Solar Phenomena In Stars Stellar Syste:

Solar Phenomena in Stars and Stellar Systems R.M. Bonnet,A.K. Dupree,2012-12-06 This book represents the proceedings of a NATO Advanced Study Institute which was held at Bonas from August 25 till Sep tember 5 1980 and was devoted to the study of Solar Phenomena in Stars and Stellar Systems It is intended for a broad audi ence Students and post doctoral scientists for example can dis cover new aspects of astrophysics The general spirit of the ASI was aimed at presenting a unified aspect of astrophysical phenomena which can be studied intensively on the Sun although they are of a much more general nature On the other hand spe cialists in solar or stellar physics will find here the latest theoretical developments and or the most recent observations made in their own field of research An extensive bibliography will be found throughout the various sections to which the reader may refer for more detailed developments in various specific areas In the past stellar and solar astrophysics have more or less followed their own independent tracks However with the rapid development of modern techniques in particular artificial satellites like the International Ultraviolet Explorer and the Einstein Observatory which provide a new wealth of data it appears that chromospheres corone magnetic fields mass loss and stellar winds etc are found not only in the Sun but occur also in other stars Frequently these other stars represent quite different conditions of gravity lumino ity and other parameters from those occurring in the Sun The Origin of

Nonradiative Heating/momentum in Hot Stars Anne Barbara Underhill,A. G. Michalitsianos,1985 Energy Research Abstracts ,1982 Mechanisms of Chromospheric and Coronal Heating Peter Ulmschneider, Eric R. Priest, Robert

Rosner,2013-06-29 One of the great problems of astrophysics is the unanswered question about the origin and mechanism of chromospheric and coronal heating Just how these outer stellar envelopes are heated is of fundamental importance since all stars have hot chromospheric and coronal shells where the temperature rises to millions of degrees comparable to the temperatures in the stars cores Here for the first time is a comprehensive inventory of the proposed chromospheric and coronal heating theories The proposed heating processes are critically compared and the observational evidence for the various mechanisms is reviewed This is essential reading for all those working in such fields as stellar activity radio and XUV emission rotation and mass loss for whom a detailed and consistent presentation of our knowledge of chromospheric and coronal heating mechanisms is urgently needed Exploring the Universe with the IUE Satellite Y. Kondo,Willem

Wamsteker,A. Boggess,M. Grewing,C. de Jager,A.L. Lane,Jeffrey L. Linsky,R. Wilson,2013-12-11 This book was conceived to commemorate the continuing success of the guest observer program for the International Ultraviolet Explorer IUE satellite observatory It is also hoped that this volume will serve as a useful tutorial for those pursuing research in related fields with future space observatories As the IUE has been the product of the three way collaboration between the U S National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA European Space Agency ESA and the British Engineering and Research Council SERC so is this book the fruit of the collaboration of the American and European participants in the IUE As such it is a testimony to timely international cooperation and sharing of resources that open up new possibilities The IUE spacecraft was launched on the 26th of January in 1978 into a geosynchronous orbit over the Atlantic Ocean The scientific operations of the IUE are performed for 16 hours a day from Goddard Space Flight Center in Greenbelt Maryland U S A and for 8 hours a day from ESA Villafranca Satellite Tracking Station near Madrid Spain Special Report Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory,

Astrophysical Data Kenneth R. Lang, 2012-12-06 This volume of Astrophysical Data deals with Planets and Stars a second volume Part II will give data for Galaxies and the Universe They both provide basic data for use by all scientists from the amateur astronomer to the professional astrophysicist In this first volume we not only provide physical parameters of planets stars and their environment but we also provide the celestial coordinates required to observe them Here we use c g s units for they are the most commonly used in astronomy and astrophysics but our volume begins with astronomical and physical constants and the conversion factors needed for other units The next section concerns the planets and their satellites it singles out the Earth and Moon for special treatment Spacecraft rendezvous with the planets and satellites have led to improved values for their atmospheric compositions orbital parameters magnetic fields masses radii rotation periods and surface pressures and temperatures This section also contains data for the asteroids comets and their debris We then discuss everyday stars beginning with the Sun and continuing with basic stellar data the brightest stars and nearby stars Special categories of stars such as the Wolf Rayet stars magnetic stars flare stars and RS CVn binary stars are included Algols A.H. Batten, 2012-12-06 When leaving the Victoria airport the day before our Colloquium I saw a van of the Dunsmuir Lodge marked with big letters which I read as Alcohol Colloquium I do often make such blunders because of the global casual and careless way in which I read various ads and checked myself quickly to read it correctly as Algol

Colloquium Millions of fellow citizens could easily make the same mistake and no apology could be expected Even I read and hear the word alcohol more frequently than Algol although I must say that Algols have given me more pleasure and fewer headaches over the years in that however I may be a singularity and possibly a pitiful one at that Being appointed Chairman of the Scientific Organizing Committee I may be deemed to be a purer Algolist than other investigators although my range of active interests is much broader and the same is true about all the 28 invited speakers and all the other participants of the Colloquium Our interests are strongly diversified but there are several good reasons that brought us together at this Colloquium
