Soldiers Bride:

Entangling Alliances Susan Zeiger, 2010-03-01 Throughout the twentieth century American male soldiers returned home from wars with foreign born wives in tow often from allied but at times from enemy nations resulting in a new official category of immigrant the allied war bride These brides began to appear en masse after World War I peaked after World War II and persisted through the Korean and Vietnam Wars GIs also met and married former enemy women under conditions of postwar occupation although at times the US government banned such unions In this comprehensive complex history of war brides in 20th century American history Susan Zeiger uses relationships between American male soldiers and foreign women as a lens to view larger issues of sexuality race and gender in United States foreign relations Entangling Alliances draws on a rich array of sources to trace how war and postwar anxieties about power and national identity have long been projected onto war brides and how these anxieties translate into public policies particularly immigration Koreatowns Jinwon

Kim, Soo Mee Kim, Stephen Cho Suh, 2020-06-30 This collection defines Koreatowns as spatial configurations that concentrate elements of Korea demographically economically politically and culturally The contributors provide exploratory accounts and critical evaluations of Koreatowns in different countries throughout the world Ranging from familiar settings such as Los Angeles and New York City to more unfamiliar locales such as Singapore Beijing Mexico U S Mexico borderlands and the American Midwest this collection not only examines the social characteristics and contours of these spaces but also the types of discourses and symbols that they exude Our Army, 1938 Women, Families and the British Army, 1700-1880 Vol 2

Jennine Hurl-Eamon, Lynn MacKay, 2020-03-10 This series concentrates on women and the soldiers in the ranks whose lives they shared assembling a wide body of evidence of their romantic entanglements and domestic concerns The new military history of recent decades has demanded a broadening of the source base beyond elite accounts or those that concentrate solely on battlefield experiences Armies did not operate in isolation and men s family ties influenced the course of events in a variety of ways Campfollowing women and children occupied a liminal space in campaign life Those who travelled on the strength of the army received rations in return for providing services such as laundry and nursing but they could also be grouped with prostitutes and condemned as a burden by officers Parents wives and offspring left behind at home remained in soldiers thoughts despite an army culture aimed at replacing kin with regimental ties Soldiers families suffering both on the march and back in Britain attracted public attention at key points in this period as well This series provides for the first time in one place a wide body of texts relating to common soldiers personal lives the women with whom they became involved their children and the families who cared for them It brings hitherto unpublished material into print for the first time and resurrects accounts that have not been in wide circulation since the nineteenth century The collection combines the observations of officers government officials and others with memoirs and letters from men in the ranks and from the women themselves It draws extensively on press accounts especially in the nineteenth century It also demonstrates the value of using literary depictions alongside the letters diaries memoirs and war office papers that form the traditional source base of military historians This second volume covers the period during the French Revolutionary and Napoleonic War era The Rural New-Yorker ,1919 The Soldier's Bride Rachelle J. Christensen,2016-03-15 As WWII ration cards and battle scars become commonplace across America it seems to Evelyn that even love is rationed out When she finds a message from her late husband tucked inside a music box Jim s words have the power to change her life Don t die with me Words written out of love long lost but never forgotten Grief stricken Evelyn is unsure of how to honor his request but she finds the courage to keep on living Jim s note urges her to give the music box away to unlock the secret within and although it breaks her heart again Evelyn trades the music box for a cradle to hold her infant son Thus begins the decades long journey of the music box mending broken hearts reuniting lost loves and giving people the courage to heal themselves along the way This romance crosses battlefields and time as the music box touches the lives of two soldiers a broken father a crippled child a struggling farmer and a woman once called the soldier s bride Reality in Rhyme Gary Attrill,2012-12-19 I consider that I am a spontaneous writer I do no planning or preparation of any sort I have no training or guidance in what or how I write I am motivated subconsciously by an event comment action or just about anything that I find interesting disturbing or beautiful I know not what it will be that will next fill my head with words as I cannot write for the sake of writing I have now compiled approximately 170 poems Most of my writing occurs in the middle of the night awoken from sleep with words flying around in my head like bats in a cave Many times I rise and write immediately Other times it stays with me repeating itself until the sun rises and its then that I put pen to paper What annoys me the most is my inability to remember any of my writings I may remember a line or two but no more I have been writing since 1999 although I did jot down a few lines in 1971 to my then fiance Penelope after I was conscripted into the Australian army We married in 1972 and still love enjoy and cherish the company of each other I have compiled these writings so that in years to come my children grandchildren and any thereafter have an insight into my self and the times that I lived It will give them the opportunity to maybe compare their thoughts with mine It is with pleasure that I thank my family for their support and belief But there are also other people without whose encouragement I could not have progressed this far My wifes late mother Bernadine was my greatest fan My work colleagues Sandra Casey Adam Sue Ellen and Denise were always there with feedback I hope also that anyone and everyone who takes the time to read the words that I write get as much pleasure reading them as I do writing them Beyond the Shadow of Camptown Ji-Yeon Yuh,2004-04 Through moving oral histories Ji Yeon Yuh tells an important at times heartbreaking story of Korean military brides She takes us beyond the stereotypes and reveals their roles within their families communities and Korean immigration to the U S Women's America Linda K. Kerber,2016 Featuring a mix of primary source documents articles and illustrations Women s America Refocusing the Past has long been an invaluable resource Now in its eighth edition the book has been extensively revised and updated to cover recent developments in U S women s history

Finishing the Hat Stephen Sondheim, 2010-10-26 ONE OF THE NEW YORK TIMES 10 BEST BOOKS OF THE YEAR

Titled after perhaps Stephen Sondheim's most autobiographical song from Sunday in the Park with George, Finishing the Hat not only collects his lyrics for the first time; it offers readers a rare personal look into his life as well as his remarkable productions. Stephen Sondheim's career spanned more than half a century; his lyrics are synonymous with musical theater and popular culture. Sondheim, the winner of seven Tonys, an Academy Award, seven Grammys, a Pulitzer Prize, and more, treats us to never-before-published songs from each show, songs that were cut or discarded before seeing the light of day, along with the lyrics for all of his musicals from 1954 to 1981, including West Side Story, Company, Follies, A Little Night Music, and Sweeney Todd. He discusses his relationship with his mentor Oscar Hammerstein II and his collaborations with extraordinary talents such as Leonard Bernstein, Arthur Laurents, Ethel Merman, Richard Rodgers, Angela Lansbury, Harold Prince, and a panoply of others. The anecdotes, filled with history, pointed observations, and intimate details, transport us back to a time when theater was a major pillar of American culture. Best of all, Sondheim appraises his work and dissects his lyrics as well as those of others, offering unparalleled insights into songwriting that will be studied by fans and aspiring songwriters for years to come. Accompanying Sondheim's sparkling writing are behind-the-scenes photographs from each production, along with handwritten music and lyrics from the songwriter's personal collection. Penetrating and surprising, poignant, funny, and sometimes provocative, Finishing the Hat is not only an informative look at the art and craft of lyric writing; it is a history of the theater that belongs on the same literary shelf as Moss Hart's Act One and Arthur Miller's Timebends. It is also a book that will leave you humming the final bars of Merrily We Roll Along while eagerly anticipating the next volume.
