The Transformation of Human Rights Fact-finding Philip Alston, Sarah Knuckey, 2016 Fact finding is at the heart of human rights advocacy and is often at the center of international controversies about alleged government abuses In recent years human rights fact finding has greatly proliferated and become more sophisticated and complex while also being subjected to stronger scrutiny from governments Nevertheless despite the prominence of fact finding it remains strikingly under studied and under theorized Too little has been done to bring forth the assumptions methodologies and techniques of this rapidly developing field or to open human rights fact finding to critical and constructive scrutiny The Transformation of Human Rights Fact Finding offers a multidisciplinary approach to the study of fact finding with rigorous and critical analysis of the field of practice while providing a range of accounts of what actually happens It deepens the study and practice of human rights investigations and fosters fact finding as a discretely studied topic while mapping crucial transformations in the field The contributions to this book are the result of a major international conference organized by New York University Law School s Center for Human Rights and Global Justice Engaging the expertise and experience of the editors and contributing authors it offers a broad approach encompassing contemporary issues and analysis across the human rights spectrum in law international relations and critical theory This book addresses the major areas of human rights fact finding such as victim and witness issues fact finding for advocacy enforcement and litigation the role of interdisciplinary expertise and methodologies crowd sourcing social media and big data and international guidelines for fact finding

Combs,2010-07-30 Fact Finding Without Facts explores international criminal fact finding empirically conceptually and normatively After reviewing thousands of pages of transcripts from various international criminal tribunals the author reveals that international criminal trials are beset by numerous and severe fact finding impediments that substantially impair the tribunals ability to determine who did what to whom These fact finding impediments have heretofore received virtually no publicity let alone scholarly treatment and they are deeply troubling not only because they raise grave concerns about the accuracy of the judgments currently being issued but because they can be expected to similarly impair the next generation of international trials that will be held at the International Criminal Court After setting forth her empirical findings the author considers their conceptual and normative implications The author concludes that international criminal tribunals purport a fact finding competence that they do not possess and as a consequence base their judgments on a less precise more amorphous method of fact finding than they publicly acknowledge Annual Report for ... United States. National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Aerospace Safety Advisory Panel,1999 Fact-Finding before International Tribunals Richard Lillich,2025-01-27 This volume is the seminal work on fact finding and international tribunals It addresses the many questions raised in recent cases before the International Court of Justice the Iran United States Claims Tribunal the European Court of Justice various international administrative tribunals human rights courts and commissions Its 15 chapters introduced by a perceptive essay by Judge Schwebel for the International Court of Justice have been written by present or former members of such international bodies leading lawyers who have appeared before them and distinguished academic lawyers from the United States and abroad Published under the Transnational Publishers imprint Facts and Evidence Baosheng Zhang,Shijun Tong,Jing Cao,Chuanming Fan,2021-01-04 This book presents an in depth discussion on two concepts from the field of philosophy and law in order to improve our understanding of the relation between fact and evidence in judicial process Since fact finding is a difficult task for judges proof by evidence has been devised to help them access the truth However in the process of judicial fact finding there is always a gap between fact and truth This book covers a wide range of topics from reflections on the concept of fact evidence and fact finding in the field of philosophy and law to
