Places of Pain and Shame William Logan, Keir Reeves, 2008-12-05. Places of Pain and Shame is a cross-cultural study of sites that represent painful and/or shameful episodes in a national or local community's history and the ways that government agencies, heritage professionals and the communities themselves seek to remember, commemorate and conserve these cases or conversely choose to forget them. Such episodes and locations include massacre and genocide sites, places related to prisoners of war, civil and political prisons and places of benevolent internment such as leper colonies and lunatic asylums. These sites bring shame upon us now for the cruelty and futility of the events that occurred within them and the ideologies they represented. They are however increasingly being regarded as heritage sites, a far cry from the view of heritage that prevailed a generation ago when we were almost entirely concerned with protecting the great and beautiful creations of the past, reflections of the creative genius of humanity rather than the reverse, the destructive and cruel side of history. Why has this shift occurred and what implications does it have for professionals practicing in the heritage field? In what ways is this a difficult heritage to deal with? This volume brings together academics and practitioners to explore these questions covering not only some of the practical matters but also the theoretical and conceptual issues and uses case studies of historic places, museums and memorials from around the globe including the United States, Northern Ireland, Poland, South Africa, China.

It paints a vivid picture of the stark contrasts that defined this era, weaving personal narratives with historical insights to illuminate the impact of oppression on a young mind. The book offers a captivating account of daily life under the oppressive regime, capturing the challenges, fears, and resilience of an entire generation. It explores the intricate web of laws and social constructs that shaped identities and limited opportunities while showcasing the indomitable spirit that persisted amidst adversity. Shades of Resilience goes beyond mere historical documentation, offering a profound exploration of the human experience. It highlights the value of perseverance, hope, and the importance of finding strength in the face of injustice. Through poignant storytelling, it illuminates the lasting scars of apartheid while celebrating the resilience and triumph of those who endured it.      Unsettled History Leslie Witz, Gary Minkley, Ciraj Rassool, 2017-02-27
An engrossing look at how history has been produced, contested, and unsettled in South Africa from Mandela's release to 2010.      Disrupting the Digital Humanities Dorothy Kim, Jesse Stommel, 2018
All too often, defining a discipline becomes more an exercise of exclusion than inclusion. Disrupting the Digital Humanities seeks to rethink how we map disciplinary terrain by directly confronting the gatekeeping impulse of many other so-called field-defining collections. What is most beautiful about the work of the Digital Humanities is exactly the fact that it can't be tidily anthologized. In fact, the desire to neatly define the Digital Humanities to filter the DH-y from the DH is a way of excluding the radically diverse work that actually constitutes the field. This collection then works to push and prod at the edges of the Digital Humanities to open the Digital Humanities rather than close it down. Ultimately, it's exactly the fringes, the outliers that make the Digital Humanities both lovely and rigorous. This collection does not constitute yet another reservoir for the new Digital Humanities canon. Rather, our aim is less about assembling content as it is about creating new conversations. Building a truly communal space for the digital humanities requires that we all approach that space with a commitment to: 1. creating open and non-hierarchical dialogues 2. championing non-traditional work that might not otherwise be recognized through conventional scholarly channels 3. amplifying marginalized voices 4. advocating for students and learners and 5. sharing generously to support the work of our peers.
