Imagining Spaces and Places Saija Isomaa, Kirsi Saarikangas, 2014-07-18 Imagining Spaces and Places seeks to produce an interdisciplinary dialogue between art history and literature studies and other fields of cultural analysis that work with the concepts of space place and various scapes such as cityscapes bodyscapes mindscapes and memoryscapes as well as the more familiar landscapes The volume was inspired by new lines of study that underline the experiential and multidimensional aspects of spaces We explore how art literature or urban spaces forge scapes by imposing or suggesting aesthetic evaluative or ideological orderings and perceptual as well as emotive perspectives on the raw material or on previous ways of spatial worldmaking We look at the role of cultural and artistic renderings of space in relation to everyday experiences of spaces We examine how the experiences of places are mediated in various art forms and other cultural discourses or practices and how these discourses contribute to the understanding of particular places and also to understanding space in more general terms Imagining Spaces and Places is addressed to scholars and teachers working at the intersection of cultural and spatial analyses as well as to their undergraduate and postgraduate students A Study of

The Spatiotemporal Eschatology of Hebrews Luke Woo, 2024-07-11 There are two coexisting realities classified under New Testament eschatology the temporal and spatial While much scholarly attention has focused on the temporal Luke Woo argues that the spatial aspect is either neglected or relegated to Platonic or cosmological categories Woo thus seeks to provide a holistic understanding by investigating these realities for believers under the heavenly tabernacle motif in the Epistle to the Hebrews Woo posits that the author of Hebrews presents the heavenly tabernacle and all its high priestly activity in order to eschatologically situate orient and ground believers thus enabling believers to actualize their heavenly priestly identity by serving as priests on earth Woo uses Edward Soja's Tripartite Critical Spatiality to analyze the heavenly tabernacle's Firstspace Secondspace and Thirdspace features found in Hebrews 4:14 8:1 5:9 1:14 He suggests that Christ in his resurrection and ascension enters an actualized heavenly tabernacle which allows believers to spiritually occupy that sanctuary space in the presence of God establishing a spatial orientation for believers who can identify as heavenly priests and be motivated to serve as such as they live on earth

Locating the Kingdom of God Karen J. Wenell, 2024-08-22 This book offers a new multidisciplinary way of thinking about the Kingdom of God which fully recognises its sociological and spatial significance in performing boundaries of the sacred Though spatial critical perspectives have been increasingly recognised as important across many disciplines the significance of non physical religious spaces and their correspondence to boundaries of the sacred has not been explored fully and never using the specific example of the Kingdom of God Wenell considers the diverse and sometimes contradictory articulation of the Kingdom in the gospels as well as the ways that Kingdom language frames contemporary ethical debates Her study of the Kingdom is located within the wider study of religion affording the opportunity to investigate connections between space belonging and the sacred Wenell structures her investigation in four key areas that engage with the Kingdom in different but theoretically interconnected ways She begins by setting out a theory of sacred space that is capable of including the Kingdom and establishing key concepts such as boundary performance physical non physical spatiality spokespersons and controversy Wenell then focuses on the synoptic gospels and the origins of the Kingdom noting aspects of uncertainty as well as areas of agreement and controversy over boundaries of the sacred in these uniquely interrelated texts The third and fourth areas of investigation move into cultural reception considering instances where the Kingdom is formative for identity and ethical relationships both in individual and wider group belonging terms Specific reference is made to issues of ethical consuming and displacement placing the Kingdom in dialogue with Bauman's discussion of a society of consumers and Arendt's notion of equitable co habitation of the earth

Space place and territory are concepts that lie at the core of geography and urban planning environmental studies and sociology Although space place and territory are indeed polysemic and polemic they have particular characteristics that distinguish them from each other They are interdependent but not interchangeable and the differences between them explain how we simultaneously perceive conceive and design multiple spatialities After drawing the conceptual framework of space place and territory the book initially explores how we sense space in the most visceral ways and how the overlay of meanings attached to the sensorial characteristics of space change the way we perceive it smell spatial experiences using electroencephalography and the changing meaning of darkness are discussed The book continues exploring cartographic mapping not as a final outcome but rather as an epistemological tool an instrument of inquiry It follows on how particular ideas of space place and territory are embedded in specific urban proposals from Brasilia to the Berlin Wall airports and infiltration of digital technologies in our daily life The book concludes by focusing on spatial practices that challenge the status quo of how we perceive and understand urban spaces from famous artists to anonymous interventions by traceurs and hackers of urban technologies Combining space place and territory as distinctive but interdependent concepts into an epistemological matrix may help us to understand contemporary phenomena and live them critically On the Social History of Persecution Christian
