Solovyovo The Story Of Memory In A Russian Village:

Solovyovo Margaret Paxson,2005 This is an ethnography of a Russian village the everyday social and agricultural routines of the village as well as religious practices cosmology beliefs and practices surrounding health and illness the melding of Orthodox and communist traditions and their post Soviet evolution Solovyovo Margaret Paxson,2005-12-13 The result is a compelling ethnography of a Russian village the first of its kind in modern North American anthropology

The Worlds of Russian Village Women Laura J. Olson,Svetlana Adonyeva,2013-01-10 Russian rural women have been depicted as victims of oppressive patriarchy celebrated as symbols of inherent female strength and extolled as the original source of a great world culture Throughout the years of collectivization industrialization and World War II women played major roles in the evolution of the Russian village But how do they see themselves What do their stories songs and customs reveal about their values desires and motivations Based upon nearly three decades of fieldwork from 1983 to 2010 The Worlds of Russian Rural Women follows three generations of Russian women and shows how they alternately preserve discard and rework the cultural traditions of their forebears to suit changing needs and self conceptions In a major contribution to the study of folklore Laura J Olson and Svetlana Adonyeva document the ways that women s tales of traditional practices associated with marriage childbirth and death reflect both upholding and transgression of social norms Their romance songs satirical ditties and healing and harmful magic reveal the complexity of power relations in the Russian villages Moscow 1941 Rodric Braithwaite,2007-10-09 In 1941 close to one million Russian soldiers died defending Moscow from German invasion more casualties than that of the United States and Britain during all of World War II Many of these soldiers were in fact not soldiers at all but instead ordinary people who took up arms to defend their city Students dropped their books for guns released prisoners exchanged their freedom for battle and women fought alongside men on the bloody mud covered frozen road to Moscow By the time the United States entered the war the Germans were already retreating and a decisive victory had been won for the Allies With extensive research into the lives of soldiers politicians writers artists workers and children Rodric Braithwaite creates a richly detailed narrative that captures this crucial moment Moscow 1941 is a dramatic unforgettable portrait of an often overlooked battle that changed the world Lost in

Transition Kristen Ghodsee,2011-09-14 Through ethnographic essays and short stories based on her experiences in Eastern Europe between 1989 and 2009 Kristen Ghodsee explains why many Eastern Europeans are nostalgic for the communist past

Buddhists, Shamans, and Soviets Justine Buck Quijada,2019-02-15 History in the Soviet Union was a political project From the Soviet perspective Buryats an indigenous Siberian ethnic group were a backwards nationality that was carried along on the inexorable march towards the Communist utopian future When the Soviet Union ended the Soviet version of history lost its power and Buryats like other Siberian indigenous peoples were able to revive religious and cultural traditions that had been suppressed by the Soviet state In the process they also recovered knowledge about the past that the Soviet Union had silenced Borrowing the analytic lens of the chronotope from Bakhtin Quijada argues that rituals have chronotopes which situate people within time and space As they revived rituals Post Soviet Buryats encountered new historical information and traditional ways of being in time that enabled them to re imagine the Buryat past and what it means to be Buryat Through the temporal perspective of a reincarnating Buddhist monk Dashi Dorzho Etigelov Buddhists come to see the Soviet period as a test on the path of dharma Shamanic practitioners in contrast renegotiate their relationship to the past by speaking to their ancestors through the bodies of shamans By comparing the versions of history that are produced in Buddhist shamanic and civic rituals Buddhists Shamans and Soviets offers a new lens for analyzing ritual a new perspective on how an indigenous people grapples with a history of state repression and an innovative approach to the ethnographic study of how people know about the past

Changing Economies and Changing Identities in Postsocialist Eastern Europe Ingo Schröder,2008 This book addresses class formation and changes in personhood in contemporary Eastern Europe in the context of the spread of a market economy The authors investigate processes of social closure marginalization and elite formation paying particular attention to their cultural expressions and to the legitimizing discourses of nationalist and neoliberal agendas While individual and collective identities are inextricably linked with the consolidation of global capitalism external blueprints are everywhere mediated through historically grounded experiences and local social relations Comprising studies from Bulgaria Latvia Lithuania Poland and Russia the volume explores practices stories and performances in everyday life worlds The ethnographies show both individual and collective identities to be emergent projects constrained by economic processes and state policies but ultimately created by people themselves as they pursue their interests and search for meaning

Ageing, Wellbeing and Climate Change in the Arctic Paivi Naskali,Marjaana Seppänen,Shahnaj Begum,2015-11-19 The Arctic and its unique natural resources have become objects of increasing concern Rapid climate change and ageing of the population are transforming the living conditions in the region This translates into an urgent need for information that will contribute to a better understanding of these issues Ageing Wellbeing and Climate Change in the Arctic addresses the important intersection of ageing wellbeing and climate change in the Arctic region making a key interdisciplinary contribution to an area of research on which little has been written and limited sources of information are currently available The book explores three key areas of discussion First various political issues that are currently affecting the Arctic such as the social categorisation of elderly people Second the living conditions of the elderly in relation to Arctic climate change Third the wellbeing of elderly people in terms of traditional knowledge and lifestyles The book also features contributions from a number of key researchers in the field which examine a broad range of case studies including the impact of climate change on health in Lapland and elderly people and geographical mobility in Norway This book will be of great interest to scholars of climate change gerontology and social policy

Religion and Politics in Russia: A Reader Marjorie Mandelstam Balzer,2015-01-28 Russia is not only vast it is also culturally diverse the core of an empire that spanned Eurasia In addition to the majority Russian Orthodox and various other Christian groups the Russian Federation includes large communities of Muslims Jews Buddhists and members of other religious groups some with ancient historical roots All are in a state of ferment and securing formal state recognition for specific communities is often daunting This collection provides entry into the diversity of Russia's religious communities Marjorie Mandelstam Balzer's introduction to the volume illuminates major political social and cultural anthropological trends The book is organized by religious tradition or identity with further thematic perspectives on each set of readings The authors include ethnologists sociologists political analysts and religious leaders from many regions of the Federation They analyze the changing dynamics of religion and politics within each community and in the context of the current drive to recentralize both political and religious authority in Moscow Topical coverage extends from reassertions of Russian Orthodoxy to activities of Christian and Muslim missionaries to the revival of many other religions including indigenous shamanic ones

Emotion, Affective Practices, and the Past in the Present Laurajane Smith, Margaret Wetherell, Gary Campbell, 2018-06-14

Emotion Affective Practices and the Past in the Present is a response to debates in the humanities and social sciences about the use of emotion This timely and unique book explores the ways emotion is embroiled and used in contemporary engagements with the past particularly in contexts such as heritage sites museums commemorations political rhetoric and ideology debates over issues of social memory and touristic uses of heritage sites Including contributions from academics and practitioners in a range of countries the book reviews significant and conflicting academic debates on the nature and expression of affect and emotion As a whole the book makes an argument for a pragmatic understanding of affect and in doing so outlines Wetherell's concept of affective practice a concept utilised in most of the chapters in this book Since debates about affect and emotion can often be confusing and abstract the book aims to clarify these debates and through the use of case studies draw out their implications for theory and practice within heritage and museum studies Emotion Affective Practices and the Past in the Present should be essential reading for students academics and professionals in the fields of heritage and museum studies The book will also be of interest to those in other disciplines such as social psychology education archaeology tourism studies cultural studies media studies anthropology sociology and history
