Soldiers Daredevils The public sometimes imagined them that way heroic military men and hot shot pilots without the capacity for doubt fear or worry However early astronauts were hard working and determined professionals organization men who were calm calculating and highly attuned to the politics and celebrity of the Space Race Many would have been at home in corporate America and until the first rockets carried humans into space some seemed to be headed there Instead they strapped themselves to missiles and blasted skyward returning with a smile and an inspiring word for the press From the early days of Project Mercury to the last moon landing this lively history demystifies the American astronaut while revealing the warring personalities raw ambition and complex motives of the men who were the public face of the space program      Hearings, Reports and Prints of the Senate Committee on Aeronautical and Space Sciences United States. Grimwood, 1977      Star Ark Rachel Armstrong, 2016-11-13 As space ventures have become more numerous leading scientists and theorists have offered ways of building a living habitat in a hostile environment taking an ecosystems view of space colonization The contributors to this volume take a radical multi disciplinary view of the challenge of human space colonization through the ongoing project Persephone This book fundamentally challenges prevalent ideas about sustainability and proposes a new approach to resource austerity and conservation and providing truly sustainable approaches that are life promoting Readers will learn the details of the plans for Persephone a real project that is part of the company Icarus Interstellar s plans for the design and engineering of a living interior on a worldship to be constructed in Earth s orbit within 100 years Although the timeframe itself is only an estimate since it is contingent on many significant developments including funding and technological advances the industry consensus is that within 100 years we will see manned space exploration beyond our solar system This notion is shared by organizations such as the Initiative for Interstellar Studies and the DARPA funded 100 year starship project This book specifically develops the principles for the construction of a living habitat within a worldship a multi generational starship that contains its own world that supports colonists as it travels across great distances between stars at a speed much slower than light Far from being a sterile industrial setup such as the ISS or even being a bucolic suburbia as proposed by Gerard O Neill in the 1970s this worldship will provide the pre conditions for sustaining life beyond Earth s environment which may also lead to the evolution of non terrestrial ecologies Drawing on the principles of ecopoiesis and insights offered by the Biosphere 2 experiment that demonstrated what we have to learn about ecosystem construction this book proposes first designing the soils of such a space It should then be possible to set up the conditions that a first generation of colonists may experience in leaving our solar system to find new worlds to settle perhaps in spreading life throughout the universe Although the book takes a unique view of ecology and sustainability within the setting of a traveling starship it is equally concerned with the human experience on artificial worlds Chapters come from a range of multi disciplinary thinkers who shed light on the brave new future ahead from different angles
