Heroes Of The New Eden Charles Morgan, 2014-04 Fergus Trasker a completely irresponsible young man with no qualifications passes himself off as an engineer and goes to work in an Australian gold mine in the Western Desert There he meets Rhonda another engineer who is trying to turn the town's population on to an eastern cult religion Little orphan Fergus was brought up by feisty Auntie Patty a woman addicted to marrying gangsters Auntie P cautions him to grow up and treat his human relationships with a bit more of a responsible attitude So although Rhonda the engineer is a rather tubby girl and not his type really he decides that he should prove himself to his aunt and help the girl establish her religion Sadly Fergus's Aunt Patty has not told him that he should be more responsible in all his other dealings in life after all she is a tearaway herself So what happens to the town and indeed the mine One way or another things are not going to stay the same

Women, Judging and the Judiciary Erika Rackley, 2013 Awarded the 2013 Birks Book Prize by the Society of Legal Scholars Women Judging and the Judiciary expertly examines debates about gender representation in the judiciary and the importance of judicial diversity It offers a fresh look at the role of the woman judge and the process of judging and provides a new analysis of the assumptions which underpin and constrain debates about why we might want a more diverse judiciary and how we might get one Through a theoretical engagement with the concepts of diversity and difference in adjudication Women Judging and the Judiciary contends that prevailing images of the judge are enmeshed in notions of sameness and uniformity images which are so familiar that their grip on our understandings of the judicial role are routinely overlooked Failing to confront these instinctive images of the judge and of judging however comes at a price They exclude those who do not fit this mould setting them up as challengers to the judicial norm Such has been the fate of the woman judge But while this goes some way to explaining why despite repeated efforts our attempts to secure greater diversity in our judiciary have fallen short it also points a way forward For by getting a clearer sense of what our judges really do and how they do it we can see that women judges and judicial diversity more broadly do not threaten but rather enrich the judiciary and judicial decision making As such the standard opponent to measures to increase judicial diversity the necessity of appointment on merit is in fact its greatest ally a judiciary is stronger and the justice it dispenses better the greater the diversity of its members so if we want the best judiciary we can get we should want one which is fully diverse Women Judging and the Judiciary will be of interest to legal academics lawyers and policy makers working in the fields of judicial diversity gender and adjudication and more broadly to anyone interested in who our judges are and what they do The Production of determined rebels pursued the radical ambition of entering the then all male profession of law They were motivated by a love of learning They believed in fair play and equal opportunity They desired recognition as professionals and the ability to earn a good living Rebels at the Bar expands our understanding of both women s rights and the history of the legal profession in the nineteenth century It focuses on the female renegades who trained in law and then like men fought considerable odds to create successful professional lives In this engaging and beautifully written book Norgren shares her subjects faith in the art of the possible In so doing she ensures their place in history

Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend Dr Donna

Coates,2023-11-01 War is traditionally considered a male experience By extension the genre of war literature is a male dominated field and the tale of the battlefield remains the privileged and only canonised war story In Australia although women have written extensively about their wartime experiences their voices have been distinctively silenced Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend calls for a re definition of war literature to include the numerous voices of women writers and further recommends a re reading of Australian national literatures with women s war writing foregrounded to break the hold of a male dominated literary tradition and pass on a vital but unexplored women s tradition Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend examines the rich body of World Wars I and II and Vietnam War literature by Australian women providing the critical attention and treatment that they deserve Donna Coates records the reaction of Australian women writers to these conflicts illuminating the complex role of gender in the interpretation of war and in the cultural history of twentieth century Australia By visiting an astonishing number of unfamiliar non canonical texts Shooting Blanks at the Anzac Legend profoundly alters our understanding of how Australian women writers have interpreted war especially in a nation where the experience of colonising a frontier has spawned enduring myths of identity and statehood
